

JUST GOSSIP ABOUT PEOPLE

Nancy Wynne Talks of the Engagement of Oscar Santa Maria—She Tells of the Burning of Mr. Arthur Hacker's Home at Milford, Pa.

IT WAS interesting to hear of Oscar Santa Maria's engagement to Dolores Pesant, of Havana. The Santa Marias are such an attractive family and Elena and the boys have been great favorites here. Mrs. Santa Maria, you remember, was Miss Marie Lane and is a cousin of the Keatings, Willcozes, Mason Lines and other well-known people.

Her brother, Dr. Dana Lane, married first the former Mrs. Houlton Dineen, of this city, a number of years ago, and his daughter, Lina Lane, has been up here in Philadelphia at school first at Eden Hall for a number of years and last season at Miss Lavinia's, in town. She lived with her sister, Mrs. Morris Stroud, Jr., the late Mrs. Lane's daughter, last winter in Villanova, coming in town every day to school. Dr. Lane married again about a year ago.

Mrs. Santa Maria spent last winter in Media, but in the spring joined her husband, Dr. Dana Lane, in Villanova. Their eldest son married Miss Marjorie Wilcox several years ago and lives in Wawa, and incidentally I heard by list that he and his wife have a new baby, Marie Lane Santa Maria, who was born on June 12.

Oscar is the Santa Maria's second son, a very attractive fellow. I do not know Miss Pesant, but I have heard fine things about her and I'm sure they will be happy.

DID you hear about the Arthur Hacker's catastrophe? You know, they have a sort of farmhouse at Milford, Pa., way back in the country from the station, and have been spending their summers there. Just recently Miss Pauline Bowie, who has returned home from a trip through the West with her cousin, Mrs. James H. Bowie, who was Miss Emily Tenner, Mrs. Hacker met her at the station and they drove back in the motor some twelve miles or more to find the house had been struck by lightning and was literally burned to the ground. Some neighbors had tried to save things, but only a few clothes had been rescued. Can you imagine a more gone feeling than to drive up to your home and find it in ruins? And it was such an attractive, quaint house. I am so sorry for them.

THE William Donners are certainly having a gay summer at Watch Hill. I have never heard anything like the number of girls who have gone and are going up there to stay with them. And I don't wonder for they are the most delightful family to visit. No one would think of "regretting" an invitation to stop with them. Besides Kathryn is going to the school next year, and naturally her mother wants to have a gay summer for her. Ellen McMichael and Dorothy Clough were there over the last week and Hope Montgomery is going there later. Albert Reath, who is to be married in October, stopped for several days on his way up to Northeast Harbor, where her mother and father and she are spending the summer. Albert and Dorothy Rodgers, Mrs. Donner's elder daughter, both came out last year, and they are also going. The Donners gave a dinner on Saturday night for Ellen McMichael and Dorothy Clough.

I WAS riding out through the country one afternoon last week having a beautiful time chatting with my companion and enjoying the air and the scenery. We took a turn off on one of the narrow roads and were going happily along when suddenly there appeared before us the backs of a long line of cars. "What's this, a funeral?" I said. No, it did not seem to be. We stopped and found that we had found a second row standing there and the road too narrow to go further around yet, so we joined the long procession.

After waiting some minutes, we decided to look our car and walk on ahead to see what was wrong. Right across the road some hundred yards ahead was a touring car of a well-known make and in it, seated in the face but outwardly calm, sat a girl whom you know and I know. Her car had stopped right there in the middle of the road and all traffic was held up, because the imperious young lady refused aid, preferring to hold up that long line of cars and let it out herself.

When we have in sight she unbent and agreed to let us help. So calling to all several chauffeurs, who had been seated before our arrival, the car was finally loaded to one side and the long stream of twenty-seven cars went tearing by at such speed I wonder we did not hear of accidents all along the road.
