

Sheriff Singleton, After Visit to Canada, Pitches Phils to Victory and Allows Only Six Hits

PHILS' RUIN CARDS AND ARE ALL SET TO BATTLE REDS TODAY

Louie Handed 14-0 Trimming in Final Game of Set. Cincinnati, After Disastrous Visit to New York, Will Appear in Matinee

By ROBERT W. MAXWELL Sports Editor Evening Public Ledger

HAVING handed the St. Louis Cards a parting sock on the chin in the final game of the set, our Phils are all set to entertain Mr. Pat Moran and his gang of redlegs from Cincinnati today.

This reverse is the first severe one suffered by the Reds in a month. The club has been the sensation of the league, climbing steadily upward after one of the poorest starts ever experienced in that section of the country.

Cincinnati flopped early in the season because of poor pitching. The hurlers could not get started, but Pat Moran kept plugging away, jolled his men along and soon had four hurlers hitting on all cylinders.

Visiting players say that Donahue is one of the best pitchers in the league. The youngster has a peculiar delivery and, with his speed and control, makes the batters hit 'em straight in the air or on the ground.

Eppe Rixey also is said to be a much improved hurler. Big Epp has forgotten all about his change of pace and is depending on his speed and curve ball.

THE four good pitchers and Pat Moran's able leadership are responsible for the success of the Reds thus far. It would not be surprising to see Cincinnati up there battling for the lead before the summer is over.

Started Under a Big Handicap

THE Reds started off under a severe handicap. They lost two of the best players in the major leagues—Heleno Groh and Ed Roush.

A pair of recruits were inserted in the infield. Pinelli at third and Caveny at short. Bohm was shifted to second and Old Jake Daubert remained on first.

Moran also was lucky in getting Harper, the right fielder. This young man is quite a player and is in there to stay. He comes from a small town in Oklahoma and the folks down there are so interested in his work that a local paper gets a private dispatch every night telling what Harper did in the game.

The Phils will have some tough battles with the visitors, because Pat Moran would rather wallop this club than any other. However, if the hometown boys play as well as yesterday they will be hard to trim.

Wilhelm's men looked like a different set of players yesterday. They did everything a championship ball club should do and made the Cards howl for mercy. They won by the score of 14 to 0, which means they made two touchdowns and kicked both goals.

However, their members of the team were on their toes and pulled no punches. Fletcher and Wagner worked homers and were not called out for passing a runner on the base lines.

Branch Rixey used four pitchers and Fournier in the contest. Jacques went in after Donk, North, Bailey and Perica were swept up, and his work was better than all four put together. He had a deceiving delivery consisting of nothing, and the locals couldn't do a thing with him.

THE big feature of yesterday's matinee was the remarkable comeback of our nine. After being trampled on Monday they stepped out and made the Cards look worse than they did.

Revenge Series Starts in New York Today

REVENGE series will start in New York this afternoon when the Pirates collide with the Giants in a four-game series. Last year, near the end of the season, the Pittsburgh athletes were all ready to be measured for their World Series uniforms and Barney Dreyfuss had let out the contracts to build additional seats on Forbes Field.

But McGraw and his merry men had different ideas. They trimmed the league leaders five straight times, creeping up to within striking distance of the top. After that the Pirates folded up and the giants sprinted to the championship and World Series dough.

Today conditions are reversed. The Giants are the heavy favorites in the league and the Pirates are the runner-up. Four games separate the clubs, and all the smokestack players want to do is take all four games of the series. They were talking about it when they were here last week and have not forgotten it.

Our Athletics were rained out of Cleveland yesterday and were all wet when they pulled out for Chicago. They will meet the White Sox today and endeavor to put McGraw's men a couple of notches lower in the percentage column. Last week the Mackians now are in seventh place and only a couple of games out of the cellar.

THEY will have to perk up a bit or move back to the upholstered spot they occupied for seven straight and strenuous seasons.

