NEW SYSTEM ADDS ZEST TO TRAINING
 Seriousness Marks Work of Troops at Mt. Gretna—Surgeon Notes Improvement
 By a Staff Correspondent
 Camp Duffy, Mount Gretna, Pa., July 26.—A spirit of seriousness, born of the war and fostered by the improved block system of training now in force, marks the present encampment of the Pennsylvania National Guard.
 This year particularly, units and individuals alike are going at their work with an intensity not seen here since the war-time mobilization of 1917. In fact, with the large number of recruits gathered for this encampment, the scenes around Mount Gretna forcibly recall war days. There is a snap and go to the citizen soldiers never before seen at a peace-time gathering of the guard.
 Although the strike situation may be responsible for the eagerness of the individual in grasping quickly the modern military subjects, guard officers also believe the new system of training, with its wide diversification, is responsible for the added zest undeniably being shown in all quarters.
 In Better Shape Physically
 "In the old days the average guardsman looked at this summer encampment merely as an open air vacation," Colonel Hishpan, regular army medical instructor here, said today. "There were a certain number of tedious foot drills and little else. The present varied instruction program, providing more interesting and that, training features, has resulted in a better physique. Also I believe the guard is in much better shape physically today than before the war. Wartime instruction in hygiene has had a very reaching and lasting effect. The service man was discharged after the war with a knowledge of sanitation that has proved a lasting benefit. Its effect is evident here today."
 Activity around division headquarters is centered on preparations for the return of Adjutant General Frank D. Beary and Brigadier General Edward C. Shannon, acting commander of the guard, who have been touring the strike area in the western part of the State. A conference at which they will make known their views of the situation will be held immediately upon their arrival back in camp, probably late tonight.
 In the meantime the cavalry activity at Colebrook, where Colonel Taylor's 10th Regiment is quartered, continues with the adoption today of new gaiting courses. Although many of the mounts are "green" and difficult to handle in close formation, instructors expressed themselves as pleased with the results to date. Should more troops be called to the coal fields the light cavalry unit to go first, they say.
 Tear Gas Is Ordered
 Although unofficial announcements indicate that the troops will not be called into the strike area unless the situation becomes much more serious, the infantry regiments will be equipped for instant strike duty.
 This was made known last night when Lieutenant Colonel Frank D. Warner, chief of staff of the 1st Division in the absence of Adjutant General Frank D. Beary, and Brigadier General Edward C. Shannon, acting commander of the guard, announced that two trucks had been sent to Edgewood Arsenal, Maryland, for supplies of tear gas and smoke bombs from the chemical warfare service.
 The use of this equipment, recently tried out successfully by Philadelphia police and State police, is considered by National Guard officers to be indispensable in strike service.
 The fact that the gas will be brought to Mount Gretna for the first time in the history of the Mount Gretna camp indicates that no preparations for active service are being neglected. At all hours of the day and night two immense motor buses are kept near division headquarters in readiness to load quartermaster clothing and subsistence supplies for the strike area in case the troops are called out suddenly.
 Bootlegger Reaches Camp
 With the arrival of the soldiers in great numbers the omnipresent bootlegger arrived yesterday and caused an investigation by division officers. None of the alleged band, believed to be from Philadelphia, was located. Hardly had the camp investigation been started when six prohibition agents from Harrisburg arrived and took up their duties.
 General William G. Price, Jr., commander of the Guard, is expected to arrive in camp early next week on his return from Europe.
 A number of alleged deserters from the 10th Cavalry were brought into camp last night, after they had been rounded up in a two-day search in Philadelphia. Each will be given a summary court-martial, and probably will be let off with a small fine.
 In several cases, soldiers, notified of illness in their families, some of the notices being received from the 112th Infantry's radio station, have been granted forty-eight hours' leave.

JUANITA MILLER'S WHITE LOVE ENDS
 Husband Insisted on Taking Bath at 7 A. M. When She Wanted to Sleep

Oakland, Calif., July 26.—The love dream of Juanita Miller, beautiful daughter of Joaquin Miller, "Poet of the Sierras," is over. Her love has run its prismatic gamut and wound up in deep-bued tones of divorce "blues."
 Juanita yesterday filed suit for divorce against Juan Miller, otherwise John Reed, her "Lily White" love. Juanita charges desertion. She says her husband left her July 1, 1921, fifteen months after their weird marriage.
 Thus ends a romance which ran its colorful course amid the pineaval surroundings of Juanita's home on the "Heights," where her father wrote his famous verses and where Juanita followed in his footsteps as a poetess and song writer.
 The wedding took place in April, 1920. It was to have occurred at night, with the full moon beaming down on the couple as they stood beneath the trees. But Juanita learned that the Indians worshiped the sun rather than the moon. The ceremony was conducted according to the old Druid customs, a glamorous outdoor party, weird and dramatic. There was no best man, and the bridesmaids were Indian dancing maidens.
 The outdoor ceremony was a confirmation of a legal ceremony which took place three months before when Juan and Juanita were married by a Justice of the Peace in Redwood City.
 Juanita, when a baby, related in poetry her life was destined to be a cycle of color episodes. She had experienced every period except the white period, and this she began with her wedding under the trees. One period, the red, had consisted of her marriage three years before, which ended in the divorce court.
 The marriage with Juan apparently ran smoothly for a year. Then last May came whisperings of disagreements. Juanita declared her "lily white" husband had turned out to be a water lily. She said:
 "He just floats on the surface of our love like a lily flower on a lily pond."
 The crowning offense of a long list, Juanita said, was his insistence on bathing. She said:
 "He knew I wanted to sleep till 10 A. M., but he would get up at 7 and take a bath. And when he bathed he made such horrible noises. His love left long ago. He would not work and he would not love. His soul has gone from here."

 The singer says she won't abandon her artistic career in favor of matrimony. Nevertheless the two are in one another's company almost constantly, either lunching or dining in the quietest restaurants or at her magnificent home in the Rue de Lubeck, which was ceded to her by Cochran.
 Chicago, July 26.—(By A. P.)—Miss Mathilde McCormick, fiancée of Max Oscar, Swiss hotelman, today was en route to New York. Bombarded with questions from a number of newspaper reporters as to her intentions, Miss McCormick said: "I'm sorry I cannot discuss these questions with you. I'm sorry."

WILSON ASSAILS VARDAMAN
 Calls Former Mississippi Senator "False and Untrustworthy"
 Jackson, Miss., July 26.—(By A. P.)—In answer to a request that he give his opinion of former Senator James K. Vardaman, who is a candidate for United States Senator, former President Woodrow Wilson asserted that he thought Mr. Vardaman "shamefully false and untrustworthy." Mr. Wilson's letter, received by Dr. J. F. Cahleb, of Carlisle, and made public last night, said:
 "I have your letter of July 5. In reply let me say that I am not in a position to review Mr. Vardaman's record in Washington in detail, but I can sum up my impression of him in a single sentence:
 "I think that he is thoroughly false and untrustworthy, and that it would be a great detriment to Mississippi and the Nation if he should be returned to the Senate."
 "With deep interest in the outcome of the contest of which you speak, Mr. Vardaman is one of the three candidates for the seat occupied by John Sharp Williams, who will retire soon.
