Leading Contenders for the Semi-Professional Baseball Honors of City Meet in Twilight Battles

Leonard's Making Weight Saved Him Big Sum-Tendler Had 24 Ounces to Spare

BOTH SHY BEFORE BOUT

The weighing-in process at 2 o'clock in the afternoon proved almost as interesting to those who were fortunate enough to witness it as did the battle. The crowd that hovered around as the champion and the challenger entered gave both cheer after cheer, with little to choose between the two as regards the favorite.

To an inquisitive bunch of newspaper men the boxing commissioners stated that Leonard had balanced the scales at 134 pounds and 15 ounces, which saved his $15,000 weight forfeit. It was a narrow squeak and it rent. It was a narrow square and it was generally reported about the arean that Phil Glassman, manager of Tendler, was ready to gather in this money if it was only by a tenth of an

Immediately after he stepped off the scales Packey Schwartz, his voluble chef, handed him a big container of chicken broth, which he finished stand-ing in the middle of the dressing room ith a bathrobe thrown over his oulders. He didn't start to dress until after the soup had been consumed.

Lew Saves $15,000

The scene enacted in and outside o Leonard's dressing room during the weighing-in ceremony was repeated at Tendler's quarters a few minutes later. Lefty Lew had also partaken of a scanty breakfast, with an eye to safe-purding his $15,000 forfeit, and was funding his $15,000 forcet, and was hungry when he finally heaved a sigh of relief and hooped off the scales, just four ounces under the deadline of 135. The commissioners, when they emberged

New scales that had been recently tested by an expert in the science f weights and measures, were carried into Leonard's cressing room by an employe of the New Jersey Boxing The commissioners followed with an air of grim determination that could hardly have been more eighth round from a body blow delivserious or forbidding if they had been ered by Lew Tendler, in the Rickard going to an execution.
