FATAL BROAD ST. CRASH LAID TO SAWED TIMBER

Weakened Shoring in Old Parkway Building Snapped Under Strain, Say Workmen

THREE INVESTIGATIONS ON; INSPECTOR BLAMES LABORER

Wagonloads of Police Called Out to Protect Curious Crowds From Threatening Walls

Sawing through of a heavy timber by workmen on the tenth floor of the old "hoodoo" Parkway Building, under reconstruction, pulled the trigger that caused the green wall to collapse, killing two men and injuring twenty-five in the Broad and Cherry streets disaster yesterday afternoon.

This evidence, it is believed, will be developed at the three investigations begun this morning into the worst building crash of recent years in Philadelphia.

The witness who tells of the snapping of the timber, after it was nearly out through, and of the succeeding plunges of great V-shaped masses of brickwork is Martin Carlson, 3122 Chestnut street, Camden, a plasterer.

His evidence will be sustained by Nathan Wood, foreman of the bricklayers in charge of the two-story addition to the building which was left such a wake of disaster and ruin since its original construction twenty-seven years ago.

There is a rumor that three bodies remain buried in the debris which has fallen in a great heap, of many tons weight, behind the building occupied temporarily by the Sweeten Automobile Company, adjoining the Parkway Building.

A gang of a dozen laborers worked steadily on the heap of debris today searching for possible other victims of the crash. It is difficult to get men to do this work, as the great pile of rubbish lies in the shadow of the bulging section of falling. Ropes stretched across the face of the brickwork hold it in place. Crowds are passing as near to the building as they are allowed, to watch the workmen.

Three inquiries begun. The three inquiries which will bring out all the salient facts respecting the crash are being directed by Coroner Knight, who is probing into the legal phases and responsibility for the deaths of Irwin & Leighton, contractors in charge of the $1,100,000 alterations job, and by Edwin Clark, chief of the Bureau of Building Inspection.

Coroner's Detective Paul was busy setting together a special Coroner's jury of six men to hold the inquest. It is planned to get six of the most prominent builders and engineers in the city to serve on the jury.

Morris Brooks, deputy chief of the Bureau of Building Inspection, who is in charge of the investigation, is expected to report on the crash.

WARBURTON DEFIES COUNCIL ON BEACH

Only Court Order Can End Control of League Island Pool, He Says

Public Welfare Director Warburton virtually defied Council today over the bathing bench at League Island Park and said only a court order could take jurisdiction of the bench away from his department.

Council yesterday transferred control of the park and beach from the Bureau of City Property to the Park Commission. The Public Welfare Department had been looking after the bathing beach, a favorite with South Philadelphians.

"That bathing bench at League Island Park was turned over to my department and I would like to see anybody take it from me," said the Director. "There is only one place they can do it and that is in the courts."

"The city has guards on the city property, but they can't move it to another site."

"Why, it's ridiculous to think of the Park Commission taking League Island bathing bench. The Department of Public Works' pumping station pumps 1,000,000 gallons of water into the two swimming pools every day and purifies it by chlorine. How can they do without that water?"

"I know why Council wants to turn over the park to the Park Commission. It is because members of Council want to give out appointments of additional men to be employed there. Personally, I am not interested in politics. When the Council members want the highest man on the eligible list."

Major Thomas S. Martin, secretary of the Park Commission, said today no effort has been made yet to take over control of League Island Park. The commission will wait until it receives a copy of the ordinance, he said.

Escape With Tires and $8 From Shop at 810 Reed Street

Blackjacked and tied in the rear of a garage at 800-10 Reed street by two men, a child was found dead, suspended from a post, with a piece of heavy twine about her neck this morning at her home, 2127 South Fourth street.

She was found by her daughter Frances, nineteen years old, when she went to her room to wake her.

In the same bed to which she was hanging two of her children, Benjamin, thirteen, and Sarah, nine, were sleeping.

She conducted a grocery store at her home and was despondent over poor health.

