Blind Athletes

A Boy Year

Twilight League

By THE OBSERVER

THERE was a lesson in life taught by athletics at Overbrook on Saturday. Harken and profit thereby.

Some of the participants in the track and field meet live in a silent world; the others in a lightless universe.

The contest was between the Pennsylvania Institute for the Blind and the Pennsylvania Institute for the Deaf.

In the track events the starter held a cap in one hand and clapped it against his other as a signal.

The Deaf could see and the Blind could hear, but the Mutes had the advantage of being set for the start by watching the official raise his hand for the signal.

But the Blind won and won handily, scoring more than twice the number of points made by the Deaf.

And the performances were good, so good that they take on added brilliancy when compared with times and figures made by normal schoolboy athletes.

A blind boy named Puskowski was first in the seventy-five-yard dash in 8 3-5 seconds and he broke the tape in the 100-yard event in 10 4-5 seconds, times fast enough to win many scholastic races.

These youths are going through life with the greatest of physical handicaps, and yet in athletic tests they are on a par with the normal.

They are mounting obstacles that seem impossible to us. How small and puny are the barriers in our pathway.

PHILADELPHIANS will have a chance to see the greatest American crew in action on Saturday, when the Middies' eight rows in the Henley on the Schuylkill. The Annapolis oarsmen will be opposed to Penn's varsity blades.

Let's Make It a Boy Year

LAST week was Boy Week. Let us continue it this week and next week and the following week and so on through the year.

The boy had a "peachy time, yuhbetcha." He thinks his dad is a great old scout today, his love for his mother and home has increased, he respects the value of a penny a bit more, has learned the lesson of the Good Samaritan, and he's all wrapped up in healthy outdoor sports.

In short, the Boy is more of a Man than he was before his week.

The committees and their various assistants are to be congratulated on the splendid exercises held and the good accomplished.

It was a complete and efficient organization that handled the entertainments and it should be made a permanent one.

George F. Pawling, who was in charge of Boy Day in Athletics, has suggested that the organization be kept intact to "further the better interests of Boy Week activities, especially along the lines of extensive and competitive athletics."

If we are true and loyal Americans we must interest ourselves in the future of the country. The coming generation is the foundation of the future.

Help the boys of today and you are helping the nation of tomorrow.

FEAR that Billy Tilden may be slipping was dispelled by the masterful brand of tennis the champion displayed in New York Saturday. Tilden can slip more than a hop, step and jump before he is only an ordinary star.

A Twilight Baseball League

THE suggestion that a league be formed among the first-class clubs of the Philadelphia Baseball Association is a good one.

There are a number of teams in the association well supported financially and they could afford league ball on a high plane.

League baseball among the twilighters should go big. There would be plenty of local interest and it is the community that pays the expenses.

The association proved it was getting down to real business when a proposal was made to bond the clubs. This would force a classification of the teams, which would prevent cancellation of games in many instances.

The officials of the association should attempt to get as many clubs bonded as possible and should fix the bond according to the class of the club.

IN ORDER to encourage public links players, the United States Golf Association will hold a national tourney for those who trek over the free-for-all courses. Public players here don't need tourneys for encouragement; they need courses.

GREB GETS CHANCE AT TUNNEY'S TITLE

Victor Tonight Will Be in Line for Carpentier Bout in United States

PITTSBURGHER IS FAVORITE

By LOUIS JAFFE

ANOTHER ring title may change hands tonight—and it may not—but it is a certainty that Georges C. Carpentier's next opponent in this country, if the Frenchman ever comes here again, will be decided in the ring at the Garden, N. Y. C. The principals in this punchfest are to be Harry Greb and Gene Tunney.

Tunney, whose real front handle is James and has a middle initial of J., is the light heavyweight champion of the United States. He won these laurels when he was rendered a fifteen-round decision over Battling Levinsky several months ago. Whether he will awaken as the champion tomorrow morning remains to be seen.

Many of the wise crackers are under the impression that Greb will be entirely too fast on his feet and punch at least 5 to 1 against Tunney, so that the Pittsburgh windmill will step out of the ring tonight America's best light heavyweight. This would put Harry in line for a meeting with Carpentier the next time the gorgeous Georges smiles on an audience of American fistic fans.

Dempsey Boosts Greb

"I boxed with him a lot. Funniest hitter in the world. He makes you think you're in a glove factory and shelves of them are tumbling down on you. He can slap you to death, I tell you. I found the best way to get him was at close quarters. Getting close to him, however, isn't the easiest thing in the world."

But Dempsey's little speech doesn't throw any scare or anything like that into Tunney's manager, Frank Bagley. The "Doc" doesn't think that Greb will smother this James J. boy with an abundance of leather. We'll permit Bagley himself to take the floor with his fine choice of sporting lingo, viz.:

"I tell you, Gene Tunney is the Morvich of the boxing game. I can't describe him any other way. The boy has never been let down in a fight since we've been together. I mean that he has wanted to cut loose in most of his fights, but I've held him in tow, making him win gradually, to wind up with a knockout when he has his man whipped. In that way he has picked up experience. It's one thing to go in and knock a lot of fellows dead in a round and suddenly find a fighter some night who can take and give.

