

Evening Public Ledger

PUBLIC LEDGER COMPANY

CURTIS H. K. CURTIS, President; JOHN C. MARTIN, Vice President and Treasurer; JOHN A. FLYNN, Secretary; CHARLES H. LADD, Editor; PHILIP S. COLLINS, John B. Williams, John J. Ferguson, George P. Goldsmith, David E. Smiley, Directors.

Published daily at Printing Press Building, Independence Square, Philadelphia. Telephone 442. Second-class postage paid at Philadelphia, Pa., July 1, 1922.

Subscription prices: In Advance, $10.00 per annum; In Advance, $5.00 per six months; In Advance, $2.50 per three months.

Member of the Associated Press

Member of the Associated Press. This association is exclusively for the purpose of procuring news for its members and is not otherwise entitled to the use of its name or the name of any of its members in any advertisement or other publication.

PRESIDENTIAL FORESIGHT

MR. HARDING'S holiday—so called—combines in a way graciously and pleasantly American an appreciation of both the formally stately and the intimately appealing significances of Independence Day.

TWO CHILDREN IN COURT

THE two children of foreign-born parents who were arraigned before the Board of Education's Committee on Discipline and threatened—seriously or not—with incarceration in an "institution" might fight their future reputations because their parents didn't see fit to pay for two broken school windows, deserve a little more than passing attention.

MOVIES AND MONOPOLY

ASUIT just entered by Fred G. Nixon-Ridinger and Thomas M. Love, movie picture exhibitors and distributors, against a number of concerns engaged in the distribution of films, is intended to prove that the movies are controlled by a trust.

SUMMER COLLEGE

THE summer school at the University of Pennsylvania is now well past the experimental stage. The six weeks' sessions, which will last from July 10 to August 19, will be devoted to studies in a wide variety of subjects.

DISTURBERS OF THE PEACE

NEWSPAPERS in Mexico charge flatly that Bruce Bielski, the American who was reported to be in the hands of bandits who demanded a ransom for his release, deliberately arranged his own kidnapping for reasons not yet clearly explained.

napings no longer greatly interest them. And a good many men of the sort who get themselves kidnapped would be required to have anything like "invasion sentiment" in the United States.

A FOURTH OF JULY NEEDED FOR INDUSTRIAL DEMOCRACY

Foundations are Now Laying for a Declaration That Will Free Labor and Capital and Benefit Every One

THERE is not a civilized country anywhere in the world today the citizens of which would deny the truth of the fundamental principle laid down in the declaration adopted in the old State House in Chestnut street 146 years ago.

THE SHOP STRIKE

SHOPMEN in the railroad operating system do the repair work and the overhauling that is constantly necessary to keep rolling equipment in motion.

WILFRED JORDAN

On Philadelphia's Patriotic Shrines

ALL the cities of the American Commonwealth, Philadelphia is easily the first in the number and the importance of the patriotic shrines which it contains.

THE GREAT TEACHER

THE greatest teacher that I knew—and she was a woman by the way—had a theory which she practiced up to the hilt: that if you were a Christian it was your duty to God and man to be superlatively laudable and therefore to stand on the ground of "letting your light shine so that all men may see it."

THIS WAS COME RATHER TO A HEAD

I HAD not only because of the long line of aloof spider-like females I saw flit past my pew at the college graduation, but because a friend of mine read me her letter of resignation from her job as a teacher.

THE AMERICAN WAY

PULLMAN-CAR civilization has been a distinguishing feature of American frontier development. Railway coaches, for all their defects apparent in a closely woven social fabric, were by far the most comfortable hostels of the West in the days before the great American desert was removed to the realm of imagination.

AS ONE WOMAN SEES IT There Are Drill Mistresses In Some Women's Colleges Where They Should Be Personalliter That Are Torches to Light the Way

By SARAH D. LOWRIE

I SAW a line of teachers at a college commencement in June, that strung out single file, would have been as long as the Walnut Street Bridge. They were most of them women teachers, or it was a woman's college, one of the largest and most notable of the Eastern ones.

