1200 YOUNGSTERS ON SHORE OUTING

Boys and Girls Are Guests of Germantown Business Men at Ocean City

300 ADULTS MAKE TRIP

Twelve hundred boys and girls and 300 adults formed a happy, noisy company that went to Ocean City today as guests of the business and professional men of Germantown.

More than enough money to pay all expenses was raised during a brief campaign, and, headed by a band, the children were marched this morning from the Germantown Boys' Club to the Queen lane station. They were placed on a train and taken to the shore. There were fourteen carloads of happy youngsters. It was a big job to get the children all together, and not lose any, but it was accomplished successfully. The procession was headed by a brass band.

Each child, before leaving, was presented with a cake of chocolate and a sandwich. At Ocean City the children were met by a band, the Mayor of Ocean City, and a committee of citizens. From the railroad station they were marched to the vacation house of the Boys' Club, on Pleasure avenue, divided into groups, outfitted with bathing suits, and taken for a bath. Dinner followed. There will be amusements of various sorts provided by the good folk of Ocean City this afternoon, more eats, then a march to the train again. It is expected the youngsters will be brought back to Germantown about 10 o'clock tonight.

Among the organizations which provided the outing are: The Don't Worry Club, of Germantown; the Forest Hill Improvement Association, Fire Engine Companies No. 19, 9 and 7, the Germantown Boys' Club and business firms and individuals of the district.

Commuters were held up a quarter of an hour, on the Chestnut Hill branch of the Pennsy, while the seashore special was being loaded. The long train was sidetracked at North Philadelphia, and the waiting locals behind it dashed by to Broad Street Station.

RESEARCH BUREAU DEFENDS CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION

Gives Views on Reversals of Department Heads' Orders

The Civil Service Commission's failure always to heed the recommendations of a department head in the matter of an accused city employe does not necessarily mean that discipline and morale will be undermined, the Bureau of Municipal Research stated today.

The research bureau was commenting on Mayor Moore's recent letter to the commission protesting against the commission's reinstatement of "dozens of unworthy employes." The bureau stated in part:

"The reason for having a trial board is that the department head, as the accuser, may sometimes be unfair in judging of the gravity of the offense with which the employe has been charged, and therefore an outside body not a party to the controversy should pass upon the accusations. If the trial board always sustained the department head its whole performance might well be regarded as a farce, and the effect upon the morale of employes would certainly be deadening. On the other hand, if the board conscientiously endeavors to do justice to all concerned, its decisions are bound at times to go contrary to the wishes of the superior official. As for the effect of such decisions on respect for authority, it is probably safe to assume that so long as the real offenders are punished the authority of those who are in command will continue to be accorded all due respect."

Butler, of Paris, will take place August 23 at the home of the bride. This will be the culmination of a romance that had its inception during war days in Europe, where Miss Ehret served with the Red Cross.

Colonel Butler was in the air service during the war and was decorated by the French, English and American Governments.

The Rev. Dr. David B. Steele, of the Church of St. Luke and the Epiphany, will perform the marriage service. The best man will be Richard M. Ehret, brother of the bride-elect, the bride's only attendants to be Mrs. Clayton G. Dixon, of Philadelphia, and Miss Franklin Engs, of Great Barrington, Mass. The couple will make their home in Paris.

About a month ago Miss Ehret was arrested for speeding at Ardmore. The day following she surprised her friends with the announcement of her engagement.

FLAG TWO TRAINS IN TIME TO SAVE WANDERING AUTO

Brakes Released, Car Parked on Hill Ends Up on Railroad Tracks

A seven-year-old boy caused two express trains to be flagged late yesterday afternoon near the Falls of the Schuylkill station on the Norristown branch of the Philadelphia and Reading Railway.

The boy released the brakes on a touring car owned by Thomas J. Gavaghan, 3535 Ainslie street, a Democratic real estate assessor. The car moved down the street, which inclines sharply toward the tracks, jumped the curb and landed on the southbound Reading tracks, tearing up thirty feet of guard rail.

Joseph McDermott, a fifteen-year-old youth, who lives at Lafayette and Cresson streets, ran down the tracks, and by standing between the rails and waving his arms frantically, flagged a northbound express train. Clinton Vance, a station porter, 1256 North Alder street, flagged the southbound express.