MORVICH TO FACE 18 IN "SPECIAL"

Home Run Hitters in Games Yesterday

Entries for Kentucky's $50,000 Race for Three-Year-Olds Are Closed

PILLORY AMONG STARTERS

THE entry list for the $50,000 Kentucky Special to be run at Latonia on June 24 has been closed, with nineteen three-year-olds to start.

Benjamin Brock has advised the Kentucky Jockey Club that Morvich will arrive at the Belmont track on Wednesday, June 19.

from the Golden Gate, like Morvich, California bred, are unknown quantities. There is considerable mystery about them.

Desha Breckinridge's Braedabane may be a close contender. He has done everything asked of him.

Pillory, winner of the Preknack and the Belmont, will figure large in the Special. He has shown that he likes a route, and that being restrained in the early stages of the Belmont is considered by horsemen to have been a mistake.

JUNIOR NET PLAY SHOULD BE OPEN

Tilden Shows Need of Expanding National Championship for Rising Generation

TOO MANY BOYS EXCLUDED

By WILLIAM T. TILDEN, 24 World's Tennis Champion

IT SEEMS to me the time has come for the junior tennis championship of the United States to be made an open event. I do not mean that the present system has outlived its usefulness—merely that it is time to expand it in a manner that has proved so valuable in the national doubles championship.

At present the junior and boys' events are open only to the winners of the various tennis center events throughout the country. This means that only a small percentage of the boys who are desirous of playing in the championship are eligible to do so, since there are less than fifty such tennis centers.

Presently the incentive to be gained in building up tennis within the district of each tennis center and has roused healthy rivalry among the boys in those districts. For this reason the system should be retained. But it has not met the conditions fully. There are many more boys of ability that warrant their participating who are keen to play, yet because they have not qualified by winning a tennis center event cannot do so.

The Incentive My idea is to place the tennis-center events on the same level as the sectional doubles championships for men—namely, that the winners, if they are both from the district, shall be sent on to the national championship.

Obviously this system will cost the national association money. It is no small item to pay the expenses of these winners to and from their home town. Some method of gaining this money must be devised. One way that will bring in revenue would be to remove the national secretary's office at present it seems that the amount spent by the office hardly is warranted by the value of the work done, although the splendid efforts of its present officer have done much to bring tennis to the attention of the East. Yet I feel that some of the money spent there could well be expended in providing a real national championship for the boys.

It seems to me that any boy who has any ability and the desire to play in the national championship, whose parents are willing to defray his expenses, if he does not win his sectional championship, should have the right to do so.

If the tennis public of America think as I do on this matter, let them express their views to the delegates of the next annual meeting, so that next year we will see an open junior and boys' tournament an assured thing.

AND THE WORLD WAGS MERRILY ON

SINGLETON HURLS BRILLIANT GAME

Rookie Holds Slugging Cards to Six Hits and Shuts Them Out—A's Idle

BROWNS AGAIN BEAT YANKS

Copyright, 1922, by Public Ledger Company

"WHEN the Phils get the right kind of pitching they aren't going to be the doormats of the National League." A St. Louis scribe who has followed the Cardinals in their turns around the circuit for many years made the above trite remark yesterday afternoon at the conclusion of the getaway game between the Phils and the Cards.

Good pitching is right. Sheriff Singleton, who was not considered good enough at the start of the season, but who was recalled after the breakdown of the staff a week or so ago, handed the Cards a lesson in the National League just six hits and blanked them.

For a rookie hurler to stop the Cardinals as completely as did the Sheriff yesterday is no mean feat. He had the Indian sign on the Mound City aggregation from the start. Two of the six hits, however, were the bludgeon of Hornsby, the hitting star of the League, were of the scratchiest variety. Another in the first was the result of the horsehide colliding with Singleton's stout cranium to left field.

In the first and ninth the Cards had the bases filled, but they proved unequal to denting Singleton's delivery for the necessary seven runs. A double play, in which the hurler played a prominent part, nipped the rally in the opening and in the concluding inning the Cards were left with first on Slottan's torrid grounder to Leslie saved the day.

