Giants by Defeating Reds While Cards Were Idle Increase Lead to Four Full Games

HISTORY REPEATS AS TIGERS WALLOP MACKS

Cobb Blasts Local Hopes, Duplicating Feat of Jennings in Other Years —Fate of Perkins

By JOSEPH T. LABRUM

BACK in the days when the Athletics were winning pennants with monotonous regularity, Hughey Jennings would bring his Detroit Tigers to town and cause no end of commotion. In those days the rivalry was so intense that policemen by the score used to throng the ball park. The fans would flock out in goodly numbers to see the two teams battle in more ways than one.

Yesterday Tyrus Raymond Cobb brought his fast-flying, hard-hitting, rambunctious Tigers to Shibe Park, and brought back memories of yesteryear. The 1922 edition, like the ones of old, caused considerable trouble.

Just when the fans were going around boasting that the Athletics were playing the kind of ball they should have been playing for the lasst eight years, the Tigers burst the bubble to a fare-thee-well.

Six wins out of seven from such teams as Cleveland and St. Louis is not to be sneered at, and it was expected that the streak would be continued at the expense of the Tigers. It wasn't. Twice in the same afternoon did some sixteen thousand fans who jammed the park see the reconstructed hopefuls take the long, full count.

DETROIT had its batting clothes all creased and pressed, and they made good use of them. The opening contest was something worth going miles to see, but the second was an utter rout. To go from six runs and eleven hits to seventeen markers and the same number of safeties is something different altogether.

Bob Hasty, who has been hurling well of late, turned in a fairly good game in the opener and had he not been the victim of what seemed to be a bad decision and a wild pitch on his own part, might have grabbed off the fruits of victory.

Blue's Homer

The eleven hits made off the Southern Giants were all of the hard-hit variety, but Blue's four-sacker in the second, which caused all the harsh words shot about the park, and Cobb's run in the eighth, when Hasty threw the ball away past Bruggy, really decided the struggle.

Incidentally, Blue's four-ply shot caused Cyrus Perkins to take the air for the first time in his major league career. The Massachusetts citizen didn't like the way Bill Guthric, formerly of the Western League, rendered the decision and he made no bones of the fact. In a few words the arbiter informed Perk that he had the afternoon all to himself to play nicknacks or any other diversion that suited him outside of baseball.

Eddie Rommel thought that a few well-selected words might help matters along, but they didn't. Guthrie told the Baltimore ace that the best place for him until the second game started was in the clubhouse.

Two casualties for the afternoon marked the largest of the year for the A's. Connie Mack had a few words to say to Guthrie, and for a while the fans sitting over toward first base thought that the tall tactician would also pass out the well-known gate.

Getting back to the game. Homers by Veach and Blue, the former coming with a man on, gave the Tigers a good lead to start festivities. However, in their half of the first the Mackmen, showing the real old fight, counted a pair on a walk to Young, Joe Hauser's double and a pair of infield outs.

A TRIPLE by Rigney and a single by Bassler gave the Tigers a run in the seventh. That made the count 5 to 2. The A's garnered one in their half of the lucky frame, when Chick Galloway lifted the horsehide into the bleachers. The Tigers matched it in their half of the eighth on a double by Cobb and Hasty's aforementioned wild pitch.

The eighth gave the fans all kinds of hope, but they died after a run had been scored when Bing Miller lifted a long fly to Heilmann that he had a difficult time catching.

Pillette's Seventeenth

Herman Pillette, about whom so much has been written and who unquestionably is the pitching find of the season, turned in a neat exhibition in winning the second, his seventeenth of the season. The young right-hander held the A's to a pair of hits until the seventh, Bruggy getting a double and a single.

In the seventh and eighth the A's made five hits and three runs, and Cobb told Pillette to take his shower. He wasn't knocked out. There was no further need of a star with such a big lead, and Roy Moore, late of the Athletics, toed the mound.

All told, the A's made nine hits, Bruggy and Calloway getting a pair apiece. The last named subbed for Galloway in the seventh and put himself solid with the fans by banging out a triple and a single.

Homers by Veach and Heilmann in the ninth made the going rough for Curley Ogden, the former Swarthmore star. Heilmann's was his nineteenth of the current season.

THE Browns, unfortunate here, started a winning streak in Boston by hammering Herb Pennock for eastern safeties, while Shocker permitted seven. George Sisler scintillated with his work afield and at bat. The victory brought the St. Louisans to within a half game of the Yanks, who lost to the Indians.

Joe Bush, after nine straight, was forced to bow in defeat to George Uhle, of the Indians. The former sandlot pitcher allowed the hard hitting prima donnas but two singles, one by Pipp and the other by Dugan.