RENAME FLAGSHIP OF COAST GUARD

The Vicksburg Is Rechristened Alexander Hamilton by Treasury Official

CAPE MAY REGATTA TODAY

Special Dispatch to Evening Public Ledger

Cape May, N. J., Aug. 17. Colonel Edward Clifford, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, rechristened the Vicksburg as the Alexander Hamilton today. Colonel Clifford in his speech said that it was altogether fitting that the cadet ship of the squadron should be named after the first Secretary of the Treasury, who was the father of the coast guard service when it was organized in 1790.

He said that he honed that cadets who were students on board the Alexander Hamilton would try to emulate the life of Alexander Hamilton, and that in so doing they would be a credit to the coast guard service and a credit to the United States. In this time of unrest, both in financial circles and in commercial life, when so many strikes are threatening the country, it behooved all men in the service to stand squarely back of the Administration, he declared. A salute of fifteen guns was fired from the Yamacraw as the Secretary and his party were landing for the drills at the naval air station.

Colonel Clifford was born in Illinois, and during the World War went to Washington in charge of the zone finance office, for which he was recently awarded the Distinguished Service Medal. Colonel Clifford took charge of the coast guard service last May. He said the coast guard service was too modest and that he intended to rectify it. Then he put on a publicity campaign that bids fair to make the service famous.

All officers of the squadron went on board the flagship this morning to pay their respects. At 1 o'clock the battalion drills were held at the naval air station parade grounds.

Preparing for Regatta

Col. Clifford arrived here yesterday with Commander E. V. Reynolds, head of the coast guard service. Both officials will remain for several days reviewing the ships, the competitive drills, boat races and land athletic events. Commander Reynolds probably will go to sea with the ships for target practice.

The Assistant Secretary was met by Mayor Melvin and the City Commissioners and taken on an automobile tour of the resort and surrounding points. Commander Jacobs and skippers of the seven other ships in the fleet also were in the reception party.

This was the last day given the crews to prepare for their contests, which began today. Lifeboats to be used in the races were overside early in the day, and the mariners gave the inlet boatmen something to talk about in their maneuvers. Each ship also landed a final drilling company on land at the naval air station.

"Get-Together" Banquet

Among those on the ships as guests to greet Col. Clifford were Commander Q. B. Newman, Lieutenant Engineer H. F. Johnson and Constructor F. A. Heneywell, on the Tampa; Constructor Joh. L. Walton, Lieutenant F. C. Billard, Lieutenant Leroy Reinburg, Lieutenant E. M. Webster, on the Modoc; Commander B. L. Read, captain of the port of New York; Lieutenant F. A. Zeusler, Lieutenant F. J. Gorman and Commander A. J. Henderson, on the Seneca; Lieutenant Commander D. F. A. De Otte, captain of the port of Norfolk and Hampton Roads; Lieutenant S. S. Yeandle and Lieutenant Engineer M. R. Daniels, on the Yamacraw.

A "get-together" dinner was held last night in Congress Hall, with Colonel Clifford as guest of honor. Addresses were made by the Mayor and several commanders.

Appeal will be made by the city officials to have Cold Spring Harbor designated as the site of the annual reunion of the fleet. An appropriation has been obtained for dredging out the few remaining bars, and plenty of deep water will be assured within another year.

HEAVY SHIRTS AND SMOKES GET FIREMEN ALL HET UP

Edict Also Against Rents and Tears in Clothing—Darn 'Em!

No more "smokes" for firemen in uniform outside the fire house!

They received the unpleasant news fire captains read a communication from headquarters. The men may smoke as much as they please within doors, but the entrance to the firehouse is the deadline. Carry pipe, cigar or cigarette outside, and they're liable to disciplinary measures.

Another rule, greeted with a good deal of complaint, is that the men must at all times wear their blue flannel shirts. Winter or summer, no difference, the shirts are "regulation," and must be worn. The firemen complain that in summer weather they become overheated in them when doing their "chores" in the firehouses, and are weakened for the more vital business of fighting fires.

A third regulation directed their attention to the need of keeping their clothing neat at all times. Rips and tears are a part of a fireman's life, of course, but the rule says that these must be neatly darned or patched.

BANDITS ROB 2 BROTHERS IN MOTORCAR OF $16,000

Thomas and Lawrence Walsh Victims of Highwaymen

Attacked by three bandits in a lonely section of Roxborough late yesterday afternoon, two brothers, Thomas and Lawrence Walsh, of 4143 Ridge avenue, were robbed of $12,000 in cash, a $2000 certified check and $2000 worth of jewelry.

