

JUST GOSSIP ABOUT PEOPLE

Nancy Wynne Sees Many People at the Wynnewood Pony and Dog Show—She Sees Some Attractive Clothes and Chats of Other Doings

DIDN'T you think the Pony Show yesterday was "grand"? There were perfect crowds of all ages out there and they seemed to be having a wonderful time. Never have I seen so many of the "younger marrieds"—they are all so attractive, too—with their children in tow, sometimes assisted by nurses, fathers or grandmothers. The children looked too cute dressed up in their very best. The pony show proper was as great a success as ever, and it was exciting every one when their young relations rode and drove around the circle and got blue ribbons pinned on their ponies. The dog show was great, and there were dozens of police, colleges and every sort of puppy collared in it. A great many of the dogs seem to have come from quite a distance. I was looking at some crates which they came in they look more like clothes hampers than anything else and one had "Biltmore, N. C." on the side, which, I believe, is the name of the Vanderbilts' place down South. The fashion show was, of course, wonderful, and every one craned his neck over the throng to get ideas for new dresses. Tea, with Mrs. Edward Browning in charge, was very popular, and I saw a great many people at the tea tables under the trees. Among them Mrs. Henry Brinton Cox and her daughter, Catherine Cox Porter. The dogs and sides in white, selling ice-cream cones, cigarettes, cakes and candies. Among the girls I saw were Sue Goodwin, Dot Valentino, Bonnie Wood, Logan Starr, Sarah McLean, Connie Snow, Clair Gittings, Mary Burton, Betsy Ferguson and Tiny Schwartz. Many Stuart was an able, too, and she wore a dress with a hat of orange taffeta and straw with two long streamers of orange taffeta. Mallie Baird wore a hat somewhat like Mary's, except that it was smaller, and she wore a dress of green with streamers of green. She wore a green suit with it, and she looked very pretty. She was with Mabel Melvain, and Mabel wore a hat exactly like Mary's, and she wore a blue tweed suit. Hannah Elliott was wearing one of those good-looking wicker caps. It was according to book and was tan with several broad stripes of dark brown around the bottom. She is to be married to Walter Pew on June 24, you know.

TODAY we shall have a breathing space and, then, tomorrow the Flower Market at Rittenhouse Square. I always think about it something especially attractive about the Flower Market, with its red and white striped awnings over the booths and the aides in their bright-colored costumes in a setting of green trees and lawns, with the lovely pool and fountain in the background. For those who get lunch in the square there will be a restaurant, in charge of Mrs. Charles Stewart Wurts, Louis Rodman Page, Jr., is going to have a photograph booth, which will be all varieties of farm products, butter and eggs, honey and vegetables. I wonder if they will have any of those delicious little tomatoes again. I remember I got some last year and they were awfully nice. Mrs. William Dayton Grange will have a candy table, so I am sure all our wants will be supplied.

DEBORAH SEAL is wearing a good-looking costume these days, a dark blue silk with a small red design, made simply with an oval neck, short sleeves and long waist, and a wide sash. The hem is edged with "ruffles" of the same material. With it she wears a large dark blue straw hat bound with red and plied with small red and blue flowers across the front. She is to have one of the leading parts in "Folanthe," you know, and from what I hear will make as much of a success as she did in "Why Not?" NANCY WYNN.

The Original Dr. A. Reed CUSHION SHOES for Women "Stylease" Brown and Black Kid Women in Want All over Philadelphia there are women in actual want of comfortable shoes. Women who are on their feet a great deal, women at home, women in business. And it isn't through lack of funds but through lack of knowledge, first, of what constitutes comfortable shoes, and second, where to get them. We wish all such women might come into our store and walk around in a pair of Dr. Reed Cushion Shoes. We feel sure that ninety-nine out of a hundred would never wear anything else. For unparalleled comfort combined with good looks and wearability there is not a shoe that stands comparison with Dr. Reed Cushion Shoe. 106 So. 3rd St. Just below Chestnut
