LEAVE AT GRAY DAWN

The 103d Engineers, "Philadelphia's Own," and the special troops of the Iwenty-eighth Division left this morning for Camp Duffy at Mount Gretna. The hour of departure was too early for crowds to see them off. Both columns left their armories at 8 o'clock, daylight saving time. The trains de-parted a half hour later. The 103d Engineers marched away from Broad and Callowhill streets un-der command of Colonel J. W. Study. There were two battalions, the first in charge of Major Horace J. Inman, the second under Major Harris W. Watkins. With them went Chaplain R. H. Genrhart, of the 103d Medical Regi-ment, the only officer of his command in this city. He is the pastor of the Grace Riding on the shoulders of a corporal

Steering Committee of the association

Steering Committee of the association which nominated Colonel D'Olier for the presidency of the body, has received a letter from him in which he set forth his views. Mr. Robins de-clined to make public the letter. It is understood, however, that Colonel D'Olier informed him he would be unable actively to take control of the ex-position movement for several weeks. It was said he would require some time to set his personal business affairs in shape. Incidentally the definite state-