SHORT CUTS

They're railing now instead of rail-roading. Something doing in copper. The Government is selling stiffs. Everybody wishes old General Humdum would take a vacation.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW?

QUIZ

- 1. By how many persons was the Declaration of Independence signed? 2. What is the patron saint of Paris? 3. Who is the inventor of the automobile? 4. What is a rigadoun? 5. What is the correct pronunciation of samac? 6. What is tarlatan? 7. What is a gangaroo and from what is the word derived? 8. Who was the wife of Ananias? 9. What is the Salic law? 10. What is the name of the path described by a projectile?

ANSWERS TO SATURDAY'S QUIZ

- 1. George Washington was not one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. 2. The patron saint of Paris is St. Denis. 3. The inventor of the automobile is Karl Benz. 4. A rigadoun is a type of hat. 5. Samac is a type of fabric. 6. Tarlatan is a type of fabric. 7. A gangaroo is a type of kangaroo. 8. The wife of Ananias was Sapphira. 9. The Salic law is a law of inheritance. 10. The path described by a projectile is a parabola.

her of others. In fact, almost every foot of the older portion of the city has some place of interest to the patriotic American.

IN THE FIELD OF FINANCE

"In finance and its related fields Philadelphia has long and brilliant record, for here in 1780 Robert Morris was granted the charter for the first incorporated bank in the country, and ten years later the first stock exchange in the United States was established here.

TODAY'S ANNIVERSARIES

1608—Quebec was founded by the French explorer Champlain. 1740—Henry Grattan, celebrated Irish statesman and orator, born in Dublin. Died in London May 14, 1820. 1763—Inhabitants of Detroit gathered to hear the articles of peace between France and England. 1801—U. S. Grant left Springfield for the front as colonel of the Twenty-first Illinois Infantry. 1804—Strikers blocked the operation of all railroads from Chicago to St. Louis. 1818—Benjamin R. Tillman, Governor of South Carolina and United States Senator, died in Washington, D. C. Born in Edgefield County, S. C., August 11, 1847. 1819—"Common Sense" rejected the bill to extend prohibition one year after peace.

her of others. In fact, almost every foot of the older portion of the city has some place of interest to the patriotic American.

THE GREAT TEACHER

THE greatest teacher that I knew—and she was a woman by the way—had a theory which she practiced up to the hilt: that if you were a Christian it was your duty to God and man to be superlatively laudable and therefore to stand on the ground of "letting your light shine so that all men may see it."

THIS WAS COME RATHER TO A HEAD

I HAD not only because of the long line of aloof spider-like females I saw flit past my pew at the college graduation, but because a friend of mine read me her letter of resignation from her job as a teacher.

THE AMERICAN WAY

PULLMAN-CAR civilization has been a distinguishing feature of American frontier development. Railway coaches, for all their defects apparent in a closely woven social fabric, were by far the most comfortable hostels of the West in the days before the great American desert was removed to the realm of imagination.

U.S. P. R. LABOR BOARD EFFORTS

WILFRED JORDAN

On Philadelphia's Patriotic Shrines

ALL the cities of the American Commonwealth, Philadelphia is easily the first in the number and the importance of the patriotic shrines which it contains.

THE GREAT TEACHER

THE greatest teacher that I knew—and she was a woman by the way—had a theory which she practiced up to the hilt: that if you were a Christian it was your duty to God and man to be superlatively laudable and therefore to stand on the ground of "letting your light shine so that all men may see it."

THIS WAS COME RATHER TO A HEAD

I HAD not only because of the long line of aloof spider-like females I saw flit past my pew at the college graduation, but because a friend of mine read me her letter of resignation from her job as a teacher.

THE AMERICAN WAY

PULLMAN-CAR civilization has been a distinguishing feature of American frontier development. Railway coaches, for all their defects apparent in a closely woven social fabric, were by far the most comfortable hostels of the West in the days before the great American desert was removed to the realm of imagination.