Never Such a Vogue for Capes

Young women and matrons find that capes are the most becoming and generally useful-wraps that they can have. A cape can be worn anywhere and will be comfortable all through the Summer.

Prices Start at $10

and between $10 and $35 there is an almost endless assortment of pretty things.

They are of velour, Bolivia, tricotine, Poiret twill, serge and Canton crepe, as well as the more sports-like tweeds and plaids. Reindeer, Sorrento, brown and navy are the best-liked colors for wool, while black leads in silk.

Two new capes of navy blue Poiret twill are sketched. On the right is a cape with deep knotted silk fringe and a lining of gray or Copenhagen silk.

The other wrap has very deep fringe reaching from the shoulder to well below the waist. It, also, is silk lined. $16.50.
