JUDGE MONAGHAN FREES 'BUCKIE' HAIG ON WORD OF HONOR

Prisoner Serving Seven-Year Term Released So He May Fight for His Health

ILL WITH TUBERCULOSIS, PRISON TREATMENT FAILS

Not a Parole, Says Court, Ordering Convict Freed Until Disease Is Cured

Judge Monaghan, feared for the health and the gunman, today accepted the word of honor of a burglar whom he had sent to prison for seven years.

He sent the man, Harry Smith, known in the underworld as "Buckie" Haig, out of his prison unguarded, without even the formality of a parole, that "Buckie" might have a free chance to fight a battle with death.

The case was the more noteworthy because for the first time today a prisoner's application for release was heard in open court, after due advertisement in the courts and corridors of the District Attorney's office, so that any person who wished to oppose the release might appear before the judge.

The release of "Buckie" marked the end of a "war chamber" trial delivered, brought into disrepute by the recent release of a drug peddler whose friends pleaded to an up-State Judge who had sentenced him that he merely was a hard user of drugs.

"Buckie" has long been known as a "war chamber" trial delivered, brought into disrepute by the recent release of a drug peddler whose friends pleaded to an up-State Judge who had sentenced him that he merely was a hard user of drugs.

It was his reputation as a man of honor, though a thief, that won him the extraordinary privilege of being released with only his promise to hold him, for such a period of time as might be necessary for the restoration of his health.

Judge Monaghan sentenced "Buckie" to October 10 last to seven years in the County Prison. Under ordinary circumstances the sentence would have stood as pronounced, for Judge Monaghan is believed in hibernian parables.

But "Buckie," in the squalor and confinement of Moyamensing Prison, developed the disease that is common to the prison-fetters, tuberculosis, and many consumptives in "Moyam," and they have "open cells" there for the treatment of the victims.

"Buckie" was put there, with a Negro convict as his nurse. He was fed milk and eggs and oranges, and had the most skilled treatment that the prison could give. In spite of this the disease progressed so rapidly that the prison physician, Dr. Elmer E. Keiser, decided he would die unless released.

Patterson Appeals for "Buckie" C. Stuart Patterson, Jr., undertook to get "Buckie" released. As he told Judge Monaghan today, his friendship for the crook extended over a period of fifteen years, and it was as friend rather than as attorney that he sought Judge Monaghan's clemency.

Dr. Cohen said "Buckie" would have a chance with this treatment, and might recover in a year. Otherwise he would die in six months. "Buckie" is ill at present that he could not be brought to court.

"I am going to release this man on his honor," said Judge Monaghan. "I am not going to parole him, but to release him unguarded. He will leave his prison without a guard. He will be subject to the further orders of this court."

The fact that he has no money or friends should not keep him from having every opportunity to save his life, and the court certainly is not going to stand in his way."

AUSTRALIANS WIN IN STRAIGHT SETS

Spanish Ambassador Sees Alonso and de Gomar Bow to Wood and Patterson

ANZACS' ATTACK POWERFUL

By EDWIN S. POLLOCK

Displaying great court generalship and a remarkable overhead attack, the Australian doubles team of Gerald L. Patterson and Pat O'Hara Wood gained the edge on Spain by defeating Manuel Alonso and Count Manuel de Gomar in the third match of the Davis Cup final "tie" on the emerald turf of the Germantown Cricket Club, Manhheim, this afternoon.

The victory of the Antipodeans was in straight sets. They squashed the game and outlasted the Spaniards by 6-3, 6-3, 6-4.

This gives the men from the "Underland of the world" a lead of two to one on matches in the struggle for the right to challenge America's supremacy in the Davis Cup tournament. The winner of the classic here will oppose the United States team at Forest Hills, September 1, 2 and 4.

The Spaniards fought gamely, but not wisely. They tried to lob the Australians away from the net in the early stages of the struggle and these soft strokes were just to the liking of Patterson's right hand.

He would even down on them like a sea gull and the lobs would be killed for a point.

