VOU know, it's going to be awfully try home at St. Davids, about September 15. You know, it's going to be awfully hard to follow dates this year. Because no sooner has a date been settled than you find some one else has at already, and so you have to change. I think I have heard at least four dates for the dance the Montgomerys are planning to give for Hope; one was October 14 and another October 12, and only last week October 7; but it is now finally settled that Hope's dance will be given October 21 and her tea on September 23.

September 23.

I did not think the date for the dance could be the 7th, for that's the evening chosen by the Arthur Dixons for their dance for Virginia Carpenter at the Radnor Hunt Club, and every one the Radnor Hunt Club, and every one the same to have parties the same.

Mr. and Mrs. George D. Widener, of Whitemarsh, are entertaining Mr. James W. Barney, of New York, as their guest for a few days at Midcliffe, their villa at Newport. tries not to have parties the same nights. Mary Geary and Babs Clayton have

Mary Geary and Babs Clayton have the same dates for their teas, but I imagine one or the other may change, as one is in Chestnut Hill and the other in Haverford, and it is hard to get to both places. And if you give a party you do want people to go, naturally; and then, too, so many of the girls ask the same ones to receive at their teas that it's better, if possible, to have

Montgomery, by the way, etting her hair grow, so she is another debutante who will have long hair.
Long hair is so pretty I never could 'get' why the girls wanted to bob theirs. Of course, when you are fifteen or sixteen it's rather cute, but when you are old enough to be introduced it seems to me there ought to be a semblance of being grown up with the hair arrangement, as well as the frocks.

MR. AND MRS. EDWARD MSTOTESBURY sailed on Saturday for Europe and are to be gone for two or three months. I understand.
Every one in New York is much excited ever the rumor that the Stotesburys intend to buy Georgian Court, the Gould blace at Lakewood. It has not been confirmed, and, personally, I doubt it.
There is also a rumor that they will perchase the George Gould town house Fifth avenue. That seems much more likely, for it would certainly be more convenient to have a house to go to in New York than a hotel.

However, it's all rumor, anyhow, and
