

Evening Public Ledger

PUBLIC LEDGER COMPANY
JOHN H. K. CURTIS, President
Charles A. Taylor, Secretary
John F. Williams, Treasurer
George F. Goldsmith, David E. Smiley, Directors
DAVID E. SMILEY, Editor
JOHN C. MARTIN, General Business Manager
Published daily at Public Ledger Building, Independence Square, Philadelphia, Pa.

Subscription Terms
The Evening Public Ledger is served to subscribers in Philadelphia and surrounding territory at the rate of twelve cents per week, payable in advance.

Member of the Associated Press
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS is authorized to reproduce in its publications all news dispatches created by the members of this press, and also the local news published herein.

Philadelphia, Thursday, June 15, 1922

MAKING A WAY TO THE BRIDGE

The plan of the Bureau of Surveys for widening the streets leading to the entrance of the new Delaware River Bridge will have to be approved by the City Council before any definite arrangements can be made for carrying it out.

A CONTRAST AT THE HAGUE

A curious trick of irony, which may be deemed fitting by the skeptical, the International Court of Justice will be opened at The Hague today simultaneously with the first session of the committee of experts preliminary to the economic and financial conference representing the belligerents of the inconclusive armistice at Geneva.

ON GRANDMOTHERS

BURSTS Senator McCumber into the news with an astonishing admission. He ventures, in the course of an address on the floor, to suggest that the good old times may not be as they are cracked up to be.

PROHIBITION IS A FICTION: THE UNITED STATES IS WET

And Until We Stop Pretending That It Is Dry Volsteadism Will Be Merely a Sordid Farce

IT is a question whether hypocrisy in some official quarters or the passionate and incurable credulity of dry advocates in others is doing most to give to Volsteadism the aspect of a national catastrophe.

HOLD THE FAIR IN 1927

THE splendor of opportunity contained in the Sesqui-Centennial necessarily sharpens appreciation of the immensity of the task involved in the enterprise.

OLD-TIME POLITICS

They Were Far More Venomous and Bitter Than Those of the Present. Governor Porter's Campaign. He Was Most Vigorously Assailed

By GEORGE NOX MCCAIG
WILLIAM H. KETLER, librarian of the Camden Public Library, taking note of my recent statement about the lack of a complete and accurate history of Pennsylvania, has called my attention to the work by the late Governor Pennypacker.

GOVERNOR DAVID R. PORTER

On the Needs of the Port
The greatest need of the port of Philadelphia, to make it take the rank which it manifestly deserves, is to take the place among American ports to which its commercial and geographical advantages entitle it.

UNFETTERING THE TRAVELER

IT is easily conceivable that the much-simplified passport regulations, announced last week by Secretary Hughes, are welcomed with as great an eagerness by the State Department as by travelers hailing the sprinkling of red tape.

VAST WATER FRONTAGE

"Philadelphia, as a port, has twenty miles of deep-water frontage on the Delaware and fourteen miles of frontage on the Schuylkill, making a total of thirty-four miles deep-water frontage for the port, which is ample for all needs."

NO LIGHTERAGE NECESSARY

"But, besides these commercial and geographical advantages, Philadelphia has an added advantage over its chief competitors in that no lighterage is necessary from freight car to vessel or from vessel to car, as all its piers have direct railway connections."

WHAT DO YOU KNOW?

1. What is wrong with this familiar quotation from the Bible: "Prisoners shall be taken in the land of the living." 2. What State did General Fall represent in Congress before his appointment to the Secretaryship of the Interior? 3. Where is the Brina River? 4. How many lumps has a dromedary? 5. Who was Gay-Lussac? 6. Why were French working girls called grisettes? 7. Who was the founder of the famous rump steels and cutlery works? 8. What is the meaning of the term "mule" applied to cigars? 9. What is a manometer? 10. What is a cotswold?

continued to shout down every woman who appeared as the champion of progressive members of her sex and to insist that woman's place was in the home. That meant much. It meant that four walls should be perpetual barriers in the way of feminine vision and understanding. Grandmothers live longer now than they did in the days upon which Mr. McCumber dreads charmingly and they are not ready to believe that a man of Mr. McCumber's sort is the embodiment of all attainable wisdom. They think and read and write and travel and observe. The moral of all this is simple. Women, too, are returning to normalcy, which has not been theirs for many centuries. They are claiming the right to contribute the grace of their spirits to the business of civilization. They will be in the course of time, as they must have been of old—before history—the real equals of men in all relationships.

