With the addition of welve of the city's foremost unpires to its ranks starting last Saturday it now has the best staff of arbiters of any buseball PILLORY ALSO ENTERED organization that ever was in existorganization that ever was in exist-ence in these parts. All the premier officials are new working for the Phila-delphia Baseball Association and the fans are assured impartical decisions. Not once this senson has the usual cry been heard about the unpires being "homers." This is a thing of the past "nomers." This is a thing of the past "homers." This is a thing of the past and, as said before, will never have a place with the recognized major teams in Philadelphia. The managers have noted the difference under which the games are played, and if the association were to disband would create some sys. tem whereby they would have assigned umpires. It is the best thing that ever hap-pened for the officials, and they can render decisions without feeling tied down by any manager or club. The