Never Extended

"Gene has been properly schooled. He knows what to do when a man comes back at him. But he's Mister Morvich of this racket. He's never been extended and he's never been let down. Why, listen to me. He'll kiss Greb with a left hook that will knock all the Pittsburgh steel mill chimneys down just from excess shock.

"The world doesn't know how hard Gene Tunney can hit. When he says he will challenge Dempsey next year, he means every word of it. Have no fleeting fear. Gene Tunney is and will be the light-heavyweight champion of the world. Greb for a goal and then Carpentier. If they think Georges is a socker, wait until they see Gene tonight. Ring us up now. We're under the wire."

Perry Too Fast for Shevlin

Boston, Mass., May 23.—Jack Perry, of Pittsburgh, proved one too shifty for Eddie Shevlin in their ten-round bout at the Boston Arena. While the fight was fast and close, Perry had five of the rounds and Shevlin four. The fourth round was even. Pal Reed, sub for Nate Belgel, who had a broken hand, stopped Steve Latzo, of Hazleton, Pa., in the second when the referee halted the fight to save Latzo from unnecessary punishment. Pat McCarthy won a close ten-round bout over Jack McClellan, the latter surprising all by his clever work. Johnny Amato White, of New York, won in six rounds over Sammy Terlen, of St. Paul, when the referee awarded the bout to White on an unintentional foul.

GIRL GOLFER WINS FROM MRS. STETSON

Miss Helen Meehan, Aged 17, Eliminates Medalist From Phila. Championship

IS VICTOR BY ONE UP

When Miss Helen Meehan, the seventeen-year-old golfer of the Cedarbrook Country Club, defeated Mrs. G. Henry Stetson, the Huntingdon Valley star, today she furnished the first big upset of the golf tourney for the women's championship of Philadelphia. Mrs. Stetson yesterday won the medal with an 86.

Miss Meehan triumphed by the narrow margin of 1 up in the first round of match play over the Huntingdon Valley links. The youthful star belongs to a famous golfing family. She is a daughter of J. Franklin Meehan, and both she and her sister, Miss Sara Meehan, qualified yesterday for the first flight.

Miss Sara Meehan was 1 down today to Mrs. Ronald H. Barlow, the Merion veteran, at the eleventh hole.

Here are the cards returned by Miss Helen Meehan and Mrs. Stetson:

Miss Meehan—
Out	5	5	6	6	5	3	5	3	6—44
In	4	5	6	4	4	6	5	4	5—43—87
Mrs. Stetson—
Out	4	5	6	5	6	4	6	4	6—46
In	4	4	6	5	4	5	6	3	5—44—90

Mrs. Stetson is the only one of the so-called big five who has not won the local championship.

Good Match Played

She has always been a better match than medal player and has scored some notable triumphs, particularly in national championships.

She missed her drive yesterday on the fourth and the tenth tees, was twice bunkered and got but two long putts, also having a shot out of bounds. To compile her woman's par-scraping 86 in spite of five mistakes shows her strength on recoveries and the unflustered, speedy gait she maintained.

It is said to have been the first time she has won the championship medal and indeed to have been the best score she has turned in for a titular medal round.

Always Promising

Only a year or two after she took up golf she was playing with the best of them and has been "knocking at the door" these last two or three years.

By virtue of her low score Mrs. Stetson was placed at the top of the upper bracket in the drawing. She teed off today against Miss Helen Meehan, the youthful Cedarbrook expert.

The latter is the daughter of J. Franklin Meehan, headmaster of junior golf hereabouts. This is a real golfing family, one of the most enthusiastic in town, and you can bet Pater Meehan was out there today rooting hard.

He was also tearing his hair, for not only was one daughter playing Mrs. Stetson, but the other, Sara Meehan, was pitted against Mrs. Ronald H. Barlow, Merion, who was second yesterday with an 89 and who is the outstanding favorite for the title.

Papa Meehan was not adverse to laying a little bet, but wasn't boisterous about it, and you can't blame him for that.

Other matches in the championship flight today were Mrs. S. B. Peck, Country Club, vs. Mrs. Caleb Fox, Huntingdon Valley; Miss H. Dixon, Cricket, vs. Miss Dorothy Doyle, Torresdale, two coming young players who did well to get in; Mrs. N. M. (May Bell) Hutchinson, Cricket, vs. Mrs. J. W. Turnbull, Cricket; Mrs. Raymond Slotter, Philmont, vs. Miss Charlotte Cheston, Cricket; Mrs. E. H. Vare, Whitemarsh, vs. Mrs. J. S. Disston, Jr., Cricket, and Miss Frances Griscom, Merion, vs. Miss E. G. Hood, Cricket.

Some Surprises

There were several surprises in the line-up of those who failed to qualify. The scoring was very good for the trying Noble course, full of traps, pitfalls and creeks. There was a play-off at 100, three of the seven ties getting in.