PROHIBITION IS A FICTION: THE UNITED STATES IS WET

And Until We Stop Pretending That It Is Dry Volsteadism Will Be Merely a Sordid Farce

IT is a question whether hypocrisy in some official quarters or the passionate and incurable credulity of dry advocates in others is doing most to give to Volsteadism the aspect of a national catastrophe.

HOLD THE FAIR IN 1927

THE splendor of opportunity contained in the Sesqui-Centennial necessarily sharpens appreciation of the immensity of the task involved in the enterprise.

OLD-TIME POLITICS

They Were Far More Venomous and Bitter Than Those of the Present. Governor Porter's Campaign. He Was Most Vigorously Assailed

By GEORGE NOX MCCAIG
WILLIAM H. KETLER, librarian of the Camden Public Library, taking note of my recent statement about the lack of a complete and accurate history of Pennsylvania, has called my attention to the work by the late Governor Pennypacker.

GOVERNOR DAVID R. PORTER

On the Needs of the Port
The greatest need of the port of Philadelphia, to make it take the rank which it manifestly deserves, is to take the place among American ports to which its commercial and geographical advantages entitle it.

UNFETTERING THE TRAVELER

IT is easily conceivable that the much-simplified passport regulations, announced last week by Secretary Hughes, are welcomed with as great an eagerness by the State Department as by travelers hailing the sprinkling of red tape.

VAST WATER FRONTAGE

"Philadelphia, as a port, has twenty miles of deep-water frontage on the Delaware and fourteen miles of frontage on the Schuylkill, making a total of thirty-four miles deep-water frontage for the port, which is ample for all needs."

NO LIGHTERAGE NECESSARY

"But, besides these commercial and geographical advantages, Philadelphia has an added advantage over its chief competitors in that no lighterage is necessary from freight car to vessel or from vessel to car, as all its piers have direct railway connections."

WHAT DO YOU KNOW?

1. What is wrong with this familiar quotation from the Bible: "Prisoners shall be taken in the land of the living." 2. What State did General Fall represent in Congress before his appointment to the Secretaryship of the Interior? 3. Where is the Brina River? 4. How many lumps has a dromedary? 5. Who was Gay-Lussac? 6. Why were French working girls called grisettes? 7. Who was the founder of the famous rump steels and cutlery works? 8. What is the meaning of the term "mule" applied to cigars? 9. What is a manometer? 10. What is a cotswold?

American ships at sea. He has found by costly experience that we must run wet ships or get off the ocean. The moral aspect of the Shipping Board's bars is another matter. The United States Government has entered into a business which it will not permit others to enter, and it sells what it calls poison to people who travel on its ships. It does more than that. It denies to its own people privileges which, by inference, it admits all other people of the world demand for their refreshment and pleasure. How long can the farce continue?

HOLD THE FAIR IN 1927

THE splendor of opportunity contained in the Sesqui-Centennial necessarily sharpens appreciation of the immensity of the task involved in the enterprise.

OLD-TIME POLITICS

They Were Far More Venomous and Bitter Than Those of the Present. Governor Porter's Campaign. He Was Most Vigorously Assailed

By GEORGE NOX MCCAIG
WILLIAM H. KETLER, librarian of the Camden Public Library, taking note of my recent statement about the lack of a complete and accurate history of Pennsylvania, has called my attention to the work by the late Governor Pennypacker.

GOVERNOR DAVID R. PORTER

On the Needs of the Port
The greatest need of the port of Philadelphia, to make it take the rank which it manifestly deserves, is to take the place among American ports to which its commercial and geographical advantages entitle it.

