Pinchot Favors Veterans for State Positions

Gifford Pinchot, candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor, said today he believes in a "reasonable preference" for former "reasonable men" in the matter of employment by the State.

Mr. Pinchot also declared he favors the constitutional amendment providing for a bond issue for a veterans' bonus.

A vigorous call to Bucks County Republicans to support Gifford Pinchot for the Republican nomination for Governor is made editorially in the Intelligencer of Doylestown, a daily newspaper owned by Joseph H. Grundy.

Mr. Grundy, president of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association, originally supported John B. Fisher for the nomination. Mr. Fisher withdrew recently. The editorial bears out reports that Mr. Grundy has marshaled all his forces back of the former State Forester.

The editorial follows: "Supporters of John B. Fisher's candidacy for the Republican nomination for Governor now have but one practical course open to them, the support of Gifford Pinchot, whose policies are almost identical with those of Mr. Fisher. In taking that step they will be following the high-minded action of Mr. Fisher."

"The Intelligencer was for Mr. Fisher while he was a candidate. We believe and still believe he was the best qualified man to tackle the herculean task of wrestling with the evils which a politically ambitious Governor and a riotously extravagant Legislature inflicted upon the people of the State, and having the Commonwealth's interests at heart, the continued exploitation of the Capitol Hill combine."

Prize for Fisher "We believe that Pennsylvania would have been best served by Mr. Pinchot, who became a candidate after Mr. Fisher had accepted him in good faith and had voters behind his candidacy to the confusion and defeat of the few contractor bosses. Our faith in Mr. Fisher was based upon his knowledge of Pennsylvania affairs, his experience and his realization of what should be done to end extravagance and give the people a business government."

"But the situation has changed. Mr. Fisher, who entered the contest to redeem the State from the grip of financial profligacy, foreseeing the inevitable outcome of a three-cornered fight and hearing of his backer's experience and his realization of what should be done to end extravagance and give the people a business government."

"Dark Pinchot to Save State "If Pennsylvania is to be saved from the Capitol Hill combine with their eyes on the State Treasury, Republicans of Bucks County must unitedly support the candidacy of Gifford Pinchot. The results might be disastrous to hurry success in the election, but he is nominated. Revolt against the combine is so widespread that Alter's nomination is an over chance or better."

"Reports of the week indicate the growing following of Mr. Pinchot in Bucks County. Additional strength was given to his candidacy over the week by an announcement that representatives of the combine were in interest of Mr. Fisher and Mr. Pinchot had joined forces for support of the latter's candidacy."

"While Mr. Pinchot has not been regarded with particular friendliness by some Republicans since his participation in the 1912 campaign, his antipathies incurred at that time have been forgotten."

Schwab Confers With Committee About Fair Post

One Member Says It "Looks Like" Steel Man in Directorship

TO PICK GROUP TODAY TO GO BEFORE CONGRESS

Charles M. Schwab has made two visits to Philadelphia and conferred with Edward W. Bok and Samuel Rea with respect to the chief commissionership of the Sesqui-Centennial.

Neither Mr. Bok nor Mr. Rea would discuss the matter today, nor would John H. Mason, John Frederick Lewis or other members of the committee which is to offer a candidate for the chief commissionership to the Executive Committee in the near future.

It was reiterated, however, that Mr. Schwab is seriously considering acceptance of the post.

There, she continued, was where the press came in.

"It is for the press to unite countries for trade and prosperity and peace. I do not know who has been kinder to me since I got home, the public or the press. I do know if the press had not been so kind the public would never have been, and I should like to thank the Associated Press here today very deeply for the splendid welcome."

She said America wants peace.

"America wants peace. America started the League of Nations. All Europe looks to America, not for large armies, not even for food, but for a great moral lead. Help us!"

Declares That Nations Abroad Look to America for Great Moral Lead

Urges Unselfishness, Confidence and Work—Says Press Can Unite or Disunite Countries

By the Associated Press

New York, April 25.—Lady Astor, in the speech which she prepared today for the annual luncheon of the Associated Press at the Waldorf-Astoria, defined as the pearl of great price which she was striving to place in public life the "great ideal" which any man gets from his mother and most men get from their wives if they choose wisely—unselfishness, vision, courage and clearness.

But, said the first woman seated in the British House of Commons, to turn to practical politics, what the world now needed most in a practical way was work, and trade was the most practical way to start work.

"Establish confidence," she urged, "first confidence between capital and labor, then confidence in your government, then confidence in our nations."

There, she continued, was where the press came in.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP IS GOAL OF LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

Education in Political and Civic Affairs Urged by Mrs. Park Opening Convention

SEES GREAT OPPORTUNITY FOR NEWLY ENFRANCHISED

By the Associated Press

Baltimore, April 25.—"The education of citizens is the safeguard of a republic," this motto, printed on the convention program, is the idea which Mrs. M. Park, president of the National League of Women Voters, in her opening address at the third annual convention of the league here today, said she would like to put before the convention as a guide for its deliberations.

"Because this government by the people," she said, "was founded to bring about the safety and happiness of the citizens through a political system clean, efficient and just, and because the women of the United States have at this time a peculiar opportunity given them by their new enfranchisement to help in the full realization of that great ideal, we are banded together to do our part. That I take to be the unerring faith of the League of Women Voters."

Three Convictions It must rest upon three convictions, Mrs. Park declared.

First, the belief that when a majority of the voters are intelligently and actively interested in public affairs, good government is assured, for the reason that good government is the result of the advantage of the vast majority of men and women.

Second, that women are particularly able to help at this time in training the activities of good citizenship, an enormous number of persons, who, on the whole, are well-meaning and realize that they have much to learn.