These were Miss Dorothy Doyle, who had a 4 all alone on the first hole; Mrs. E. H. Vare and Miss E. G. Hood, Mrs. T. Weidersein, H. V. C. C. (formerly Eleanor Chandler) and Mrs. Jerry Hirst, Whitemarsh, dropped out at the first, Mrs. Walter Janney and Miss Florence McNeely falling down on the next. Mrs. Janney lost a ball there.

Mrs. G. S. Munson, Miss Catharine Hutchinson, Countess Von Holstein, Mrs. E. H. Fitler, Mrs. E. G. Betz and several others were looked upon as candidates for the first sixteen, but failed by a few missed putts and things.

NAVY TO PLAY PENN STATE AT WASHINGTON NOV. 3

Middies Will Play Three Big Grid Games Away From Home

Annapolis, Md., May 23.—The conclusion of the arrangements for the playing of the Pennsylvania State-Naval Academy football game in Washington on November 3 assures the midshipmen of three of their five big games away from Annapolis next fall, the Military Academy and University of Pennsylvania elevens being met in Philadelphia.

The Penn State game was originally arranged to be played in Annapolis on November 4. However, in order to provide funds for a new athletic field at the Academy, and also to have the Navy team play in Washington, where it has many friends, it was transferred to that city.

As the American League park was taken for the fourth, it will be played a day earlier.

The University of Pennsylvania will be played at Philadelphia on October 28, and the big service game will be contested in the same city on November 25.

The big home games for the Navy team will be against Bucknell on October 14 and against Georgia Tech a week later.

The third polo match for the Wootton challenge cup will be decided on the grounds of the Bryn Mawr Polo Club this afternoon, at 5 o'clock, when the Meadowbrook Ramblers will meet the Bryn Mawr Freebooters.

The Freebooters defeated the Philadelphia Country Club's first team on Saturday, 13 to 6, and the winner of this afternoon's match will play the Bryn Mawr Fox Hunters tomorrow in the final event.

The Fox Hunters yesterday defeated the Philadelphia Country Club Rovers, 20 to 10. The Fox Hunters had a sixteen goal handicap on the Rovers, but under the rules the latter was only allowed to claim ten.

John W. Converse, Rodman Wanamaker, 2d, and John Stone were stars, with six goals each. The Rovers failed to score a single goal. The closing periods were played in a driving rain.

BRAMMAL WINS TITLE; DEFEATS HODGE AT NETS

Speedboy Star Beats Teammate in Junior Singles Match

Jack Brammal, of the West Philadelphia High School, won the junior interscholastic singles championship of Philadelphia yesterday afternoon on the courts of the Germantown Cricket Club by beating Hanson Hodge, a teammate. The final score was 5-7, 1-6, 6-3, 6-1, 7-5.

Two teammates also met in the final of the boys' singles, Milton Hofkin, recent winner over Sandy Wiener, protege of Bill Tilden, showed good form in defeating Meyer. Both boys are from Central High.

In the other match of the afternoon Bartlett and McGlinn, of Penn Charter, eliminated Edward and Albert Maguire, of West Catholic, in a semi-final match of the junior doubles.

Hodge and Olhausen, of West Philadelphia, will meet Kraft, of Lower Merion, and Brammal, of West Philadelphia, in the other junior doubles semi-final. The winners of this match will meet the winners of yesterday's semi-final later in the afternoon for the junior doubles championship.

AMERICAN GOLFER DEFEATS BRITON

Van Vleck, Garden City, Eliminates Aldridge, Leatherhead, From British Title Play

TWO U. S. PLAYERS LOSE

By the Associated Press

Prestwick, Scotland, May 23.—One American survived and two others were defeated in this morning's round of the British amateur golf tourney. Edward Van Vleck, of the Garden City Club, defeated W. S. Aldridge, of Leatherhead, 5 and 4. Donald Parson, of Youngstown, O., was eliminated by Alex Menzies, of Ralston, 3 and 1, and John De Chapman was defeated by H. E. Taylor, Mid-Surrey, 1 up, 19 holes.

Of the five Americans who started in the tourney only two remain. John G. Anderson, of Siwanoy, won his first round match, but George Dixon, National Links, was eliminated.

In today's match Van Vleck used a brassie from the tee without sand and outdrove Aldridge every time except once, when he duffed his shot.

Van Vleck holed a chip shot from near the edge of the green at the first hole to win in three. He was three up at the turn and was out in 40 to Aldridge's 43.

RIVAL COLORED NINES PLAY FIRST OF SERIES

Hilldale and Phila. Royal Stars Meet Tonight in West Phila.

Considerable talk has been spilt among the colored baseball fans regarding the merits of the Hilldale and Philadelphia Royal Giants baseball teams. The Darbyites have the call by reason of their year's standing, but the Royal Giants, under "Chappie" Johnson, lay claim to the championship of the city.

After considerable debate, they have arranged a series, the first of which will be played this evening at the Donovan-Armstrong grounds, at Fifty-eighth and Walnut streets.

"Chappie" Johnson will trot out his pitching ace, "Ping" Gardner, and he will be opposed by Rector or Flournoy. The contest is attracting all kinds of attention, and a record crowd is expected.