The bullet person was found for thirteen, Larry Gardner proving his bugaboo with a double and two singles. The veteran also stole two bases, drove in three runs and scored the fourth.

Another Sox Recruit

Mack, another one of the recruits dug up one day to become sensations the next by the White Sox scouts, allowed the Senators five hits in the second game and enabled the Sox to divide up the bill. In the other game Mogridge outpitched Robertson.

Over in the National Meadows lost a hurling duel with Morrison of the Pirates. The bespectacled hurler allowed the Bucs ten hits while the Phils made nine.

Roger Wrightstone had three of the nine local hingles. Tierney made a great play in the ninth that twarted a promising rally.

The Giants gained on the Cards who were idle by hitting a trio of Cincinnati beavers hard, while McQuillan had the home team at his mercy throughout the game. The Gothamites are now four full games ahead in the race.

Vance fanned nine of the Cubs and enabled the Dodgers to defeat the Cubs five to four. Aldridge was driven off the mound by the Superbas and Osborne was hit hard. The Dodgers had fourteen hits to eight for the Cubs.

SHORE TENNIS UPSET

Gus Amsterdam Surprises by Beating Andy Morgan

Atlantic City, Aug. 23.—A big surprise came yesterday in South Jersey men's singles tennis championship tournament when Andrew Morgan, captain of the University of Pennsylvania net team, succumbed to the scintillating attack of Gus Amsterdam, of the Woodford Courts Club, Philadelphia, on the municipal courts at the Inlet in straight sets, 6-3, 6-1. This was a third-round match.

Amsterdam, who was in fine shape, caught the Penn leader off color and took advantage of this. Gus played brilliant tennis, giving his foe a merry chase all over the court. Morgan put up a fair fight in the opening set, but was quickly disposed of by Amsterdam in the deciding affair.

Al Reed, of the Belfield Club, Philadelphia, eliminated Walter T. Bew, Atlantic City Yacht Club champion, in a stubbornly fought tilt, 6-2, 6-3. Reed was picked by the committee in the "seeded" draw as the strongest player in the tournament and lived up to all advance press notice with his clever performance.

BECHTEL IN LEAD

Makes High Run of 29 in Billiard Tourney

Bill Bechtel lost his match to G. Ferri, 75-37, in the pocket billiard tournament at the Recreation Academy last night, but he made a high run of 29, which is the best to date in the series. This places Bechtel in the lead for the cue which has been offered to the player making the highest run.

In the other match J. M. Talley defeated Frank Russell, 75-59. Tonight Hamilton is scheduled to meet Hires and Ferri plays Clarke.

Bar Jockeys and Owner

Montreal, Aug. 23.—Jockeys Hinphy, Foden and Boyle and Owner J. Hoskins have been barred from racing by the Quebec Breeders' Association. It was announced yesterday at conclusion of an investigation into the running of Miss Flora, of the Hoskins stable, in the King Edward Park races last Thursday. The owners, J. W. Crippen and J. Golden, were fined. The ruling also includes Hoskins' horses, Pepper Tea, Pretty Baby, Perfect Lady and Last Chance.

Greenleaf to Play Hueston

Ralph Greenleaf, world's champion, and Tom Hueston will play a 2400-point pocket billiard match at the National Billiard Academy beginning next Monday. The match will last for two weeks.

ARGENTINE POLO TEAM IN ACTION

DELAPLAINE WILL COACH GRID TEAM

Succeeds Warren Weiler as Football Mentor at West Philadelphia High School

ANNOUNCEMENT UNOFFICIAL

By PAUL PREP

ROY W. DELAPLAINE has succeeded Warren O. Weiler as coach of the West Philadelphia High School football team.

This was made known by a member of the Faculty Committee on Athletics at the western institution. He said that while no official announcement has been made as yet, the news, nevertheless, was authentic.

The Interscholastic Football League, therefore, loses one of its youngest and most noted figures. At the same time it gains a man who has won great fame on the field of sports and who will be a valuable addition.

Warren Weiler was a "wonder man," so far as football at the West Philadelphia institution was concerned. He knew little about coaching a grid team when he took over the reins after Howard Berry left, but by diligent studying and hard work he turned out two winning teams.

Weiler didn't win the Interscholastic League championship or anything like that, but his team never dropped below second place. Which is a record any coach could point to with pride.

Players Use Him for Football

A few days after Weiler started coaching the orange and blue team he made his appearance on Kirkbride's Field "all dressed up." He had been tutoring the gridders from the sidelines, so he wasn't prepared for rough work.

