

MOTORIST IS SHOT ON LONELY ROAD IN BOOTLEG WAR

Wounded Victim Is Found Unconscious at Wheel of Moving Car

2 OTHER MACHINES SEEN, PHILADELPHIANS SOUGHT

Scene of Affray Near Crum Creek at Eddystone, Where Rum Runners Gathered

Four carloads of bootleggers met at a lonely spot on the "back road" near Eddystone at 9:15 o'clock last night; three shots rang out and three of the cars sped away; in the fourth Joseph Richel, of Chester, slowly collapsed over the steering wheel.

Victim Is Dying

Salton telephoned the Chester police that a man had been murdered, for which no appearance was made. Detective Richel hurried out in his car. They examined the body, and thought they found signs of life. Blood was oozing slowly from a revolver wound in the right chest, and the water on the man, and he stirred. Then they put him in the detective's car and hastened to the Chester hospital.

Today's Developments in Rail Strike Situation

Chief officials of seventeen railroad brotherhoods met in Washington to take action on President Harding's proposal for ending the shopen's strike.

Railroad executives meeting in New York named a committee to draft a reply to President Harding's proposal. An exception is the same as the one which drew the reply to the President's first proposition.

Both conferences faced the probability of hours of debate. No decision by the unions is expected until next week.

Twenty-three bombs were exploded in the Santa Fe yards in San Bernardino, Calif. Paralysis of entire Western system forecast as result of unions' opposition to armed guards.
