

EYES OF DAUGHTER BLOT SINGER'S HOPE

U. S. Entry at Gloucester

LONG FIGHT TO QUIT RUSSIA

After a struggle that lasted years, David Yakovlevitch Skvinsky, Russian opera singer, won his way out of Russia and arrived in Philadelphia on the steamship Haverford only to find that he may have to go back again because his seventeen-year-old daughter, Zina, will not be permitted to land.

The girl is being held at the Gloucester Immigration Station because medical examiners there say she has a dangerous and contagious disease of the eyes.

Skvinsky had dreams of continuing a formerly successful career in America and endured many hardships in his efforts to reach the United States. He brought his daughter with him as an accompanist.

Officials at the immigration station say she will not be permitted to land and probably will be returned to Russia. In that case it is likely that her father, who was allowed to land, will return with her.

Skvinsky is no mediocre opera singer, as is evidenced by his record here when he visited America on one former occasion. In his four thirteen years ago he sang in this city under the direction of Oscar Hammerstein, and later in the old Manhattan Opera House in New York City.

SINGER'S DAUGHTER BARRED U. S.

Zina Skvinsky (left), accompanist for her father, David Yakovlevitch Skvinsky, noted Russian opera singer, is declared by medical examiners to have a dangerous disease of the eyes, and will probably be sent back to Russia. She was snapped in detention at the Gloucester immigration station as she greeted a friend, who is an American citizen.

CHILD, 4, DIES FIVE WEEKS AFTER SUFFERING BURNS

Complications Set In After Girl Apparently Had Recovered

Three weeks ago today little Gertrude Szamborski, four-year-old daughter of Michael and Annie Szamborski, returned to her home at 1110 West Girard avenue, apparently recovered from the burns she had received two weeks before, when playing with matches.

And the mother, who had prayed incessantly for the child's recovery, was overjoyed.

But today Gertrude died. Her frail constitution was unable to withstand the complications that set in several days ago.

June 13 the child was playing with matches in the kitchen of her home when her dress caught fire. She was taken to the Children's Hospital, where for many days physicians despaired of her life. Then finally she appeared to recover, and after urgent pleadings was allowed to return home. A few days ago she became ill.

They will live outdoors and sleep in tents and for the ten days of their vacation do all the things in the woods and on the water that normal boys delight in. There will be sports in plenty, and all the food that appetites made by outdoor play demand.

Dona Howe, a Y. M. C. A. secretary at the University, is in charge of the camp, which is conducted by the University Settlement House.

SUSPECTS IN LIQUOR THEFT CAPTURED AT WILDWOOD

A. Morrowitz and W. J. Thompson, of Phila., Wanted in Bethlehem

Abraham Morrowitz, 1936 South Fourth street, and Walter J. Thompson, 500 South Fifth street, were arrested today in Wildwood, N. J., as suspects in the theft of $13,000 worth of whisky in Bethlehem four months ago. They were living in a hotel under assumed names and were registered as from Paterson.

According to City Detective Jacob H. Gomborow, these two men were directly responsible for the theft of thirteen barrels of whisky from Joseph Moran, 232 South Third street, Bethlehem, on March 10 last. Detectives Gomborow and Gold, who investigated the case here, arrested Mrs. Mary Hagen, Eighth street near Pine, and J. T. Bradley, keeper of a saloon at Eighth and Lombard streets. The Grand Jury acts upon their case today.

Morrowitz and Thompson were implicated in the robbery, the detectives state, through a confession of Charles Masters, 2037 North Cleveland avenue, driver of the truck which hauled the liquor out of Bethlehem. The police have been looking for them for the last four months.

Sergeant Rodney Shaver, State trooper stationed at Norristown, and Detective Gomborow proceeded today to Wildwood to get the alleged liquor thieves. Morrowitz is notorious here as a petty thief, recently serving a term for pilfering clothes.

POLICE SEARCH FOR GIRL, 16, MISSING THREE WEEKS

Worry Over Disappearance Causes Serious Illness of Mother

Worry over the disappearance of her sixteen-year-old daughter more than three weeks ago has caused the serious illness of Mrs. Mary Kveles, 1927 Mount Vernon street, and the family today appealed to the police to help find her.

The girl, Ruth, left home on June 24, and her parents have not heard from her since. She left no hint of why she left or where she intended to go. Meanwhile the mother looked for her return without asking the aid of the police.

The anxiety finally caused a breakdown in her health, and her condition now is regarded as critical.

CRASH VICTIMS RECOVERING

None of Those Injured in Parkway Building Will Die

All of the seven victims of the collapse of the Parkway Building last Thursday who were kept in Hahnemann Hospital are on the way to recovery. Even those who were seriously injured and who have been operated upon, in the opinions of the doctors, will get well. Several have been discharged.

Patrick McGovern, whose collarbone was fractured, was released on Saturday, and told the doctors he was going back to work on Monday. "I'm not afraid of their old hoodlums," he said, "and no Irishman worthy of the name should be."

George Williams and James Wallace, both colored, have been sent home and ordered to report for treatment. They both have broken arms. There are only four men remaining at the hospital. They are Hans Martinson, Edward Meina and Frank Cedargreen, all of whom have been operated on to remove clots on the brain caused by fracture of their skulls, and Isaac Linsett, who sustained a broken arm and other minor injuries.
