Nancy Wynne Tells of Interesting Weddings Today. She Speaks of Several Garden Parties, One a Debutante Affair-Pretty Dresses Seen at Dances

EVERY Saturday for the last few months has been very busy, but I their cottage at Cape May.

think today will eclipse them all. There will be several important weddings, the June Fete at the Huntingdon Valley Rnowles, of Side Seminole avanua. June Fete at the Huntingdon Valley Country Club, a musical at the Bryn Mawr Polo Grounds for the Seamen's Institute three garden parties and two dances. Now, I ask you? There will also be several out-of-town weddings dances. Now labeled and a several out-of-town weddings of interest to us.

Sarah Harrison and Phil Price will be married at 4 o'clock at the church of the Redeemer, at Bryn Mawr. Sarah made her debut the year before last and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Harrison, a granddaughter of the late Mrs. John B. Large and a great-granddaughter of General George G. Meade. Philip Price is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eli Kirk Price, a nephew of Mrs. J. Willis Martin, and a grandson of the late Mr. Eli Kirk Price, Sr.

Sarah is very sweet and pretty and I know she will make a lovely bride. She is going to wear a dress, of rose point lace which her great-grandmother brought from Russia. It is to at Glen Elm, the Leipers' place at she will wear a girdle of pearls.

Buses will meet the trains to take people to the church. The reception afterward is to be very small, just for the families and a few friends.

A NOTHER bride of today will be farmed by the frances Leiper. Her wedding will also be at 4 o'clock and will take place at Glen Elm, the Leiper's place at Arcola Frances is the daughter of Commander and Mrs. Edwards F. Leiper and is the granddaughter of the late Dr. John Ashhurst. Her fiance is Thomas Ridgway Barker, Jr., the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Ridgway Barker, of Cedarcroft, Gulf Mills.

The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. Elliston J. Perot, of Salem. N. J., where she will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Welliam H. Cookman, of Mrs. William H. Cookm the Rev. Elliston J. Perot, of Salem. N. J., uncle of the bride. It is to be a garden wedding and sounds most attractive. Mary Leiper, Frances' sister, will be the maid of honor and there will be eight bridesmaids.

DARBARA SARGENT and George D W. Grove, Jr., will be married in D W. Grove, Jr., will be married in New Haven today. Barbara is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Lewis Bargent, of New Haven, and a cousin of Weir Sargent, who married Phoebe Downs, the daughter of Mrs. Norton Downs, of Chestnut Hill, and of Robert Fisher, who married Phoebe's younger sister, Atlee Downs. This afternoon there will be another debutante affair, the garden party which Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moss, of Sunny Hill. Bala. will give to introduce their daughter. Anna Moss. Anna is awfully pice, and she will have a large receiving party, a great many of them friends of hers from Miss Irwin's where she went to school. There will be about thirty altogether, I believe. A dinner-dance will follow for them and some radditional guests.

However, the parties are not all for next fall's debutantes, as the girls of this last winter are still very gay, too.

Tonight Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tracy Griswold will give a dance for one of them. Cintra Ellis, and for Babs Rockefeller, who will come out next winter in New York, and last night Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Barklie gave a dance for Dusie McMichael, the Emory McMichaels' daughter. Isn't "Best in City"

Competition is one of the things which helps make the world go 'round. And it's that competitive spirit ingrained in all of us which has made two little girls, in opposite sections of the city, rise up and challenge Mildred Burk, who claims the jacks championship of the city.

Or at least Mildred seems to fee that she would be the champion were she to have the chance to prove it. And here opportunity is knocking at her door and her mamma will not let her

Helen Valerio, of 826 Fitzwater street, rises to declare that if Mildred wants to play with some one, she is the "little girlie who can do it."

Helen is thirteen years old and rather small for her age. She has dark eyes and black hair which shook about her face as she nodded her head up and down when asked if she wanted to play with Mildred.

was marking her knees and making grubby fingers, she began to explain the ins and outs of the all-consuming game of jacks.

She is well versed in her one-ums and two-ums, and even cherry in the basket holds no terrors for her, and she is confident she can hold her own against all others.

Helen doesn't play quite so much as against all others.

Helen doesn't play quite so much as she would like to, because she takes piano and dancing lessons, and then there are school studies. She practices mostly with her seven-year-old sister, Lena, who is a left-handed "jacker."

The second challenge came from eleven-year-old Ruth Altman, of 5408 Webster street. Ruth is a pretty little

The Quat'z' Arts ball, a spectacle which begins at 3 o'clock in the afternoon in the ateliers of the Latin Quarter and continues throughout the night in a wild frenzy, ending in dances and street processions the following moraing, does not defy description, but the facts would hardly permit of publication. To the important of publication. tion. To the imaginative reader it must suffice to say that of more than a thou-sand women who join to this suffice to say that of more than a thou-sand women who join in this Saturnalia two-thirds are nude, which is not an accident, but part of the program. Most of them in the main are wellwomen chosen in a beauty con-

COTTAGE IN MASONIC HOME PROVIDED IN BILLEU WILL

Half of $60,000 Estate Goes to Widow, Residue to Hospital

For the purpose of building a cottage cision does the "pig-in-the-pen" trick, which in English means shooting a jack under the arch formed by the tip of the thumb and the third finger being of Pennsylvania by George A. Bilieu, with all her little heart, she longed to run over to Ruth's.

But mamma doesn't want Mildred to get into any jacks championship contest.
