MRS. JACK GEARY, JR., is very M attractive. She was Elizabeth Wister, you know. I saw her yes-terday in a most unusual dress. It was light brown jersey and was made with light brown jersey and was made with the long sleeves and yoke in one straight piece. The rest of the dress was accor-dion plaited and was finished with a narrow girdle of the material. With it she wore a small hat of dark brown rough straw braid turned up off the face, with a big pompon on one side. Her mother-in-law and sister-in-law, Mrs. Jack Geary, Sr., and her daughter Bunny are back from Europe now. I hear. They have been abroad traveling before Bunny makes since last year, b
