

WIFE OF SUGAR REFINER LOST BAG OF JEWELRY IN P. R. R. STATION IN N. Y.

HUGE EMERALD AMONG LOOT

Mrs. Mitchell Harrison, wife of the sugar refiner, of the St. James Annex, socially identified here, in New York and in Washington, was robbed of $100,000 worth of jewelry last Sunday night as she stepped from a train at the Pennsylvania Railroad Station in New York.

The robbery became known today as the result of her having reported the loss to William E. Miller, her insurance broker, 400 Walnut street, prior to leaving for Europe on the Aquitania. Mr. Miller has gone to New York to search for the jewels.

On the trip from Washington to New York, Mrs. Harrison was accompanied by her husband and daughter, Lindsay Harrison. According to Mrs. Harrison, shortly before the train arrived at the station in New York, large bags and packages belonging to the Harrisons were carried out on the platform of the train.

To move other bags Mrs. Harrison moved to the platform and then to the aisle and then helped her daughter to put on her coat. She then looked for the bag, but it was missing. She thought it had been removed to the platform by the porter. She tried to hurry to the platform, but her way was blocked by passengers.

The jewelry was insured by London Loan Company, Ltd. Among the missing jewelry is a ring containing what is said to be the largest emerald in this country, and one of the largest in the world. Another rare piece is a gold chain set with an emerald, ruby and diamond in two trillif leaves and a Croix de Guerre.

Mrs. Harrison from Count Rehner de Beaurieux.

The list also includes the following: diamond bandeau with sixty-two diamonds in platinum. Bracelet containing 361 pearls with diamond clasp on end of string, one solitary pearl surrounded with narrow band of rose diamonds. Pair of pearl and diamond earrings. Diamond containing seventy-nine diamonds in platinum. Small emerald and diamond collar. Cabochon emerald ring surrounded by small diamonds. Square emerald ring with two square diamonds in setting. Round emerald ring surrounded by small diamonds. Pearl ring with two diamonds on either side. Yellow pin with small diamonds. Multiple diamond bracelet containing forty-two diamonds in platinum. Black enamel vanity case with small diamonds. Small emerald and diamond bracelet. Jade and diamond bracelet. Gold chain set with rubies, emerald and diamonds in two trillif leaves and a Croix de Guerre attached, dated 1918. Two pairs emerald earrings. Diamond containing twenty pearls, the envelope marked "J. E. Caldwell, Philadelphia, Pa."

CHORAL UNION PERFORMS "MARTHA" IN CONCERT FORM

Chorus Shows Splendid Results of Hard Work and Training

The Choral Union, under the leadership of Anne McDonough, last evening performed Plotow's opera "Martha" in concert form before a large audience at Scottish Rite Hall, on North Broad street, the performance being one of the most important ones of Music Week.

As "Martha" is an opera of pure melody, and that melody has little, if any, relation to the dramatic situation of the moment, it makes excellent concert material. The Choral Union showed clearly the splendid work which has been accomplished by the leader, Miss Anne McDonough, and sang throughout with enthusiasm and spirit, as well as the greatest accuracy of attacks and releases and the other technical things which enter into fine choral singing, as well as much beauty of tone. Miss McDonough has done a fine work with what was in the beginning a chorus of virtually untrained voices. She has not only taught them to sing well, but has apparently given the members of the Union a splendid insight into the real message of the music of the composer.

The soloists, whose roles were equal in importance to that of the chorus, were Mildred Faas, soprano; Marie Stone Langston, contralto; Henry Gurney, tenor, and Franklin L. Wood, bass. As may be inferred from the names of these singers, all did the work allotted to them in an irreproachable manner. W. Lane Hoffman and Edith Myfanwy Morgan acted as accompanists.

Trolley Strikes Girl

While crossing the street, Elizabeth Feebauer, eight years old, of 1937 Buckius street, was struck by a trolley car at Frankford avenue and Buckius street last night. She was taken to the Frankford Hospital with injuries of the head, face and arms.

Do You Know All Your Good Prospects? and what is more important Do They Know You?

THE most valuable asset a business can have is a wide acquaintance-ship. It would be a wonderful thing for your business if every logical prospect for your line knew your firm, knew what you made or sold, and all of its good points.

Few concerns can truthfully make these claims. In fact, only a few can rightly claim they know all the concerns they ought to do business with. This is all wrong! Today especially, when there are three sellers to every buyer—when you are wishing you had more customers instead of more goods—it is very wrong.

First, you ought to be absolutely sure that you know every well rated concern you have a good right to sell.

Next, you ought to take immediate steps to see that they know all about you—what a fine house you are—what a good line you handle—what excellent values you offer.

This is easy for the man sincerely anxious to speed up his business. Here's how:

Belknap Systems of Addressing are proving life savers for all sorts of concerns in all kinds of business today

By removing the expense, time-loss and drudgery from all forms of addressing work, a Belknap System enables you constantly to keep your prospects posted about you—and encourages them to send you orders. Many concerns who were timorously wondering what 1922 had in store for them—after taking a lot of unnecessary punishment in 1921—are now facing the future with new faith in themselves, their line, their trade, and the country.

And with unbounded respect for the particular Belknap System which enabled them to turn vigorous broadsides of direct selling effort on all the worthwhile concerns capable of handling their lines—resulting in a fresh grip on and mastery of what before that was a bothersome situation.

Don't make the mistake of thinking you can't afford a Belknap System of Addressing. If money means anything to you, you can't afford not to have one. You are wasting its cost times over without ending—in leaks and losses due to old-fashioned methods of handling all sorts of addressing work, to say nothing of the profits you are losing on account of the sales which a Belknap System can't make for you until you own and operate one.

OLSHANSKY RECITAL

Baritone Renders Fine Program in Excellent Manner

Bernardo Olschansky, baritone, gave a recital at Witherspoon Hall last evening before a good-sized audience, being assisted by Dorothy Rust Hemenway, soprano. Mr. Olschansky's part of the program was widely varied in character, and made many demands upon the singer, all of which he met easily.

Mr. Olschansky has a baritone voice of unusually fine quality, and he handles it with the greatest skill. He sang an operatic group and a group of English, but perhaps his best work was done in the three Rumanian folk-songs which he sang and a superb selection of five Russian songs, in all of which the singer brought out the native Slav element, which is the soul of all the music of the North.

Miss Hemenway was almost equally successful, showing a voice of much beauty and singing well the various songs which she had selected. Elsin Trostchel Enos was an efficient accompanist.

FRAUD IS CHARGED

Two Men Accused of False Stock Deals on Trial Here

Joseph B. Williams and William M. McMillen are on trial before Judge Rogers and a jury charged with conspiracy to defraud the United States of Clayton, N. J., by inducing him to invest in stock of the Automobile Banking Corporation under misrepresentation that it was engaged in a banking business and earning large dividends.

Knorr testified he invested almost $7000 in stock of the concern, for which he only received about $500 in return, according to this story. He said he found that common stock, for which he was induced to exchange his preferred stock, was worthless.
