MAYOR HITS BIGOTS IN ABSTINENCE TALK

More Self-Restraint Needed in America, Moore Tells Catholic Convention

PRIEST RAPS PROHIBITION

What America needs is more selfrestraint and less fanaticism and bigotry which aim to impress the wishes of the few on the many.

This was the message delivered to the Catholic Total Abstinence Union this morning by Mayor Moore, who complimented the organization upon its sane and religious method of seeking to attain its ends.

"There would be less difficulty between the leaders of capital and those who have come to centrol labor if said the Mayor.

"We would have a holter and nobler spirit in all denominations if self-restraint were considered in religious mat-ters; were it a factor in our dealings with other countries, we would be lest likely to become involved in international entanglements, and the same thing applies to internal disturbances. Advises Against Unfairness

"We must learn to control ourselves, to refrain from unlawful and unjust actions to others and from unfairness to would be better if there were more self-restraint and less fanaticism and bigotry among all people. The fact that the Catholic Total Abstinence I nion is not in accord with prohibition as it new exists was made plain by the Rev. John E. McCann, of Easten, former president of the Phila-delphia branch of the union the Phila-delphia C. T. A. U., addressing the meeting today.

Father McCann preached the sermon at a solemn high mass at the Catherral, with which ceremony the convention was opened. Cardinal Dougherty presided. He was attended by Monsignors Drumgoole and Refers to Prohibition