ARREST WOMAN IN BRUNEN CASE

Mary Miles Miller, Friend of Harry Mohr, Being Brought From West Virginia

REVIVES REPORTS SHE WAS IN HOUSE NIGHT OF SLAYING

Burlington County Authorities Said to Have Long Wanted to Quiz Her

Mary Miles Miller, a friend of Harry C. Mohr, has been arrested in Parkersburg, W. Va., in connection with the murder of John T. Brunen, and is being brought East.

The arrest is the fourth following the slaying of "Honest John" Brunen, showman, at his Riverside, N. J., home, on the night of March 10.

Mrs. Dovie Brunen, widow of the murdered man; Mohr, her brother, and Charles M. Powell, a former concessionaire with the Brunen shows, are now in the Mt. Holly jail, charged with murder.

Mary Miles Miller, also known as Mary Minter and Mary Miller, was taken on a train early this morning for Parkersburg and is expected to reach Philadelphia early tomorrow morning.

Want to Quiz Her

Detective Parker, of Burlington County, has wanted to question the woman who was intimate with Mrs. Brunen. Mrs. Miller's arrest revives reports that another woman, besides Mrs. Brunen, was in the Riverside house when a shotgun charge ripped away part of the showman's head.

The presence of a second woman there has been denied by Powell, who, according to the Burlington County authorities, confessed that he fired the charge through the window.

Mrs. Miller was with a carnival company that she was picked up last night in the little West Virginia town. She is said to have been married to Guy Miller, of St. Louis, whom she afterward deserted for Mohr.

Detective Parker this morning said that while he had received no word of the woman's arrest, yet he supposed that West Virginia officers were bringing her to New Jersey.

"She may have talked and have thrown some more light on the murder," he said.

It was in a Camden apartment shared by Mohr and Mrs. Miller that Mohr urged Powell to slay Brunen, according to the confession attributed to Powell.

Judge Scores Parker

An effort was made yesterday before Supreme Court Justice Kailach to win freedom for Mohr and Mrs. Brunen. It did not succeed, but the justice scolded the Burlington County authorities for refusing to allow their attorney to visit them in jail.

Walter S. Keown, counsel for Mrs. Brunen and Mohr, disclosed today that he visited his clients in the Mount Holly jail yesterday afternoon. He talked to each about an hour.

"Mohr only has heard scraps of the confession," said Keown, who was made by Powell. "Mr. Keown said, 'But he said what he had heard was ridiculous. Mohr has an absolute alibi and can prove conclusively he was not in Riverside after 5:05 P. M. the day of the murder.'"

ATTEMPTS LIFE OF MILLERAND

Anarchist Fires at Prefect of Police, Mistaking Him for French President

CAPTURED AND BEATEN, HE DENIES INTENT TO KILL

Paris, July 14.—Three shots were fired today at Prefect of Police Naudin by a man in the Rue de Valenciennes street, in the belief that he was President Millerand at whom he was aiming. None of the shots took effect.

The shots were fired while the Bastille Day parade was passing along the Champs Elysees at the corner of the Avenue Marigny. The assailant shot from behind a woman and the fire scorched her dress.

Bouvet has been active in communistic and anarchistic circles. He formerly was secretary of an extremist society and was sentenced to a year in prison for circulating anarchistic propaganda and instigating violence.

Riding in Procession

The attack took place as President Millerand and the prefect were riding in the procession homeward from Longchamp, where a military review was held this forenoon in celebration of Bastille Day.

M. Naudin was in the automobile with the prefect. He was riding in a carriage of state. His men immediately started in pursuit of Bouvet.

BOY SAYS HE IS FORGER

"I'm Broke, Hungry and a Thief," He Tells Detectives

A nineteen-year-old boy who says he is Harry Segal, 42 Theodore street, Dorchester, Mass., walked into the Detective Bureau in City Hall early today and told Detective Bischoff he was wanted in his home town for forgery.

"I'm broke, hungry and a thief," Segal announced in a dramatic manner. He said he had forged several checks on his father's bank.

Police were unable to find papers against Segal's arrest, but held him until they could get in touch with officials of Dorchester.

