Nancy Wynne Tells What Debutantes Are Doing in Business and Studies—Engagement of Former Philadelphian—Today's Weddings

I THINK it is interesting to hear what different girls are doing at college, for a great many are doing it. I've heard that Mary Siter is president of the girls' freshmen class at Penn. She is the daughter of Mrs. Siter and Mr. Siter and made her debut two years ago. Her younger sister, Elizabeth, is coming out next winter. Mary plays tennis very well and is a member of the tennis team. She is also a member of the tennis team. She is also a member of the tennis team.

WASN'T it nice to hear of the engagement of Mrs. Charles King, of New York, to Mr. Frederick W. Sherman, of this city, and is a daughter of Mrs. John Muir, of Chestnut Hill. Miss King is the daughter of Mrs. King and Mr. Charles E. Brinley, also of Chestnut Hill. Mrs. King is attractive and was quite a belle in Philadelphia when she formerly came here. The bridegroom originally came from Connecticut.

TODAY there will be an attractive wedding in Lexington, Mass., that of Helen Davis and Franklin Gray, daughter of Mr. Charles D. Davis, of Lexington, and has often visited here. Lenore McCall, the Joseph B. McCall bride, will be married to Mr. Charles D. Davis, of Lexington, and has often visited here. Lenore McCall, the Joseph B. McCall bride, will be married to Mr. Charles D. Davis, of Lexington, and has often visited here.

Did you know that Kitty Knight is home? She has been out in Tucson, Ariz., with her mother, Mrs. Bradford Knight, and Billie Smith, Mrs. Howard Weatherly's daughter. I saw her on Chestnut street yesterday. She is wearing a small black hat trimmed with a single large red rose and a long black coat over a red crepe de chine dress and the effect was striking. She always dresses with a great deal of style, don't you think?

A GREAT many people are planning to go to the special performance of the Mask and Wig this Saturday at the Academy of Music. The show, which has been taken boxes. Among them are Mrs. Theodore W. Heath, Mrs. Sydney Thayer, Mrs. Joseph Letley, Mrs. Paul Thompson, Mrs. M. Braden Kelly, Mrs. Erol White, Miss Anne Wharton, Mrs. John H. Mason, Jr., Mrs. George W. R. Roberts, Mrs. Benjamin Heath, Mrs. R. M. Gies, Mrs. L. W. T. Waller, Mrs. W. C. Brown, Mrs. S. J. Brown, Mrs. H. L. Snowden and Mrs. George Bower. The performance is for the benefit of the Belmont Wood Memorial Association and will be the last performance to be given this year. The show, "The Tales," has been given in a great many other cities besides Philadelphia this spring, and you remember I told you that it was a success in Washington, when President Harding went behind the scenes to congratulate the "girls" and men of the cast. Wouldn't it be great to be President and to welcome behind the scenes any time you wanted to go?

Little Benny's Notebook. By Lee Pape. The most frequent liquid is water. Found in spiders, laves and creeks. It is used to take a bath in. And varies from floods to leaks.

Lemniscate is usually water. With things added and nothing removed. It don't even look much different. But O how the taste is improved.

Milk is a liquid made by cows. They suck it up after a lot. It is used to take a bath in. And will wet its not.

Among the liquids in bottles. One of the darkest is ink. Being useful to mankind to write with. But on the contrary to drink.

Altho melted ice cream is good liquid. And gray makes things wet that would be dry. There's nothing can take the place of The juice from a Jockey apple pie.

DREAMLAND ADVENTURES

Blue Heron's Bride. By DADDY. CHAPTER III. Making a Bride to Order. "HERE I am," screamed fussy little Mrs. Screech Owl at Blue Heron. "These children have brought me to your mate."

"Oh-ooo-ooo! Oh-ooo-ooo!" You can't get out of wedding me now," shrieked Mrs. Screech Owl. "The guests are all here." "Yes," cried the birds. "The guests are all here. You will have to marry now, Blue Heron."

"But Blue Heron shook his head. "She isn't my s-s-style at all," he protested.

"Cocky Robin hopped about excitedly. "I know what to do," he cried. "The woman who owns the tree where I live has a house. She didn't like the looks of the house, so she made it over. She added on a porch, she put in new windows, she painted the whole place another color, and now it just suits you. You can build Mrs. Screech Owl over until she just suits you."

"Yes," chanted all the birds. "Build Mrs. Screech Owl over until she suits you. We will help."

"We haven't time to argue," shrieked Mrs. Screech Owl. "Here are the birds coming to the wedding. We must get ready."

Indeed all Birdland seemed to be hurrying to the wedding. Mrs. Screech Owl's shrieks inviting the birds had traveled far. From every direction guests came flocking to see the bride of Blue Heron.

Blue Heron kept on gasping and spluttering. Finally he managed to stammer out what was on his mind. "S-s-s-say! If I've got to be m-m-mated, I want the kind of a m-m-mate I want. This b-b-bird may be c-c-cute and she may be l-l-lovely, but she isn't the k-k-kind of a bird I expected to be m-m-marry."

The birds that had come for the wedding seemed disappointed at this.
