Mrs. Wilson Suggests Peach Preserves

This Fruit Always Delicious, No Matter How It Is Served, Either as a Jam or as a Sauce

THE old-fashioned housewife made a splendid peach preserve that today is just as popular as it was in the old-time dandies, who laid great store by peach preserve with roast beef fillet, or tenderloin of pork or veal.

Old-Fashioned Colonial Peach Preserve Pare and cut in thin slices sufficient peaches to measure three quarts. Place in the preserving kettle and add one cup of boiling water.

Jam of our lemon.
One quart of thinly sliced tart summer apples.
Six pounds of granulated sugar.
Heat slowly to boiling point and then cook until thick like jam.

Place an asbestos mat under the kettle while the preserve is cooking and stir constantly to prevent scorching.
Remove from the stove if you must leave the room. Fill in to half-pint jars, seal securely and place in hot-water bath. Fill jars with hot water, leaving process for twenty minutes to exhaust the air spaces in the jar. Cool the tops of the jars in melted para-wax.

Peach Jam
Pare and cut in slices sufficient peaches to measure two quarts, place in a preserving kettle and add One quart of thick apple sauce made from tart summer apples.
Four pounds of sugar.

Cook slowly until thick. Fill into jars or crocks and cover with melted paraffin.

Peaches a la Conde Marie Pare peaches, cutting in half; pack loosely in jars and add to each jar, plugging so it will make an attractive pack.

Two ounces of candied sugar, cut in match-like strips.
Four slices of lemon cut to paper thin slices, and cooked water fresh.

Put cherries from maraschino cherry bottle.
Four cloves.
Three allspice.
One blade of saffron.
One piece of stick cinnamon about two inches long.

Fill jar to overflowing with prepared syrup, adjust the rubber and partially seal. Process in hot-water bath for thirty-five minutes. Seal securely, remove and when cold dip the tops of the jars in melted sealing wax. Store in cool place.

Spiced Pickled Peaches
Place in deep saucepan Four pounds of granulated sugar.
Two cups of white wine vinegar.
One-quarter cup of pickling spices, that have been sifted to remove dust.
One-half cup of candied ginger cut in slices.
One-eighth teaspoon of cayenne pepper.
One cup of boiling water.

Heat slowly to boiling point, then add one cup of honey. and cook for five minutes. Pare and pack peaches in the jar, and when jar is full fill to overflowing with the prepared syrup. Seal securely and place in hot-water bath, having the water just to the neck of the jar. Process for thirty minutes.

Peach Pulp
This pulp is used for cocktails, over-ice cream, making the peach sundae and for puddings, tarts, etc.
Pare ripe peaches and crush. Rub through a fine sieve. Fill into half-pint jars, adjust the rubber and partially seal the jar. Place in hot-water bath and process for forty minutes.
Seal securely and when cold dip the tops of the jars in melted paraffin.

In England
In buying some new hats the other day Miss Megan Lloyd George, daughter of the British Premier, complained that the price was rather high, "even for these days of terrible taxation." The shop-girl demurely replied: "Why don't you ask your father to make the taxation less terrible?"

A Silver Trimmed Wedding Gown in the Classic Mood

By CORINNE LOWE

If the favorite method of indicating to somebody that he did not belong to the master minds of the community were... "Not by falling on my brain in a limping as the foot of Vulcan," instead of "You poor dumbbell, go rent yourself an idea," the styles would not be so very different. For some of our evening models are just about what they were around the Parthenon when Aspasia was getting herself talked about. This classic mood of dresses is particularly well adapted to the wedding gown, and today we show it in a lovely model of French inspiration.

You will notice the draped skirt is combined with that other draping which extends from a deep yoke effect down the sides of the frock. The hem of the skirt together with the draped pieces, the yokes and the girdle are all bound with silver tissue which by the silver trimmings of the white kid shoes and by the round cap from which the veil is suspended. The material of the gown may be of crepe, crepe-back satin, or chiffon.

WHATEVER IS UNUSUAL is sought out by the thoughtful in all parts of the world. Interesting events, celebrated persons, places, here, there, and everywhere are pictured in pleasing ways, tone in the picture. "Make It a Habit"—Ad.

Sample Junior Dresses for Autumn at $16.50

Girls of 14 and 16 years have a surprise party all their own. A fashion designer created some joyful dresses of twill-back velveteen, canton crepe and poiret twill, but designed them so expensively that the maker decided they were not practical. Therefore, these charming Autumn dresses of cloth and velvet with all sorts of individual ideas are here at fully a third less than the price for which they were intended.

Limited quantity. Usually only one of a kind.
One is sketched—but it is only fair to say there are only two of this pictured frock.