Shop Chief Hints at End of Strike in 48 Hours

St. Paul, July 14.—(By A. P.)—Prospects for an early settlement of the national strike of shopmen on a basis of the negotiations here between union leaders and representatives of railroads centering in the Twin Cities and the Northwest were very good today, in the opinion of union men and railroad executives.

Confidence that the end of the strike is near was expressed by R. A. Henning, chairman of the Federated Shop Craft of the Northwest district. Mr. Henning said that "it is entirely possible that the strike will be settled on a national basis in Chicago within the next forty-eight hours."

Washington, July 14.—President Harding was described by White House callers today as quite hopeful over the rail strike situation and confident that Ben W. Hooper, chairman of the Railroad Labor Board, would be able soon to work out a solution satisfactory to all concerned.

Senator Lodge, Republican Senate leader, one of the visitors, said he had assured the President that his course with respect to the strike had the support of the greater portion of the population of New England.

President Harding and his advisers again today devoted a Cabinet session to the rail and coal strikes. Postmaster General Work had reports on the mail situation. Attorney General Daugherty had a hundred telegrams, the nature of which he would not disclose. Secretaries Hoover and Davis have ready the latest information on the Government's proposal for arbitration of the coal strike. Secretary Weeks was prepared to discuss action to maintain interstate commerce and transportation, the main matter.

Secretary Weeks said he had received no advices from C. E. Schaff, receiver for the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railroad, who was advised late yesterday by the Government to make another request of Governor Neff, of Texas, for protection by State troops of the carrier's property.

E. P. Noonan, president of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, declared upon his arrival from Chicago that calling out of the Federal troops to cope with the railroads was the last resort of the Government in its efforts to deal with the situation. Many union workers throughout the country, he said, are ready to assist with the rail systems, if forced to work under military protection.

Mr. Noonan charged that some of the strikers were using force.

RUSSIANS MAY YET SAVE HAGUE PARLEY

New Instructions to Krassin Said to Offer Big Concessions

London, July 14.—(By A. P.)—New instructions have been forwarded by the Soviet Government to Leonid Krassin, the Russian delegate at the Hague Conference which may prevent a definite break in the negotiations, says an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen, quoting a source in the Russian capital.

The Hague, July 14.—(By A. P.)—No further joint meetings with the Russians will be held by the conferees on Russian affairs here unless the Soviet representatives make known a desire to submit new proposals. It was decided this afternoon. The non-Russian representatives will continue their meetings and they plan to hold a plenary session to adjourn the conference, probably next Wednesday.

Mrs. Gould Wept for Joy on Marriage in Lakewood

Bride, in Tears, Kissed by All Three Witnesses After Ceremony in Home of Judge Harry Newman

George J. Gould and his beautiful bride, Mrs. Alice Sinclair, friend of the national strike of shopmen on a basis of the negotiations here between union leaders and representatives of railroads centering in the Twin Cities and the Northwest were very good today, in the opinion of union men and railroad executives.

The ceremony was performed by Judge Harry Newman, of 227 River avenue, Lakewood, at his home. Judge Newman is the presiding judge of the Ocean County Court of Common Pleas to which he had been appointed by Governor Edwards on April 1.

"It was my first wedding ceremony in office," said the Judge today, "and I was a bit nervous. I guess."

Judge Newman gave freely all the details of the wedding.

The bride came with the bridegroom in a motorcar at 10 o'clock in the morning. She was attired in a traveling gown and hat and coat. The house was a bower of flowers prepared by Judge and Mrs. Newman. The witnesses were waiting when the bridal pair arrived.

Aix-Les-Bains, France, July 14.—The mystery in the marriage of George J. Gould and Alice Sinclair lies in nothing deeper than the desire of the couple to have a quiet ceremony and a peaceful honeymoon.

When a correspondent called at the Hotel Splendide here, where the Goulds are stopping, he found that Mr. Gould was "indisposed" and unable to see visitors.

His friends, however, state that his indisposition is slight and merely the result of a cold caught while out walking with Mrs. Gould.

