

ON GUARD. This member of the 104th Cavalry headquarters company is sitting in a box car.

FIRST CITY TROOP LOADING EQUIPMENT. Members of that organization were put to work early yesterday morning.

SCENES IN THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD YARDS AT HARRISBURG, when four troops of the 104th Cavalry Regiment entrained for Western Pennsylvania coal-strike zone. Box cars were filled with equipment and provisions, while the horses were loaded in cattle cars.

"IT'S NOT WAR, SISSY." That's what "Bill" said to Johanna Arnold at the Armory, Broad street and Susquehanna avenue.

OUT WITH THE BOY SCOUTS. Edwin Gould tried his luck at fishing near Mountain Lakes, New York, where thousands of New York Boy Scouts are camping. Mr. Gould inspected the camp.

MRS. ALGERNON R. CLAPP and her daughter, Clara B. Clapp, on the beach.

"SMILE PRETTILY." Ida Sonnfeld, of Bala, doing some camera work with Ruth Schaffer, of Cynwyd, as her subject.

HER ADOPTED PET. Miss Mary Graham, of Washington, found Airedale soon after arrival.

MISS ZETTA HILLS (left), who crossed the English Channel in 1921 on her watercycle, is competing against Miss Evelyn Woodthorpe on the Thames in England.

HERSCHEL JONES, who originated the idea of sending daily market reports by radio to American farmers.

DRIVING HER OWN STAKES. Florence Hershey is with the Campfire Girls in Delaware County.

YOUTH SATISFIED WITH SECOND PRIZE. Michael Morell and Miss Dorothy Dean, competitors in the Parkway public dance contest.

WALKED UPSTAIRS—Block and tackle brought horse down. This horse was tied in his stable, rear of 606 South Hancock street. When the owner returned he found the horse one flight up.

BROTHER AND SISTER. Miss Sarah and Frank MacKinnon have long been residents of Angora Village.

GRANDSONS OF JAPAN'S NOTED STATESMAN. They are playing in the garden of their grandfather, Baron Kato, the new Premier of Japan.

DOWAGER QUEEN LOUISE of Denmark, who has been seriously ill with pneumonia.

THIS OLD FRAME AND LOG HOUSE was for many years the home of Benjamin Elkins. It was located at what is now Sixty-second and Walnut streets. The house was torn down nineteen years ago. Dr. John W. Eckfeldt, 6312 Vine st., is the contributor. Send us your old Philadelphia photographs.

ALSO LIVE IN ANGORA VILLAGE. They are all Angora cats. There seems to be no history that would indicate that the village got its name from this breed of cats.

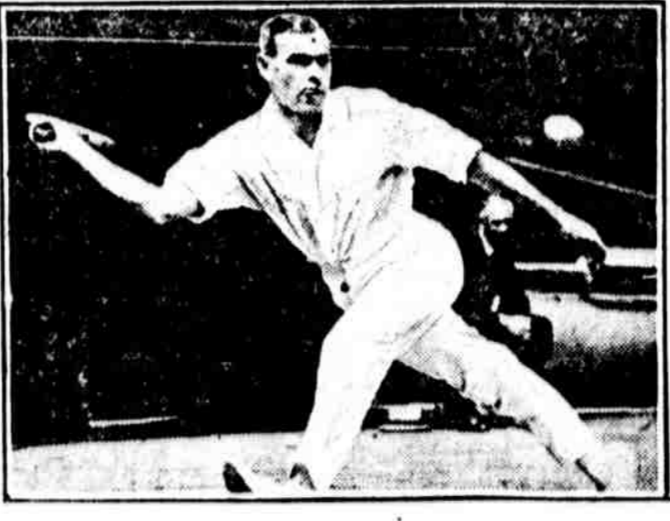

HARRY B. GLISSON, assistant engineer of the Reading Railway, and John Derham, Jr., bridge builder, inspect work on new Norristown bridge.

SHOWING THEM HOW IT'S DONE. A West Philadelphia girl winds up and tells the youngsters a few things about tossing 'em over the place.

LILLIAN BAKER and DOROTHY McCRAFT smile day for them. These Philadelphia tots are smiling because the City of Philadelphia has provided a place where they can swim.

CHAMPION OF THE WORLD. Gerald L. Patterson at Wimbledon, where he won the tennis title. The Australian is about to smash the ball.

FAIR SCULLER. Marie Gaus is stroking a double on the Schuylkill. She is being tutored by Captain Jaeger, of the Penn Barge Club.

WATCHING DADDY. Two enthusiasts keep close tab on dad's prowess with the rifle at Bisley, England.

MRS. FRANK A. VAN-DELLIP is touring New York State in interest of women voters.

JUDGE MCKENZIE MOSS, Kentucky, new Deputy Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

MRS. HUBERT WORK, wife of the Postmaster General. She is active socially in Washington.

MAYORS of Pennsylvania urge John L. Lewis, head of mine workers, to order men back.