Spaniards Change Tactics

It was in the second set when the Spaniards realized that they were getting nowhere with their tactics and they changed their plan of attack. They began ripping the ball between the two Anzacs, and in this manner they forged ahead in the third set, at one time holding the lead at 4-3. However, Patterson's Big Bertha at the net began bombing again and it ended the spurt of the Latins.

The Australians were certainly better at the net than the Spaniards. They were especially tried to advance and it was beautiful to see the tactics used in an effort to keep opposition from the barrier.

The Australians mixed up their maneuvers. First they would lob and

TWINS ARE DROWNED; TWO BOYS MISSING

Atlantic City Authorities Are Looking for Other Bodies

Two boys, twin brothers, were drowned in the thoroughfare at Atlantic City this afternoon, and two others who hired a boat yesterday failed to return are believed to have met the same fate.

The boys who met death today are Isadore and Max Berkowitz, seven years old, 33 North Michigan, seven Atlantic City. A boy companion saw them sink after making frantic appeals for help. From a somewhat incoherent account of the accident given by the boy, it appears that Isadore was seized with cramps and Max tried to save him when both became exhausted.

The boys who hired the boat yesterday were well dressed. They engaged the boat at the place of John Giegl and said they would return in a few hours. It is believed that they left the boat to go swimming and were drowned.

SARAZEN CAPTURES PRO GOLF TITLE

National Champion Defeats Emmet French in Bitter Struggle at Oakmont

WINS 4 UP, 3 TO PLAY

Oakmont Country Club, Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 18.—Gene Sarazen, national open champion, added the professional golfers' title to his name today when he defeated Emmet French, Youngstown, O., in the finals of the P. G. A. tourney here. The score was 4 and 3.

The match was bitterly fought until the turn of the afternoon round when Sarazen forged ahead. The youthful champion announced immediately after his victory that he may compete in the British open championship next spring in an effort to perform the unprecedented feat of capturing the three great professional titles.

The match was all square at the end of the first eighteen holes.

Sarazen was two up at the end of the fifth, but French won the next three holes. From that point neither finalist held a margin of more than a single hole.

A large gallery massed around the ninth green, which is in front of the clubhouse, and witnessed a spectacular freak of fortune, which possibly cost French the hole. At any rate, it evened the match. French's beautiful second shot to the green struck the iron pin, resting in the cup and landed forty feet away in a trap.

Sarazen went out in 38, one over par, and French took 39. Their play improved coming in. Sarazen had a 39 which was one stroke better than French's total.

RAIL AND UNION CHIEFS REPORTED NEAR AGREEMENT

Brotherhood Leaders Resume Conference With Road Heads After Consulting Crafts

STONE INSISTS THAT TERMS MUST BE MADE

Seniority Dispute Remains Main Issue Before New York Meeting

New York, Aug. 18.—(By A. P.)—Heads of the big railroad brotherhoods, serving as mediators, today pressed their efforts to end the nation-wide shippers' strike which Warren S. Stone, leader of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, asserted this morning, must stop here and now.

The Brotherhood men put in two hours with railway executives this morning and then, hastening uptown to labor headquarters, went into executive session shortly after 2 o'clock with the heads of the sixteen stationary crafts.

The labor leaders conference broke up shortly after 3 o'clock, and the Brotherhood men hastened downtown and met the executives again. Bert M. Jewell, spokesman for the labor forces, said no statement covering their conference would be issued until later in the day.

While not permitting themselves to be quoted by name, the shop-craft leaders said after their conference that they believed executives and Brotherhood men were now not far apart on their proposals.

At 5 P. M. the leader of one of the shop crafts said after receiving a telephone message at labor headquarters uptown that he believed the strike soon would be settled.

Belief that no definite agreement for settlement of the shop crafts strike would be reached today, however, was expressed by Mr. Stone on leaving the first conference between Brotherhood men and executives.

Mr. Stone said no definite agreement had been reached so far and that he expected the conference would have to extend beyond today.

