

CONVICTS PUNISHED FOR REVOLT IN N. J.

Inmates Showed Resentment at Inauguration of Stricter Regime DIN BEGAN OVER PEACHES

Special Dispatch to Evening Public Ledger
Trenton, Aug. 22.—Strict measures of discipline were imposed upon prisoners today after the most serious uprising ever staged at the New Jersey State Prison here.

About 900 convicts took part in the outbreak, which occurred after the exercise period, when the prisoners who have no employment because of the lack of shops are taken in the court yard for recreation. When at the end of this two-and-a-half-hour period the guards ordered the men to file back to their cells only about fifty made any noise to comply. These were hissed and stoned by the others, who set up a howl which could be heard for blocks.

After deputies had pleaded with the men to no avail Headkeeper Joseph S. Hoff was notified of the disturbance. He, seeing the point to which the disorder had progressed, resolved upon the most stringent measures. The State police were appealed to, and all wardens then off duty were hastily summoned. Meanwhile the Trenton police had received word of the mutiny and rushed to the scene with riot guns and tear gas, bombs, etc.

State police of New Jersey were also summoned to aid in quelling the disturbance, which had reached such proportions that the keepers of the prison were unable to cope with the situation. The presence of the armed police with drawn guns soon awed the mutineers into submission.

Assistant Keeper Kersey then addressed the men and told them they must obey and take up their grievance with the principal keeper later.

The men returned to their cells and for hours later continued to make things hideous by their catcalls, yells and beating of tin cups against the walls of cells.

While the disturbance started Sunday evening over the small size of a ration of peaches that was served the men for dinner at their noon-day meal, trouble has been brewing at the prison for some time.

Men in close touch with affairs there declare the riot has been expected because of stricter measures of discipline put into force since Mr. Hoff became principal keeper. It is said conditions at the prison before Mr. Hoff's regime were somewhat lax, and that he has endeavored to bring the institution to a more disciplined state.

The crowd of curiosity seekers attracted by the din became so great on the outside of the prison that it became necessary for a detail of police from the Second District to disperse the men, women and children.

BUBBLES IS RESCUED

Philadelphia Man's Cruiser Beached After Escaping Heavy Gale

Cape May, N. J., Aug. 22.—Captain Cress and crew, of coast guard station No. 137, Cape May Point, went to the assistance of the cabin cruiser Bubbles, owned by Robert J. Seizer, a Philadelphia real estate operator yesterday afternoon in Delaware Bay off Green's Hook. The cruiser was coming down the bay when it ran into a hard gale of wind. Not daring to come out of the Cape in the gale, the crew anchored the yacht, going ashore in the tender. During the night the yacht dragged her anchor and went broadside on the beach.

Captain Cress and crew in the coast guard power boat succeeded in towing her off. When they were off this evening the engine of the coast guard boat broke down and the weary guards were compelled to stay out most all night.

KILLED TRYING TO SAVE DOG

New York Youth Is Crushed by Locomotive in Oregon

Portland, Ore., Aug. 22.—By A. P. Efforts to rescue from danger a pet dog cost the life of John Young, eighteen, son of Owen D. Young, chairman of the Board of Directors of the General Electric Company of New York. The accident occurred at a construction camp on Hood River, where the young man was spending his vacation as a material checker.

Young was said to have been riding on the footboard of the front of a small yard locomotive when the mascot dog of the camp came frolicking across the tracks. The dog was stepped down to rescue him. In some way Young was overtaken by the locomotive. He was rolled beneath the footboard and crushed back against the front axle.

Little Benny's Note Book

By Lee Pope

Me and Puds Simkins was setting on Mary Watkins front steps and so was Mary Watkins, being the reason of me and Puds was, and we was talking about different subjects such as everybody having a equal chance to be president except girls, and Mary Watkins sed, Well a man could soon be with-out being president but he'd certenly haf to be ambitious, that's one thing I'd certenly insist on.

Me saying, Well Im ambitious all rite, do you know wat Im going to be wen I grow up? Im going to be a tire rope wawker and hundreds of people will come thousands of miles to see me in case I fall.

Aw, wats that, thats nothing, G, talk about ambitious, do you know wat Im going to be? Puds sed, Im going to be a flag pole painter, and everybody down in the street will point up at me and Ill be way up there on top of the flag pole bunging on with one hand and one knee and painting with the other, he sed.

Well, its all rite to be a tire rope wawker and a flag pole painter, but theyre both too dangerous to be ambitious, Mary Watkins sed, and I sed, Thats rite, Im going to change my ambition, Im going to be a captain in the navy like Sam Crosses uncle and all the sailers will haf to salute me and everything.

G, that will be nice, Mary Watkins sed, and Puds sed, Well wait till you heer now Ive changed my ambition, Im going to be the man that starts all the elevators in a big office bilding like Treddy Morfis unkle, Ill just stand there in my uniform full of brass buttons and the elevators cant start unless I snap my fingers no matter how many people are in them wishing theyd go. G, how perfectly lovely, Puds, thats the best of all, Mary Watkins sed, Me thinking, Darn that guy, he's allways spoiling everything.

Which he is.
