

Upwards of 500 Complete Suits From the Greatest Furniture Selection in America Go Into an Unexpected Sale

Today We Celebrate the Birthday of General Ulysses Simpson Grant

At one time for a year he was a citizen of Philadelphia, living in a house on the north side of Chestnut Street above Twentieth.

Grant's home in Philadelphia and Washington's home and Franklin's home and workshop in this city should be restored and added to our many historic places of note.

The South still speaks with fond memories of General Robert E. Lee, Henry W. Grady and President Grover Cleveland, a citizen of New York State, have a strong hold on the South as well as on the North.

There seems to be a kindling of a new life of patriotism above partisanship.

George Washington, Abraham Lincoln and Ulysses Grant, born today one hundred years ago, certainly form a golden chain of great souls as builders of a great nation.

The rising generation all over the land should be taught more of what its great men did to lay the foundations of the United States, and Philadelphia should mark the homes of its heroes and train its citizens to observe their birthdays.

Spring Frocks for Girls Are the Loveliest Ever

NEVER before were so many beautiful materials used in the making but, above all, the dresses themselves are so carefully designed.

Take, for example, some new flannel dresses. Made of checked or striped flannel designed by Rodier, the noted French designer of fabrics. One is in the form of a sleeveless jacket dress of striped flannel, with knife pleated skirt and an under blouse of tan organdie to match the flannel which is tan striped with jade.

Other delightful dresses made of Rodier flannel are white with red checks and have white flannel collar and cuffs or trimmings.

For afternoons, are some of the prettiest plaid sports silk dresses with pleated skirts and straight long-waisted blouses of white crepe de chine.

Another interesting novelty is a dress of navy blue or beige crepe de chine with a design in Russian coloring, stenciled on the dress.

There are all sorts of exquisite chiffons and white organdies for evening or flower-girl frocks. Many are trimmed with French flowers. It would be hard to imagine anything prettier.

And for prices, they start at $23.75 and go up to $42.50.

(Second Floor)

Children's White Dresses Reduced, $1 to $5

Really half price and the reason is that they are odds and ends and almost all are somewhat soiled or mused.

As they are tub frocks, however, such as lawn, organdie, net and batiste, this should make little difference to mothers who appreciate being able to buy two dresses for the usual cost of one. In every size from two to six years.

(Third Floor)

Delicate Afternoon Gowns Drop in Price—Now $50 to $115

Exquisite gray and beige toned frocks, as lovely as when first put into the dust-proof cases, but sizes are broken and we cannot duplicate them, so down go the prices to a third less.

Of Canton and other silk crepes both heavier and lighter in weight, are charming examples of Spring fashion, with fine pleats and tuckings, drawn work and bead work and braiding. There are sleeves of varying lengths and graceful straightness.

The shades of gray include silver and platinum, pearl and darker tones; the beige tones include castor, fawns, tans, café au lait and others.

Sizes 36 to 42 in the lot.

(First Floor)

Imported Dress Linen Special at 58c a Yard

Another little lot of the same sort which women were so keen to get a few days ago.

The linens are of medium weave and medium weight and wide, in soft and pleasant colors—three tans, three blues, a brown, a pink, a lavender and a green.

A Web Collar That Won't Shrink Is Here Either Already on a Shirt or Separately

EVERY MAN knows the advantage of a web collar. One that is comfortable and easy and won't wilt when the day is hot.

A collar like that is economical. Not necessary to have so many and there is no cost to keep them clean and wearable.

Such a collar is the "Mark Twain Hallmark Collar" that is sold in Philadelphia only at Wanamaker's.

The web collar is here in six styles, three at 50 cents and three at 35 cents.

And there are sports shirts with non-shrinkable web collars already on them.

Real novelties these new shirts, the body part being of end and end madras in solid colors, pastel shades, while the collar and soft, turn-back cuff are pure white webbing. Price, $4. A plain white chevion shirt with web collar and cuffs is $3.50.

Shirts not alone for sports, but shirts that young men wear everywhere.

The Toe Gave the Brogue Away and All the Men Are Locking for It

But if it wasn't for that tell-tale toe a man would never know it was a brogue.

First of all, it's a plain shoe, severely plain, not a mark to be seen.

Made of smooth calfskin, which is unusual in a brogue, and it's light and easy, which is the aim of a Summer shoe.

Tan, of course, and smart; in fact, it would be hard to find a smarter shoe.

Solidly good throughout and best of all the price, $8.50.

You're a Real, Red-Blooded Man—

What's more, a young man all alive and full of the love of outdoors.

You and every one of your companions follow the game with the zest of a true sportsman. You frolic at the club with the enthusiasm of youth; you walk the Boardwalk with the swagger of a man who knows he is right.

And to be right, you do these things in

A Sports Suit of Tweed—to Be Sure

No getting away from the fact, you and every one of your companions know that nothing looks the part so well as a sports suit and there's no sport in a sports suit that is not of tweed.

But one thing that it is wise to remember: a sports suit being a mighty important part of a man's wardrobe, ought to be backed up by the solid goodness that marks only the best clothes in America.

And the best clothes in America are to be found first at Wanamaker's.

What is more, there are sports suits here, or any other kind of suits a young man fancies, with all the ear-marks of fashion and all the "tailored-in" goodness that makes the $35 to $65 price seem a mere bagatelle.
