THE question of the right to the use of the name, COTY for Perfumes and Toilet Preparations was argued May 15th before His Honor, Judge Hugh M. Morris, in the United States District Court for the District of Delaware. After argument by counsel for both sides, a decree, herewith printed in full, was signed by Judge Morris, granting a temporary injunction.

In The District Court of The United States

FOR THE DISTRICT OF DELAWARE FRANCOIS JOSEPH de SPOTURNO COTY.

Defendant.

No. 475 in Equity

And now, to wit, this fifteenth day of May, A. D., 1922, the motion of plaintiff that a preliminary injunction issue in said cause having come on to be heard at this term, upon bill, affidavits and exhibits filed therein, after argument by counsel for the respective parties, thereupon, upon consideration thereof, and as now appears the defendant's use of the word "Origan" is an infringement of the plaintiff's trade-mark "L'Origan" No. 146,974, and the use of the word "Coty" or words "Ernest Coty" in connection with or with the sale or advertisement of perfumes or toilet preparations is an infringement of plaintiff's trade-mark "Coty" No. 147,206 and also constitutes unfair competition unless accompanied with the phrase "not connected with the original Coty" in immediate juxtaposition therewith, now for the purpose of preliminary relief, it is Ordered, Adjudged and Decreed by the court that upon plaintiff filing a bond in form and with surety to be approved by the court in the sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000), conditioned upon the payment of such costs and damages as may be incurred or suffered by any party who may be found to have been wrongfully enjoined or restrained hereby, a preliminary injunction issue out of and under the seal of this court directed to the defendant, Coty Stores of America, Inc., restraining and enjoining said Coty Stores of America. Inc., its officers, agents, servants, employees, attorneys and those in active concert or participating with them, each and every of them, until further order of the court, as follows:

1. From directly or indirectly using the said trade-mark "L'Origan" or the word "Origan" in connection with the sale of perfumes or toilet preparations: 2. From directly or indirectly using the device (or any device containing a similar arrangement of the word "Coty") such as appears at the head of the defendant's advertisement in the Atlantic City Gazette of April 16, 1922, and on its Atlantic City and Philadelphia stores as shown in exhibits filed in this cause and on the awnings as shown by the evidence;

3. From directly or indirectly using the name "Coty" in advertisements or otherwise prominent letters and from using the full name "Ernest Coty" except when immediately followed by the phrase "Not the original Coty" in lettering of the same style and at least one half the size used for the words Ernest Coty but this shall not prevent the defendant's use of its corporate name provided that it is accompanied by the said phrase in lettering of the same style and at least onefourth the size used for the corporate name, nor shall it prevent the defendant from selling or offering for sale in its stores the products which it imports bearing the name "Ernest Coty" unaccompanied by the phrase "Not the Original Coty" provided that they do not bear the word "Origan" or any imitation thereof and provided that there is at all times prominently displayed and permanently fixed in each such store, present or future, a placard or such number of placards as may be necessary in order that at least one such placard may be seen and easily read from any point in each such store, bearing the words "We are not the original Coty and do not carry his products.

STYLE M (5 feet 7 in.) $1375 the smallest real grand

Real grand piano tone is obtained from long strings and a relatively large sounding board. Neither of these essentials can be had in a very short grand piano. Only Steinway & Sons have been able so to harmonize them in a small grand as to produce the musical results of a real grand piano-and yet make the size adaptable to the limited dimensions of modern homes. Hear the sparkling tone of Style M, brilliant, rich, glorious; put your fingers on its keys and experience the delicate balance of its touch. Then realize that it takes only fractional more space than an upright. Time payments.