Their marriage at Lakewood was planned some time before it took place, but was postponed until all arrangements could be made for their trip to Europe together. They sailed together and after a short stay in London passed through Paris at the end of last week. There they stayed at the Hotel Meurice and motored down here last week-end, stopping one night at Fontainebleau on the way. They intend to spend most of the summer and the early autumn in Europe and to return to Lakewood before the winter.

Mrs. Gould is a prepossessing woman of about thirty and the two had been last week. There they stayed at the Hotel Meurice and motored down here last week-end, stopping one night at Fontainebleau on the way. They intend to spend most of the summer and the early autumn in Europe and to return to Lakewood before the winter.

A pastel of the newly wedded Mrs. Gould, by the celebrated Hungarian painter, Arthur L. Halma, was exhibited last week at the Reithart Gallery.

Mr. Halma is now in Europe. His exhibition lasted more than two weeks here, and was attended by many hundreds of persons who stopped to look at the pastel portrait of the auburn-haired young woman, with the double string of beautiful pearls.

Among places the press says Mr. Gould is expected to have frequented in his city is the St. Nicholas Skating Rink. Mrs. Gould was an expert skater, and was often seen at the St. Nicholas Rink, where her grace and expertness were noted.

HARDING'S PLAN IS REJECTED BY MINERS' CHIEFS

Lewis and Others Decide to Recommend Refusal of Arbitration Proposal

WANTED BITUMINOUS AREA ALSO INCLUDED

Opposed Placing Check-Off and Fixed Working Rules Again Under Discussion

OPERATORS ARE DIVIDED

Soft Coal Owners Hesitate, While Anthracite Men Accept Offer With Conditions

Washington, July 14.—It became definitely known today that John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, and other national officers of the union who have been negotiating with the Government since President Harding offered arbitration to settle the coal strike, are preparing to recommend to their associates in the union control that the Government's plan be rejected.

The decision was made today after Mr. Lewis and the union national officials who had again consulted with officials concerned at the Department of Labor.

Scope Not Wide Enough

Ever since the President's offer of arbitration was laid before the union leaders gathered in Washington the effort has been made by them to get definite assurances from the Government that the arbitration would be applied to all the bituminous area which is included parts of West Virginia and Pennsylvania where coal is still being mined and, although Mr. Lewis and the district president of the United Mine Workers refused to give the union's answer to the President's proposal until the general policy committee of the mine workers and its entire membership of 120 could be assembled, demand was made to the President through Secretary Davis that some assurance be given that the semi-union and non-union fields where the strike has made some progress be included.

A second request made to the President was that working conditions under the previous wage contracts, including the "check-off" system of collecting union dues, will not be included in the arbitration.

While no announcement has been forthcoming officially, the union men were definite today in asserting that the responses they had received today were unsatisfactory.

Soft Coal Men Object

The bituminous operators likewise have presented protests to the President and his entire cabinet, based largely upon the continuance of wage scales of 1920-22 during the period arbitration is in progress.

There were intimations today that one group of Pennsylvania operators would flatly refuse to accept the proposal in general and indications that other bituminous operators would attempt to insist upon modifications.

Anthracite employers have accepted the President's proposals virtually without condition, though pointing out that their market position is very different from that of the bituminous operators and that they are without intermittency in operation, and without great diversification and distribution of mines.

Remanded to Penitentiary Until Court Passes on Right to Freedom

Samuel Goldstein was remanded to the Eastern Penitentiary by Judge Miller at Norrisstown today, to be confined until the Court has time to consider the question whether he is being illegally detained. He was sentenced to two to four years in September, 1918, by President Judge Swartz, in Norrisstown, for larceny of an automobile at Willow Grove. Goldstein's attorney declared that the maximum jail sentence for larceny is three years.

Judge Miller pointed out that Goldstein had also been convicted of receiving stolen goods, upon which charge sentence had been suspended, and observed that he presumed Judge Swartz had taken it into consideration of other prior offenses, five of which he cited.