Mr. Stone, before leaving for the conference with labor leaders uptown, implied he had a definite proposition to put before them.

Neither Howard Elliott nor Mr. Kruttschnitt, members of the executives committee, left the chamber refusing comment that anything Mr. Stone said was up to him. As for themselves, they declined to say whether any definite program was under discussion or whether agreement had been reached on any part of it.

W. L. Maphother, of the Louisville and Nashville, a member of the executives' committee, left the chamber refusing comment to discuss any information concerning the conference which Senator Watson, adviser to President Harding in the rail conference, said he had obtained by telephone.

He's Still Smiling

Mr. Stone, who early in the day asserted a settlement must be reached at these conferences, professed himself still optimistic about the outcome.

"I'm smiling," he said to newspaper men. "I suppose you boys will write a column about that smile. It took me thirty years to learn how to do it."

Mr. Stone explained he did not believe

RAIL AND MINE POWER ASKED BY PRESIDENT

National Fuel Agency and Inquiry by Commission Urged

WOULD PUT TEETH IN ESCH RAIL ACT

Declares Government by Law Must Be and Will Be Enforced

RIGHT OF MEN TO WORK "DENIED BY VIOLENCE"

House Committee Prepares to Draft Coal Legislation Asked by Executive

Washington, Aug. 18.—President Harding announced to Congress and to the country today that his administration having exhausted every means for a settlement of the rail and coal strikes, now was resolved "to use all the power of the Government to maintain transportation and sustain the right of men to work."

The President also declared that the right of employees and employers alike to conduct their business must be recognized and he deplored what he termed "warfare on the union labor."

The President declared a national investigation for constructive recommendations as to the conduct of the coal inquiry to be imperative, and recommended a Government commission to advise as to fair wages and conditions.

Immediate legislation to establish temporarily a "national coal agency" with necessary capital to purchase, sell and distribute coal also was urged by the Executive.

Stating that the Esch-Cummins Act in establishing the Railroad Labor Board was inadequate, being with little or no power to enforce its decisions, the President recommended action to make the board's decisions "enforceable and effective against carriers and employes alike."

Groups that take the law into their own hands, the President said, and attempt to control for their own purposes the resources of the country, can only be regarded as a peril to public safety. He said neither employers nor employes could entirely escape responsibility for the present industrial situation, but he condemned in particular the "shocking crime at Herron, Ill.," and described recent railway troubles as "a state of lawlessness shocking to every conception of American law and order."

Immediately after the close of the President's address, Representative Mondell, Republican House leader, sent telegrams to absent members of the House Interstate Commerce Committee to return at once to the chamber to begin work on bills for the creation of a coal agency and a fact-finding commission for the coal industry. Leaders plan to have these measures taken up early next week and made ready for speedy passage.

Text of President's Message

The text of the President's address was as follows:

"It is manifestly my duty to bring to your attention the industrial situation which confronts the country. The situation growing out of the prevailing railway and coal mining strikes is so serious, so menacing to the nation's welfare, that I should be remiss if I failed frankly to lay the matter before you and at the same time acquaint you and the whole people with such efforts as the executive branch of the Government has made by the voluntary exercise of its good offices to effect a settlement."

"The suspension of the coal industry dates back to last April 1. Under the working agreement between mine operators and the United Mine Workers union to an end. Anticipating that expiration of contracts, the States of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, and in spite of the union declaration of the Government's informal suggestion for the conference, five months before, the Government, in order to facilitate either a new or extended agreement in order to avoid any suspension of production when April 1 arrived."

Men Declined Conference

"At that time the mine workers declined to confer, though the operators were agreeable. The mine workers, expressing their declaration on the ground that the union officials could have no authority to negotiate until after their annual convention."

"A short time prior to the execution of the working agreement the mine workers invited a conference with the operators in the central competitive field, covering the States of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois, and in spite of the union declaration of the Government's informal suggestion for the conference, five months before, the Government, in order to facilitate either a new or extended agreement in order to avoid any suspension of production when April 1 arrived."