UNFETTERING THE TRAVELER

IT is easily conceivable that the much-simplified passport regulations, announced last week by Secretary Hughes, are welcomed with as great an eagerness by the State Department as by travelers hailing the sprinkling of red tape.

VAST WATER FRONTAGE

"Philadelphia, as a port, has twenty miles of deep-water frontage on the Delaware and fourteen miles of frontage on the Schuylkill, making a total of thirty-four miles deep-water frontage for the port, which is ample for all needs."

NO LIGHTERAGE NECESSARY

"But, besides these commercial and geographical advantages, Philadelphia has an added advantage over its chief competitors in that no lighterage is necessary from freight car to vessel or from vessel to car, as all its piers have direct railway connections."

WHAT DO YOU KNOW?

1. What is wrong with this familiar quotation from the Bible: "Prisoners shall be taken in the land of the living." 2. What State did General Fall represent in Congress before his appointment to the Secretaryship of the Interior? 3. Where is the Brina River? 4. How many lumps has a dromedary? 5. Who was Gay-Lussac? 6. Why were French working girls called grisettes? 7. Who was the founder of the famous rump steels and cutlery works? 8. What is the meaning of the term "mule" applied to cigars? 9. What is a manometer? 10. What is a cotswold?

By GEORGE NOX MCCAIG
WILLIAM H. KETLER, librarian of the Camden Public Library, taking note of my recent statement about the lack of a complete and accurate history of Pennsylvania, has called my attention to the work by the late Governor Pennypacker.

GOVERNOR DAVID R. PORTER

On the Needs of the Port
The greatest need of the port of Philadelphia, to make it take the rank which it manifestly deserves, is to take the place among American ports to which its commercial and geographical advantages entitle it.

UNFETTERING THE TRAVELER

IT is easily conceivable that the much-simplified passport regulations, announced last week by Secretary Hughes, are welcomed with as great an eagerness by the State Department as by travelers hailing the sprinkling of red tape.

VAST WATER FRONTAGE

"Philadelphia, as a port, has twenty miles of deep-water frontage on the Delaware and fourteen miles of frontage on the Schuylkill, making a total of thirty-four miles deep-water frontage for the port, which is ample for all needs."

NO LIGHTERAGE NECESSARY

"But, besides these commercial and geographical advantages, Philadelphia has an added advantage over its chief competitors in that no lighterage is necessary from freight car to vessel or from vessel to car, as all its piers have direct railway connections."

WHAT DO YOU KNOW?

1. What is wrong with this familiar quotation from the Bible: "Prisoners shall be taken in the land of the living." 2. What State did General Fall represent in Congress before his appointment to the Secretaryship of the Interior? 3. Where is the Brina River? 4. How many lumps has a dromedary? 5. Who was Gay-Lussac? 6. Why were French working girls called grisettes? 7. Who was the founder of the famous rump steels and cutlery works? 8. What is the meaning of the term "mule" applied to cigars? 9. What is a manometer? 10. What is a cotswold?

NOW MY IDEA IS THIS! Daily Talks With Thinking Philadelphians on Subjects They Know Best

JOSEPH F. HASKKARL On the Needs of the Port

The greatest need of the port of Philadelphia, to make it take the rank which it manifestly deserves, is to take the place among American ports to which its commercial and geographical advantages entitle it.

VAST WATER FRONTAGE

"Philadelphia, as a port, has twenty miles of deep-water frontage on the Delaware and fourteen miles of frontage on the Schuylkill, making a total of thirty-four miles deep-water frontage for the port, which is ample for all needs."

NO LIGHTERAGE NECESSARY

"But, besides these commercial and geographical advantages, Philadelphia has an added advantage over its chief competitors in that no lighterage is necessary from freight car to vessel or from vessel to car, as all its piers have direct railway connections."

WHAT DO YOU KNOW?