While Singleton was deceiving the Cards his teammates were giving vent to their anger at the pitcher's feats by handling Willie Donk, who in his last start held the Bostonians to four hits, North, Bailey and Perica as well as hitting as they have given any team this year.

The Damage Sixteen hits, including four doubles, two home runs and the remainder singles, went merrily into the outer garden or out of the gardens altogether. Art Fletcher and Les were the bludgeon riders credited with four-pipe shots. They each scored a pair of their nates on the round trippers. The day was a field day for the Phils, every member of the team getting one or more hits, Fletcher and Leslie checking in with three apiece.

While the Phils were lambasting the Cards the Mackies were collecting for the game preparatory to shipping to Chicago, where they open a four-game series this afternoon with Gleason's aggregation. Ratu halted the get-away with the Indians, who captured two of the three-game series.

Braves on Kampage The Boston Braves may not duplicate their remarkable achievement of 1914, when they fought their way from the cellar to the top, but they are staging a drive reminiscent of that feat and upsetting championship contenders right and left.

Hank Gowdy, the team's only playing survivor of the 1914 outfit, was in a hero's garden yesterday when the Braves defeated the Pirates for the third time in four games, 8 to 5.

The result gave Boston a record of nine victories out of eleven games with the leading three clubs of the league, including three out of four from St. Louis and three straight from the Giants.

The Hubmen also made a clean sweep of four games over the Pirates, with whom they open an important series today. In the other National League game Brooklyn bowed to the prowess of Alexander and the Cubs won 8-3.

Charley Robertson, of the White Sox, came close to duplicating his no-hit feat when he held Boston to two safe hits, the first of which came in the eighth, and won 5-0.

Mauling Slawkey, Murray and O'Doul for sixteen hits and a 13-1 victory, the St. Louis Browns obtained an even break in the series with the Yankees, George Sisler leading the attack with four hits, including two triples.

To Cobb, with two doubles and a single, blazed the way for the Tigers' third triumph in four games with Washington, 5-1, a home run by Harris saving the Senators from a shutout.

LENGLEN RUMORS DISAPPOINT MOLLA

Mrs. Mallory Skeptical Concerning Suzanne's Desire for Match in Wimbledon Tourney

ENGLISHMEN PERTURBED

London, June 14.—The English tennis world is perturbed by the report from Paris that Suzanne Lenglen, for two years the holder of the women's grass-court championship, has been extended to Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, the American woman singles champion, who is coming to England to play the French Open.

Mrs. Mallory is said to have come to Europe especially with the hope of having another match with the French star, and only after Mlle. Lenglen had declared she would play through all the championship rounds. Much has been said in connection with Mrs. Mallory in her present disappointment.

In the Kent tennis championship at Beckenham, Mrs. Mallory has had two comfortable wins in the early rounds. Her next opponent will be Mrs. Peacock, former champion of India, in the fourth round of the singles. Mrs. Peacock recently defeated Miss Eliza-Ryan, of California, and Miss McKane and Mrs. Beamish, two sterling British players.

ANOTHER BOXING CLUB

Open-Air Bouts to Be Staged by Herman Hindin

Another boxing club will enter the local field in the near future. It will be an open-air arena and Herman Hindin, who has connected with the fistic pastime for many years, will be the matchmaker.

"I am in a position to say just what the club will be situated," said Hindin today. "It will be somewhere in North Philadelphia. I will seek no ambitions to put on champions and stars. It is my plan to use good young boxers and my idea will be to develop local talent."

Hindin wants local managers and boxers get in touch with him at 2515 North Myrtlewood street.

BASS LANDS K. O. IN ELIMINATION

Puts Out Coster in Fourth in Tourney to Decide Local Champs

ALLEN GOES THE LIMIT

By LOUIS H. JAFFE

HERE'S the way the first-round elimination for various fistic titles of Philadelphia resulted in the tournament started at the Ice Palace last night:

BANTAMWEIGHTS Benny Bass knocked out Young Coster, fourth, Kansas outstaged Bobby Allen, six rounds.

