ndler Eliminates Last Competitor for Benny Leonard's Lightweight Championship Cro

By LOUIS H. JAFFE New York, May 6.

EW TENDLER, Philadelphia's desimant to the lightweight chammaship and Benny Leonard's most resistent challenger for a crack at his rown, today stands with both feet marely on the threshold of the New Torker's throne. Tendler sidetracked the isst and most dangerous of the flock pretenders for Leonard's diadem that he southpaw decisively defeated thany Dundee in fifteen rounds at dison Square Garden, here last

ALUMNI MAY OUST

Princeton, N. J., May 6. — Dean Howard McClenahan, chairman of the Sports Committee at Princeton, may be asked to leave the university as a re-sult of the disqualifying of three team captains and numerous other athletes recently recently

It is said that several prominent and influential members of the board of trustees will demand that Dean McClenahan withdraw from the Sports Com-mittee and it is further rumored that this step may be carried to the point where the faculty manager will be forced to resign his chair. The feeling sgainst Dean McClena-

Stars at Twenty-sixth and Reed With Bill Grieshaber in form and the Fleisher batters in a hitting mood, the yarners scored the first victory of the season over Bridesburg last night at Twenty-sixth and Reed streets. The score was 5 to 3. Fleisher tallied four runs in the opening inning off Ray Kepner, who then settled down and pitched great ball. Third baseman Steel, with a trio