Third, the belief that women have a contribution to their own make to make to public affairs.

Women by virtue of their distinctive experience in life," said Mrs. Park, "have a tendency to take up with education, public health, public morals, the human development made possible by a peace-loving and forward-looking civilization. It is in the public sphere that they are most useful, and it should be reckoned with quite as fully as should the point of view of business interests."

Not to Ignore Men She did not, however, mean that man's business viewpoint should no longer be considered now that women have the vote, she declared.

Mrs. Park proposed a pledge of all "conscientious citizens," drawn up as follows: "Believing in government by the people, for the people, I will do my best."

First, To inform myself about public questions, the principles and policies of political parties, and the qualifications of candidates for public office.

Second, To vote according to my conscience in every election, primary or final, at which I am entitled to vote.

FLEEING WITH INFANT, WOMAN SHOTS MAN

Police Seek Matilda Longo for 13th and Tasker Streets Fracas

After shooting Jeremiah Delegerio, 2214 South Tenth street, during a quarrel at Thirteenth and Tasker streets, shortly before midnight, Matilda Longo, according to the police, fled with her six-month-old baby. Delegerio is in a serious condition in the Methodist Hospital.

Police in all sections of the city are seeking the woman, who is said to live at Passyunk avenue and Moon street.

She met, it is reported, according to the police, became involved in a quarrel over possession of the infant. It appears that Delegerio engaged the woman some time ago to care for the child, but recently decided to engage some one else. Miss Longo had become greatly attached to the baby and declared that she would not surrender it to the care of any other woman, the police say.

She met Longo on the street while she was carrying the baby, and it is said he tried to take it from her. The woman drew a revolver, according to the police, and shot him in the stomach. She ran down the street with the baby and jumped on a trolley car.

In a description sent out by the police it is said that the woman has blood on her clothing.

HOSPITAL CREDITS BUREAU OUTLINED BY DR. BALDY

Step Toward Establishment of Business Methods, Says Commissioner

Harrisburg, April 25.—(By A. P.)—Details of the plan for establishment of a credit bureau in hospitals under the system recently announced by the Pennsylvania State Board of Health, Commissioner of Public Welfare, were made public today. Dr. Baldy declares the credit system is a move in the direction of establishment of some business methods better than those now in use. The idea, Dr. Baldy says, is to find out exactly what free service is rendered by the hospital, and to make a record of it in uniform and businesslike accounting system. Where there is doubt about the ability of a patient to pay the matter should be investigated. The letter states experience has shown that 70 per cent of the charges of collecting a bill are lost if settlement is not made before the patient is discharged.

In the outlining of details it is ruled that a baby should not be considered a patient apart from its mother. It is held no patient shall be considered a legitimate charge against the State who occupies a private room, a semi-private room, whose treatment is paid for under the proper and usual conditions, or whose responsible relatives pay a fee to a doctor associated with the patient or a patient whose credit has not been properly investigated.

Denies Altered Attitude "There is no difference between our offer, proposed on April 24 and my letter to Mr. Lloyd George of April 20," said Mr. Chicherin. "We merely explained and developed the fourth phrase of our note (that dealing with the restoration of property to foreigners)."

Conference Drifts Toward Rousing Over Moscow's Attitude on Property Rights

EXPLANATION BY CHICHERIN

France Plans No Hasty Occupation of Germany—"On to Berlin" Placards

By the Associated Press

London, April 25.—There is reliable information, declares a Central News dispatch from Genoa, that M. Barthou, of the French delegation, received telegraphic instructions today to insist at the conference upon the terms contained in Premier Poincaré's speech of Monday at Bar-le-Duc.

The French delegation, says the message, has declared it will press for a forty-eight-hour ultimatum to Russia or else break from the conference altogether.

Premier Poincaré's speech created great consternation in conference circles, it is said.

(Poincaré declared that unless the French delegation could go ahead with its work under the agreed conditions, France would have to withdraw from the conference.) The "agreed conditions"—the Cames resolutions—demand payment of Russia's pre-war debts and restitution of the Soviet of foreigners' property in Russia.)

Genoa, April 25.—(By A. P.)—The Genoa conference is drifting toward the rocks again.

Whether it can be kept from crashing depends upon the possibility of adjusting the new demands of the Russian Soviet delegates with the position of the allied governments, who declare they will steadfastly stand by the resolutions adopted at Cannes, on which the conference is founded.

Foreign Minister Chicherin of Soviet Russia, who has been associated with the Russian principle of nationalism, was blocking the conference.

"It is obvious," he said, "that the only serious obstacle to peace with Russia and general reconstruction are the pretensions of a few former owners of property in Russia."

The Russian position, Chicherin's statement was called out by the high tension developed over Russia's claims, which are threatening to disrupt the conference. He insisted, however, that it was the only serious obstacle to peace with Russia and general reconstruction are the pretensions of a few former owners of property in Russia.

Discards Half of Name "In my letter to Mr. Lloyd George it was said that we could restore to foreigners, who were former owners, the half of their property which was possible. In our proposals yesterday we explained in detail that this was possible only in cases where our social and economic system and our fundamental laws permitted it."

It is quite clear that the maintenance of our sovereign rights and our principles for the reconstruction of Russia are to be strictly observed. To give to former owners the use of their property is, therefore, possible only in conformity with our sovereign laws and only when our fundamental laws permit this step in our policy of reconstruction; but in cases where our economic plan of reconstruction is not thrown aside.

Suggests Separate Agreements "Further," it was said in my letter to Mr. Lloyd George that in other cases the just claims of former owners would be examined by us and would lead to separate agreements, or would be adjusted by a system to be elaborated now at this conference. This was also explained more in detail in our proposals of Monday.
