

Larry Shields Proved Victory Over Connelly No Fluke When He Captured Mile in Easy Fashion

CALIFORNIA'S WORK IN THE FIELD EVENTS WON BIG TRACK MEET

Westerners Scored 291-2 Points Outside of Running Events and Took College Championship for Second Consecutive Time—Leoney Had No Opposition

By ROBERT W. MAXWELL Sports Editor Evening Public Ledger
IN WINNING the intercollegiate track and field championships for the second time the athletes from the University of California proved beyond question that the East no longer harvests the best crop of performers.

But California took the Brodie, shipped a few athletes to this section and did nothing but clean up the championship and everything else for two straight years.

The time has come to give full recognition to real athletes whether they come from the Atlantic or Pacific Coast. Last fall a lot of talk was spilled about the football team out there, and it was the consensus of opinion that any good Eastern eleven would mop the field with it.

California was not expected to win the meet this year. The early dope showed Princeton had a strong, well-balanced team, with few men who could win first places, but many who could score seconds and thirds.

When one considers that Merchant was competing in four events at once, his work must be considered as marvellous. There are few like him. Another Westerner who starred was Glenn Hartruff, of Stanford.

STANFORD finished third because Kitzky, the star sprinter, was off form. He scored but one point, getting fifth in the furlong.

LARRY SHIELDS, of Penn State, showed his class when he won the one-mile run. It was his last race and he finished his collegiate athletic career in a blaze of glory.

Larry was an unfortunate victim of circumstances in the Penn relay last month. In the last lap of the mile in the distance medley he won from Connelly, of Georgetown, only to be disqualified by the judges.

LEONEY, of Lafayette, was in excellent form and pranced through the 100 and 200 yard dashes like Morwick winning the Kentucky Derby.

WOODRING pulled a tendon in the 100-yard dash. He felt well before the race and told Tommy Keane, his coach, that he expected to win.

GEORGE BRONDER and Larry Brown were the only Penn men who showed. Bronder also was fourth in the shot put, contributing 7 of Penn's 16 points.

HORNSBY LEADS IN HOMERS WITH 13

Cardinal Star Slaps Out Two Circuit Clouts and Pirates Drop Series

PHILS LOSE TO GIANTS While Ruth is going hitless as well as homerless, his rivals are pounding a fast-increasing margin for the King of Clouts to show that he remains his glugging stride.

Hornsby's great second baseman of the St. Louis Nationals, slammed out a brace of homers yesterday, increasing his total to thirteen, and took the lead from his American League fellow townsman, Ken Williams, who has twelve, and "Bing" Miller, of the A's, who is behind with eleven.

Hornsby's two blows, with another by Austin McHenry, overthrew Pittsburgh, 4 to 3, giving the Cardinals the deciding game of the series, although the Pirates out-hit their rivals.

Chicago won a loosely played game from Cincinnati, 8 to 7, after Alexander had been driven from the box. Sensational fielding and timely hitting, especially by Gerber, enabled St. Louis to defeat the White Sox, 4 to 2; while five Cleveland pitchers failed to stop Detroit and Cobles' men won, 7 to 3.

BARRETT PUTS OUT MICKEY IN TRAINING

Redhead's Right Knockout Punch is Evidence in Sparring Bout "DIDN'T MEAN IT," HE SAYS

By LOUIS H. JAFFE BOBBY BARRETT'S knockout punch was in evidence in his training camp yesterday afternoon. The Clifton Heights redhead, who is to meet Lou Tender at the Phillies' Ball Park on Friday night, stowed away Young Mickey, one of his sparring partners, in the second round, and that ended Barrett's boxing for the day.

Hit on Forehead In the second round Mickey continued to direct a vicious fire, especially with his left. He landed a punch which he thought would knock Barrett out. It looked as if Bobby was being shown up.

Three Straight for Germantown The Eastern Germantown team after securing three straight wins are going to "turn down the thumb" of approval to the Philadelphia team who have the line of clean sportsmanship.

BETTER TO LOSE GENTLY than to win by unfair methods. To a few the victory is all important, but the majority of followers of American sports are quick to "turn down the thumb" of approval to the Philadelphia team who have the line of clean sportsmanship.

Tribute to West A Rookie's Success Rooney's Comeback By THE OBSERVER

FOR the second consecutive year the University of California has won the intercollegiate track and field championships. Let us join in giving three long rans for the athletes from the land of sunshine.

California won by 9 1/2 points, and one of its representatives, Jack Merchant, broke the hammer throw record.

Leland Stanford University was third with 26 1/2. The combined score of the two Western colleges is within half a point of the total captured by Princeton, Cornell and Pennsylvania, the three leading teams of this section.

The East shattered two records. Albert Leoney, of Lafayette, set new figures in the 100-yard dash, and Roy Brown, of Dartmouth, leaped to an intercollegiate mark in the high jump.

A ROOKIE, plucked from a minor league club, succeeded Saturday where veterans have failed. Twelve straight games the Phils had lost, and the pitching staff had been so sorely used that there was no one left to hurl.

Kaiser Wilhelm took a chance, a chance forced upon him by necessity. He started Phil Weimer, former West Philadelphia High School youth, and the twenty-one-year-old boy stopped the Dodgers after they had won five in a row.

THE injury to Allen Woodring in the intercollegiate is regrettable. Woodring would have been able to put up a splendid race with Leoney in the furlong. He pulled a tendon in the 100-yard final.

OLD Tom Rooney, Undine veteran, showed enough of his form of yesterday on Saturday to be entered in the Philadelphia Gold Challenge Cup race without further trial.

There was a big time in the auditorium of the William Penn Charter School, Twelfth street below Market, this morning. Cups were presented, students awarded honors and teams were cheered, while a good time was being had by all.