1. What is wrong with this familiar quotation from the Bible: "Prisoners shall be taken in the land of the living." 2. What State did General Fall represent in Congress before his appointment to the Secretaryship of the Interior? 3. Where is the Brina River? 4. How many lumps has a dromedary? 5. Who was Gay-Lussac? 6. Why were French working girls called grisettes? 7. Who was the founder of the famous rump steels and cutlery works? 8. What is the meaning of the term "mule" applied to cigars? 9. What is a manometer? 10. What is a cotswold?

SHORT CUTS

J. Pluvius perhaps forgot it was Flag Day. It is generally admitted that Pennsylvania is becoming a haven for all kinds of craft.

Bonniwell threatens to lead a third party. Yes, but where? Even the poorest golfer manages to make the "bury hole" in one.

Oh, well, we don't have to read the stuff Willie Hohenzollern writes. Dead beats are becoming fewer, say retail credit experts. Happily buried.

All it amounts to is that Mr. Lasker insists it is proper for the sea to be wet. Bonniwell appears to think that what the Democratic Party needs is a wet nose.

In addition to his other virtues, Mr. Edison has proved a gold mine to the paragraphs. Mr. Bryan would probably be most interested in New York's strata if it were a missing lynx.

Mr. Lasker, as we understand it, is willing to consider the wine list as in the nature of a ship subsidy. The President's letter to Chairman Campbell of the House Rules Committee gives indication of a rod in pickle.

Russia's failure to get into the game continues to be due to its insistence on its own rules. So little is expected of the meeting at The Hague that the world may easily get more than it expects.

The seizure of a German steamship bound for Cork by a British warship had a distinct savor of war times. Iowa man's celluloid collar exploded, he says, when he walked into a live wire in his cellar. It may be so. Still—

Lloyd George apparently believes the making trouble for the home Government is the easiest thing a concession hunter does. A joyous thought for the day is that once a certain little matter is attended to you won't have to think about your income tax for another three months.

ANSWERS TO YESTERDAY'S QUIZ

- 1. The Wallons are a mixed folk, Belgians. Their language is a French dialect. 2. The only republic of San Marino is Italy, which was a participant in the World War which declared war only against Austria. 3. Terry was the goddess in Roman mythology who personified the terraces. 4. The character of the tale-bearing is the jinn, a spirit which is supposed to be a demon. 5. A "stint" was originally a dramatic song alternated. The term is also used of opera in which music is substituted for words, especially in dramatic movement. 6. The sextant is used in navigation to determine the position of celestial objects. 7. The Rappahannock River is in Virginia. 8. A parjule is a place where one is to come and go a haunt. 9. A quanche is a small, soft-boiled egg, identified with the land-lubber's "egg".

ANSWERS TO YESTERDAY'S QUIZ

- 1. The Wallons are a mixed folk, Belgians. Their language is a French dialect. 2. The only republic of San Marino is Italy, which was a participant in the World War which declared war only against Austria. 3. Terry was the goddess in Roman mythology who personified the terraces. 4. The character of the tale-bearing is the jinn, a spirit which is supposed to be a demon. 5. A "stint" was originally a dramatic song alternated. The term is also used of opera in which music is substituted for words, especially in dramatic movement. 6. The sextant is used in navigation to determine the position of celestial objects. 7. The Rappahannock River is in Virginia. 8. A parjule is a place where one is to come and go a haunt. 9. A quanche is a small, soft-boiled egg, identified with the land-lubber's "egg".

ANSWERS TO YESTERDAY'S QUIZ

- 1. The Wallons are a mixed folk, Belgians. Their language is a French dialect. 2. The only republic of San Marino is Italy, which was a participant in the World War which declared war only against Austria. 3. Terry was the goddess in Roman mythology who personified the terraces. 4. The character of the tale-bearing is the jinn, a spirit which is supposed to be a demon. 5. A "stint" was originally a dramatic song alternated. The term is also used of opera in which music is substituted for words, especially in dramatic movement. 6. The sextant is used in navigation to determine the position of celestial objects. 7. The Rappahannock River is in Virginia. 8. A parjule is a place where one is to come and go a haunt. 9. A quanche is a small, soft-boiled egg, identified with the land-lubber's "egg".