Old Timers Back on the Job

Back of all the bullish discussion that comes into the market, was evidence that important interests formerly more active in the affairs of St. Paul. Standard Oil issues and copper pro-ducing companies, had taken an active position on the long side, after being out of the market situation for a little over ten years. A good part of the buying that made two classes of Stan-dard Oil stock strong, was faderstood to have come from this source.

What Makes a Safe Investment?

It is the greatness of the factor of safety; the small. ness of the element of risk.

The ratio of these two elements in most standard securities is a matter of record in our office.

We will gladly consult concerning present or contemplated investments.
