MACHINE POLITICS IN CRUCIAL TESTS

Victory for Pinchot Would Be Interpreted as Blow to Organization Control

INDIANA SHOCKS REGULARS

By CLINTON W. GILBERT and Correspondent Evening Public Ledger opyright, 1922, by Public Ledger Company Washington, May 11 .- The politicians here are watching with great interest the coming primaries in Pennsylvania. If Gifford Pinchot should be nominated for Governor, everybody would interpret it as a sign of general public disgust with machine politics. Already the machine has had an unexpected blow in Indiana through the triumph of Mr. Beveridge over Senator New in the recent primaries. The Indiana result may be personal. It may be purely local. But it was a rule shock to those who were counting upon the power of the organization to control nominations, for it was on the power of the machine that the betting f 5 to 1, in favor of Mr. New, was based. A sletory for Mr. Pinchot may again be personal and local, due to the conwhich Mr. Pinchot inspires through his personal character and past achievements and to the dissatisfaction which the electorate of Pennsylvania feels in machine rule and the break-up of the organization resulting from the loss of its old leaders.

William S. Buck-land, who fought under Theodore Roose-velt in Porto Rico, is director of the Pinchot campaign in Montgomery. One of the chief reasons why Mr. Buckland thinks Pinchot will carry Montgomery County is the effective way in which Miss Helen C. As is the case in many other counties, the women of Montgomery are almost solidly be-hind Pinchot, and Miss Livezey and her
