Tomorrow Is Another Glorious Last Day for a Glorious Week at Wanamaker's

A Constant Growing Commodiousness of Roominess and Convenience

A retailer's shop? Yes! and much more!
In its earliest days a score of little dwellings and one big high school building. Later a depot to load cars with freight hauled away by long trains of horses and mules—an odd sight on Market Street, it used to be.
The destruction of all the old properties began, after fourteen years "down street," in 1875, gradually dispensing with connections of old up and down buildings, cellars, staircases, low ceilings, until at the last we came to the erection of one clean and clear new, well-ventilated, safe, strong, healthful house for people to work in, visit with freedom, and enjoy picture galleries, schools, music, as much as they like, bringing their friends with them.
Architecturally the big, new building is inspiring.

[Signed] John Wanamaker
July 20, 1922.

If You Are All Wrong It's All Your Fault—

You're sweltering away every day and wilting collars into rags and haven't the energy to put a decent effort into business.
You're becoming a regular tiger and other people can't go near you with safety, and all the time this is happening you're all couped up in a heavy woolen suit wondering why the heat is "getting you" while Wanamaker's is full of

TROPICAL SUITS

That make a man feel like Spring-time.

It's a fact, if you haven't worn a tropical suit you have a lot to learn about comfort.

And style, too, for a good tropical suit is as fashionable and smart as any suit could be.

But it's essential for a tropical to be tailored to a "T" if it is going to "stay looking good."

Wanamaker tropical suits are tailored as well as the other good Wanamaker clothes.

Palm Beaches, $18 and $20. Mohairs, $20 to $25. Tropical worsteds, $25 to $32.

It's a Mighty Big Thing to Get a Shirt of Imported Madras for $2

Especially when it is a soft, fine light madras and in enough patterns to have several to please every man.

A half a dozen can be wrapped up in no time.
(Main Floor)

A Necktie at $1—And Men Like Every One of Them

Regimental stripes, smaller stripes, plain colors, figured effects. In a word, ties of all kinds and any one for a dollar.
The silks are good and heavy, the colors are smart, but not at all gaudy, and the selection is all that a necktie selection could be.
(Main Floor)

A Brogue With a Straight, Soft Tip Is Fashionable—$6.40

Reasonable, too, most men think when they hear the price.
Tan, of course, in grained calf, stoutly sewed with four rows of stitches, freely perforated and up to the season in each little detail.
What is more, there are plenty to pick from.
(Main Floor)

Every Man Bound for the Seashore Wants a Traveling Bag

It's a great big cheerful thing to say to him that a cowhide bag, with sewed frames and solid brass locks and catches, in the 18-inch size can be gotten for $10.75.
Seems almost unbelievable but it's a fact. Of course, the present selling price is much below the wholesale figure of earlier in the season, but that is the manufacturer's worry.
There is only one color—tan—and only a few hundred of such bags at the price, but while they last—well, it's worth hurrying for.