LIGHTWEIGHTS Eddie Dempsey won from Young Mickey, six rounds. Broderick walloped Joe Phillips, six rounds.

MIDDLEWEIGHTS WALTER WEATHERS won from Miss Edith Letch, six rounds. Devlin outboxed Tommy O'Toole, six rounds.

By far most electrifying of the fistic men who went through the first round was Bass. Benny displayed that he had knockout powers as well as a level head and was a good boxer. Although he dropped Coster in the first round Bass did not go to pieces and bided his while.

For the next two rounds Benny continued to try for a knockout, but did not get rash nor take any chances of letting the Italian southpaw get over a solid slam. Then in the fourth Bass dropped Coster with a straight right to the chin and felled him again when the groggy left showed his gameness by getting up as soon as he could.

Coster, however, made the mistake of not taking a count, and after he had been knocked down the second time he fought with another strain in the arm and he was on the ropes suffering a vicious attack from Bass' both hands, stopping the fight with good judgment in the fifth round.

A surprise occurred in the southpaw scrap between Kansas and Allen when the latter not only was on his feet at the finish, but had gone through a fierce fracas. Kansas, an Allen walloper each other good and plenty and it was only a grandstand rally in the last frame that decided the clog contest.

Mickey was another left-hander who scored with sufficient right-handers to knock out a less hardy boxer. Mickey was in all there trying for a decisive punch when he was stopped by the Italian, who was clearly entitled to the verdict.

Easy for Broderick Broderick had an easy time of it in the other heavyweight contest, winning virtually as he pleased, and he was tough as a Joe Grim Phillips. Patsy hit Joe with everything but his roof; still at the finish Phillips was on his feet.

A pair of boxers, lefts who depend almost entirely on left-hand punching, returned winners in the welterweight contests. Devlin, matching his boxing skill against the fighting and rushing style of O'Toole, was a victor, while a Hinkle sort of upset the dope when he clever left overcame the fort of Walsh.

The next round with six bouts to be decided will be held next Tuesday night.

MADDONA AND CARMAN IN FOUR-CORNERED BRASSARD

Corry and Applehans Other Starters in One-Hour Grind

With Clarence Carman and Vincenzo Maddonna entered in the same race, the annual running of the Brassard at the Vendrome, Point Breeze Park, tomorrow night, more than usual interest is being manifested by the Philadelphia bicycle fans in the one-hour motor-paced grind.

For several years Carman and Maddonna have been great rivals, so much so that following the motor-paced game turn out in droves whenever they start in the same race. Maddonna and Carman had a close race for point score laurels in 1921, with the Italian finally winning out.

Besides Maddonna and Carman there will be two other starters in tomorrow's hour event, Frank Corry, of Australia, and Willie Applehans, of Germany, who will be the other men to answer the shot of Starter Jack Roden's pistol, so that four different countries will be represented.

A one-mile match race that will show young Bobby Walthour in action again will be decided in two out of three heats with Carl Stockholm, of Chicago, as the opposition. Bobby, Jr., made his professional debut here last Thursday night, and he won in straight heats from Tommy Bello, the first heat by more than two lengths.

A Class B professional open and several amateur events, with the first starting at 8:45, will complete the program.

How Does It Strike You?

Barnstorming Rule Local Talent Edith Letch's Game By THE OBSERVER

A NUMBER of years ago an unscrupulous promoter organized a ball club for barnstorming purposes. A few members of the club which won the World Series were signed and the team called "world's champions."

The following winter, major league magnates passed a rule, with the intent of ending such frauds. It was ruled that no member of the pennant-winning club would be permitted to play exhibition games after the regular season had ended.

Last fall, Ruth tested the law and the will of Judge Landis by playing in two exhibition games after an honest promoter on a legitimate basis. He drew a five weeks' suspension and his loss cost the owners of the New York Yankees thousands of dollars in reduced gate receipts.

