Independence Hall Fire Call Draws Great Throng

Thousands Rush to Save Historic Relics When Crossed Wires Turn in Automatic Alarm. Just Smoke and Excitement

"Independence Hall is on fire!"—this report spread quickly throughout the city today when an alarm came from the "old State House" at 11:40 o'clock. Crossed wires automatically rang the alarm on the first floor, but no one knew this, and when several engine companies, with bells clanging lustily, started for Independence Hall, a great crowd followed. Several thousand were on the scene in less than five minutes.