The highwaymen followed the Walsh car in another automobile until they got close enough to jam it into a gutter. They then jumped out of their own machine, covered the brothers with revolvers and ordered them to "come out with your money!"

Lawrence Walsh, an automobile salesman, and his brother, a former saloonkeeper, live at 4143 Ridge avenue. They were on their way to Conshohocken, they said, to buy some real estate and bonds.

Lawrence Walsh had $12,000 in his pockets, mostly in large bills, a check for $2000, a diamond stickpin valued at $500 and a ring worth $300. His brother had $20, a $350 diamond stickpin and a ring worth $325.

LAY SCHOOL CORNERSTONE

W. D. Lewis Speaks Tonight at Norwood's Glen-Nor Exercises

William D. Lewis, of Harrisburg, deputy superintendent of public instruction, will be the principal speaker this evening when the cornerstone of the $185,000 Glen-Nor school is laid at Norwood.

The exercises will be under the joint supervision of the Glenolden and Norwood school boards. Sommers C. Wright is chairman of the committee on arrangements.

Work on the new building, which is said to be the only junior-senior building in this section of the country, is being rushed for the opening of school. Steps are being taken to defer the opening of school until October 1 as there is no place to house the pupils until the new building is completed.

ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND OPPORTUNITIES

TRY as we will we cannot escape the influence of intangible things. Even though the name at the head of the letter be one that carries weight in the commercial world, if the heading is badly arranged and poorly printed, and the paper without distinction or individuality, there is at the very least a feeling of disappointment. Why does such a house use such paper, is the comment of the unconscious mind.

But if the house is unknown to us, then we give it all the odium its careless choice of paper deserves. Cheap, is our comment, when really it is not cheap, but only indifferent.

The house that writes a hundred thousand letters a year has one hundred thousand opportunities for subtle but powerful advertising.

COURT IS LENIENT WITH BURGLAR, 61

George Patterson, Because of Feeble Condition, Gets Light Sentence

WILL FINISH PAROLE TERM

Showing the effects of long imprisonment, George Patterson, sixty-one years old, who has spent twenty-five years in jail, pleaded for a light sentence today when brought to trial before Judge Monaghan on charges of attempting to rob two West Philadelphia homes.

He was arrested after he had tried to enter the homes of Daniel Hennan, 426 South Forty-seventh street, and George Rommel, 428 South Forty-seventh street.

The prisoner presented such a pathetic appearance that the Judge decided to be lenient. He sent him back to Eastern Penitentiary to finish his parole of two years.

"I never had a chance," said Patterson in quavering voice. "They always gave me the limit."

"I feel sorry for you," said the Judge, "and if you have any one to take care of you I will help you."

"I haven't a soul in the world who cares," said the man hoarsely. "I spent the last twenty-five years in jail. You have the name of being a hard-boiled Judge, but I don't believe that you are."

Patterson said he still had two years to do of a seven to nine year sentence.

"I'll send you back to do that," said the Judge.

"Thank you from the bottom of my heart," said the prisoner. "It's the first time in my life that I have received any mercy. If I live to come out, so help me, I'll go straight."

THUG SNATCHES HANDBAG AT DOOR OF POLICE STATION

Sergeant's Sister Loses Valuables as Footpad Escapes

Within a few steps of the police station at 615 East Girard avenue, Miss Elizabeth Volz, of 4366 Edgemont street, was robbed last night of a handbag containing $50 and two diamond rings.

"The handbag was grabbed by a young Negro," said Miss Volz today. "I had just alighted from a Girard avenue car at Marlborough street when the man stepped up, grabbed my [illegible] and ran. I chased him until he jumped into an automobile and was driven away."

Miss Volz is a sister of Sergeant George E. Volz, of the Belgrade and Clearfield streets station.

VISITORS VIEW PORT

Men Who Will Ship From Here Take Trip Upon River

A luncheon and a trip of inspection of the port today marked the visit of representatives of the American Millers' Association and the United States Steel Products Company, two export firms recently acquired by the port.

The former army base at Oregon avenue and the Delaware River, known as Pier 98 South, will be used by the millers for shipments of flour which, it is said, will total 10,000,000 barrels per annum.

The coming of the Steel Products Company will bring to the Port of Philadelphia an entirely new line of export, principally from Western Pennsylvania, where exporters up to this time have used the Port of New York.
