COUNTY'S BUDGET PUT UP TO MAYOR

Research Bureau Says He Should Criticize Spending by Departments

In preparing the city budget the Mayor should revise and criticize the requests of county departments just as much as those departments under his control, the Bureau of Municipal Research said today.

"Every now and then the view is expressed that the Mayor has no control over the county departments; that Council must give those departments what they ask for, and that the Mayor must, or might as well, include in his budget the amounts estimated or requested by those departments," the bureau said.

"Whatever power the county departments may have to spend money in excess of, or contrary to, the appropriations made to them by Council, the Mayor should study, criticize and revise the county requests just as completely as though they came from the city departments under his immediate control. He should battle for what he considers to be in the public interest, irrespective of any mandamus power that may exist.

"He should be the oasis for expenditures in excess of the amounts that merit his approval, and on the shoulders of those who are responsible for such action. This he would contribute greatly toward saving the city money and toward accomplishing some of the most beneficial results attainable through a budget system. He also would be performing a duty which the city charter clearly places on him.

"The budget should be an interesting, informative, illuminating, meaty document. It should be primarily a program and a source of policy to the city's chief executive. In it he should set forth in unmistakable terms his views, criticisms and recommendations as to the city's activities and finances. In it he should give accurate and fairly complete information regarding the financial operations and condition of the city. Above all, it should include, specifically and unequivocally, his recommendations as to the appropriations, expenditures, revenues and borrowings of the city for the succeeding year.

"Furthermore, the budget should be conceived and fashioned for the information of the public, as well as for the guidance of Council. It should be an instrument of publicity at least as much as it is a legislative document. Its form, detail and contents should be thoroughly suited to the needs of both Councilmen and plain, everyday citizens."

LEGLESS BEGGAR FINDS PHILA.'S PURSES SEALED

"Pickings" Here Meager, but He'll Be in City 90 Days, Anyway

John Warren, a legless beggar, was sent to the House of Correction for three months today by Magistrate Reishaw.

Warren rolled into Central Station on a little wheeled platform. When arrested yesterday morning, order receipts found on him showed that in the last three weeks he had sent $251 to his wife in Wilmington, N. C., from this city, Richmond, Va., Washington, Baltimore and Wilmington, Del.

"You're some traveling man, aren't you?" the magistrate asked. Warren smiled and asked business was poor in Philadelphia and he thought he would go to Newark, N. J.

Warren rolled sadly back to the cell-room when told his trip would be delayed ninety days.

BURKE MAY YET FIGHT

May Oppose Pepper for Senate, Running as an Independent

Congressman William J. Burke said today he may make an independent fight for election to the United States Senate next November. Mr. Burke was a candidate for the Republican nomination to the seat formerly held by Senator Pepper, but was defeated by Senator Pepper, who now holds the seat by appointment.

A report that he would try to organize a State labor party to aid his fight for the Senatorship was placed before Mr. Burke today at his farm near Evans City.

"I have been and now am being urged to make an independent fight for the Senate in November," he said. "I have made no decision. I am and always have been a Republican and would like to remain one, but if Senator Pepper and General Astorbury are Republicans I am not sure I am one."

Mr. Burke referred to W. W. Astorbury, also president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, who was regarded as one of Senator Pepper's sponsors for the Senate.

Benjamin Obdyke Believed Drowned in Chesapeake Bay

This is said to be the largest single award yet made by a Woodbury jury. In the accident, which occurred on September 2, 1920, Driver's horse was killed and he received injuries which confined him in the Woodbury hospital.

Hold Employer for Hospital Fees

An employer who takes an employee to a hospital is required to pay the usual hospital charges, according to a decision of the State Compensation Board in Carter versus Keystone Amusement Company, this city. The decision said the board found the claimant was being treated in the Douglas Hospital by the employer who turned over the injured employee as one of the ordinary patients. This involved the employer in the usual hospital charges incident to cases of like nature, the decision continued, and stated that the employer was not liable for any charges in addition to the regular service.

Dr. Lyman P. Powell

To Serve The Public, The Schools And The Colleges

DR. LYMAN P. POWELL is now Director of Cosmopolitan's Educational Department. By accepting this appointment, he has made it possible to extend the scope of the department's activities.

Dr. Powell will continue the service of assisting parents in the selection of a proper school and summer camp for their children. Also, because of his years of experience as an educator, he will be able to give practical advice in the solution of the internal problems which face school and college heads.

In coming to Cosmopolitan, Dr. Powell was influenced by the opportunity of having greater resources for carrying on his work as an independent adviser to educational institutions.

Prior to the world war he was head of the department of business ethics at New York University, and then President of Hobart College. When the United States entered the war, Dr. Powell made a study of the effect of the war on education in this country and in Europe, and was chairman of the Committee of the Association of American Colleges which formally recommended international educational reciprocity.

Dr. Powell considers the plans for this department "the most interesting development in American education."

Among the department's activities is the issuing of a bulletin "Among the Schools and Colleges." It will be sent to educators on request.

Further information regarding Cosmopolitan's Educational Department may be had by addressing Dr. Lyman P. Powell, Cosmopolitan Magazine, 119 West 40th Street, New York, N. Y.