Second and third place club athletes can participate in exhibition games and yet they share in the receipts of the World Series. In other words a burden is placed on players for winning pennants.

The law discriminates against pennant players and yet the National League owners upheld it at a recent meeting. It is said that the American League magnates will fight the decision of the parent league and the matter will go up to Commissioner Landis for decision.

When he dealt out the suspension to Ruth, Meusel and Piercy, Landis half apologized for the law and it was apparent that he, himself, could not see the justice in it. If the Justice is given the right of decision, it is probable that the rule will be abolished or reworded to permit pennant players to barnstorm provided the trip is sanctioned by the league.

WITHIN two days, Mlle. Lenglen retained three hard-court tennis championships, which isn't bad at all for one handicapped by heart trouble.

Young Making Good With Newark A PRODUCT of the Northeast High School is making good with the Newark International League Club. Young—"Ginger" Young, they call him—is the individual under discussion. He is one of the hopes upon which Bill Clymer is rebuilding his ball club.

Young graduated from Northeast several years ago and more recently received a diploma from Swarthmore College. He has been prominent in collegiate and twilight baseball for many seasons. A tall, rangy youth, Young is built along the lines of a natural first baseman. Besides being an excellent fielder, he is a good hitter and it has been his work with the stick that has made such a favorable impression on Newark fans.

The former Garnet star has averaged two hits per game since joining Clymer's clubbers. Under proper coaching, Young should develop into an exceedingly valuable first baseman. There are other promising youths playing semi-professional baseball in this city and big league scouts would not be wasting time if they visited some of our parks at twilight.

WILLIAMS 15, Hornsby 14, Miller 13! The road is getting rocky for the crowned Court of Clout. The Babe has already admitted that he will not be able to create a new home-run record this year.

Miss Edith Letch Approaches Sister's Form Under proper coaching, Young should develop into an exceedingly valuable first baseman. There are other promising youths playing semi-professional baseball in this city and big league scouts would not be wasting time if they visited some of our parks at twilight.

MISS Edith Letch, sister of the former British golf champion, apparently has improved her game to a considerable extent since she appeared on American links last year. Recently, she carried Miss Joyce Wethered, present champion, to the twentieth hole before submitting to defeat. And in so doing she proved she possesses the spirit of competition so necessary to champions and near champions.

Going to the fifteenth hole, Miss Wethered was two up. She lost the next and when the eighteenth was reached, she needed a half for a win. Miss Edith won and forced the match to extra rounds. On the nineteenth, Miss Letch ran down a four-yard putt, but the titleholder stood the test and sank a putt of equal distance. A missed drive caused Miss Letch's defeat on the twentieth.

Another exhibition of Miss Edith's ability to reach the heights when the tests come, was seen in the Middlesex tourney, when she forced her rival to nineteen holes.

THE Eighth and Walnut Streets have been challenged by the Bootleggers for a ball game. Director Cortelyou, the report goes, will be asked to umpire.

OTTO KNABE GETS GATE men at the ringside. Both are middleweights. Downey bled badly at the nose the last three rounds, and when the fight was over it was feared his nose was broken.

Retains New England Golf Title Newton, Mass., June 14.—Gilbert Nicholls, of Providence, retained his title as champion of the New England Professional Golfers' Association on the Woodland links, with a total of 288 for the four rounds played in two days.

SWIMMING A refreshing shower and a plunge in a large pool of clear clean water makes one fit to withstand the heat of Summer. Open periods for swimming. 100 yards by appointment.

WILBUR GOOD SUCCEEDS PHILADELPHIA AS KANSAS CITY MANAGER Kansas City, June 14.—Failure of the Kansas City baseball team to make a better showing in the American Association pennant race caused the resignation of Otto Knabe, manager, according to an announcement by George Muehlebach, president of the club. Wilbur Good, who has been with the team six years, has been named manager, and began his duties today at Indianapolis. Knabe's home is in Philadelphia.
