many as we've been having lately. At 4 o'clock Elizabeth Elliott Miller, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Morris Booth Miller, of 409 South Twenty-second street, will be married to Licutenant attractive wedding, too. ttractive wedding, too.

CINA EARLE has the best-looking Usweater and skirt. The sweater is hait in small checks of light blue and sand color and the skirt is blue homespun, with a large hairline check of sand color. When I saw her wearing it one day lately she had on a small sand-color straw hat with a brown quill on the right side, and she looked awfully well. Gina is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eagar Pardee Earle, of Chestnut Hill, and came out the year before this. year before this, saw Helen Shelton Vetterlein on Walnut street shopping yesterday. She were a black Canton crepe dress, heavwere a black Canton creps dress, neav-ily embroidered in gray, on the skirt, sleeres and waist, and a striking hat of gray straw with a wide brim. Around the crown there was a trimming of jet quares and triangles and things.

THE plans for the June Fete and Dog Show at the Huntingdon Valley Country Club are progressing merrily. From all accounts you will be able to get anything there from a pig to a chased gold vanity case or some fresh chased gold vanity case or some fresh butter and eggs. In case you need a special car to take your purchases home you may get an automobile right at the fair. There will be a cafeteria hot supper ("bot dog"), baby show, dog show, fashion show and everything else you can imagine. Fairy dolls, big black bears, home-made cakes, ponies, old chins, radio messages, ice-cream cones. bears, nome-made china, radio messages, ice-cream cones, pottery for the garden, perfumes, portrait sketches, soap, hat boxes, a grabbag and, last but not least, if you are t totally exhausted by this time, supper and dancing.

The fair at Mrs. Alba Johnson's place at Resement last week was a great sucess, but, of course, the rain did make a difference. Lots of candy, especially, was left over and Mrs. Robert M. Girvin, Jr., has volunteered to take charge of it all, and will hold a sale on Thursof it all, and will hold a sale on Thurs-day at her place on Montgomery aveover the hill from the Johnsons, Mrs. Girvin's small daughter and her friends expect to be the enthusiastic salesladies. I'm afraid if I should undertake a job like that more candy would be eaten than sold. However, I hope the children will be made of sterner auff than that.
