That Little Brown Streamlet Through the Forest

at Bedford, Pa., or up in the beautiful White Mountains, is always full of clear, pure, drinkable water so long as it keeps running on. But if some filthy stream overflows into it, or a fall of foul mud clogs it, it chokes and loses its purity and at intervals stops running.

The running stream fully and fairly pictures this Store. We are only human, but we watch to avoid being clogged with stagnant or overpriced stocks, and the large sales of each day compel us the next day to bring in a full supply of newest goods to keep the stream fresh.

Every one seems to be wearing them, every fashion picture shows the best-dressed society in the daintily designed stockings, while all the women coming home from a tour abroad talk of nothing else.

The first have come for the women who haven't been to Paris. Thin, sheer, fine gauge Gossamer silk stockings in black or white.