It so happened on this day that Weiler had to go onto the field and show the boys new plays. He took off his hat and coat and walked upon the gridiron with his silk shirt flapping in the breeze.

He got into the line and explained a new play to the boys. They readily grasped the situation for a little "real" play, however, and Warren was soon the center of a free-for-all football game.

When the storm had subsided it was found that Warren's shirt was ripped and that his trousers were torn in several places. He looked a wreck.

Here Warren showed what kind of a man he was. He took the play in fun and thereby won the eternal friendship of the players by his action. From then on they did everything he asked of them.

Basketball Duties Taxed Him Too Heavily

Weiler was forced to give up football, according to the information we received. He liked coaching the team, but his duties as basketball tutor taxed him too heavily, so he relinquished the grid post.

While his successor, Delaplaine, has not been coaching football teams since he has been connected with the Philadelphia public high schools, his knowledge of the game is as extensive as that of any other tutor in the city.

Delaplaine was a star player at Swarthmore College years ago. He was one of the best "little" men ever to play at the Garnet institution and was tutored by the late Robert W. Maxwell, who coached Swarthmore then.

At the present time Delaplaine is the physical director at the Western school. He also finds time to coach the track team, which he brought through to the high school championship of the city last spring. It was the Orange and Blue's first track championship.

Pony Races at Narragansett Pier

Narragansett Pier, Aug. 23.—Pony races and gymkhana at the Point Judith Polo Club yesterday afternoon lured villa colony into the Narragansett region out in force to witness the varied events in which women of the colony took part as well as the men, among them being Mrs. Philip Stevenson, of New York; Miss Elizabeth Altemus and Miss Gertrude Conoway, of Philadelphia; Mrs. Pierce Butler, New York, and Miss Ethel Dempsey, Boston. Miss Eugenia Cassatt, of Philadelphia, is at the Massasoit.

FLOYD FITZ OUTA LUCK AS PROMOTER

Has Two Abandoned Arenas on Hands—Faces Serious Financial Losses

ALL HIS MATCHES FLIV

Chicago, Aug. 23.—The humble boxing fan pats his flat pocketbook and dreams of fabulous property that comes to the boxing promoter who is made rich overnight.

But all is not sunshine and roses for the promoters. Some come out ahead, but the extraordinary case of Floyd Fitzsimmons, the Michigan City (Ind.) promoter, today furnishes a shining illustration of what may happen to the unlucky.

Fitzsimmons not only faces serious financial losses, but has on his hands an abandoned arena at Benton Harbor, Mich., where Jack Dempsey battered Billy Miske to defeat in three rounds two years ago, and the beautiful structure at Michigan City, Ind., in which Fitzsimmons intended to stage a match between Dempsey and Bill Brennan on Labor Day.

Fitzsimmons is said to face a loss of $100,000 as a result of Governor McCray's opposition to the heavyweight contest Labor Day.

The unlucky promoter started the season with a lightweight match July 4 between Benny Leonard, the titleholder, and Rocky Kansas, the Buffalo challenger.

The receipts did not come up to expectations and after all expenses had been paid, Fitzsimmons, in the language of the ring, was left with about the price of a cup of coffee.

With the gates at $54,000, Leonard walked away with $25,000, while Kansas received about $15,000.

Disaster began to creep up to Fitzsimmons when he staged the match between Leonard and Ever Hammer, a Chicagoan, on August 5. Leonard had been guaranteed $20,000.

The receipts were just above $21,000 and left Fitzsimmons with a loss of about $8000. He was obliged to dig into his pockets to meet Hammer's share and also for the preliminaries and expenses of promotion.

Fitzsimmons is now left with a costly arena on his hands in which he can stage nothing more exciting than sparring matches.

MADDONA CLOSING GAP ON CARMAN

Italian Now Only Six Points Behind Leader for Point-Score Honors

TO MEET HERE IN MATCH

Threatening Clarence Carman for the individual points score motor-paced laurels for 1922, Vincenzo Maddonna, the Italian, has cut down the American's advantage by several notches, being only six points in back of the Jamaica flier to date.

Carman, with a total of 127, is on the top rung, closely followed by Maddona with 121. By taking the runner-up position Vincenzo passed Victor Linart, who is now third with 118.

George Chapman, the Philadelphia boy, has increased his total so much so that he went by both Jules Miquel and Frank Corry, now being in fourth place with 111.

Maddona, who is in Philadelphia practicing for his match race tomorrow night at the Philadelphia Velodrome, Point Breeze Park, against Carman, is confident that it is a matter of only another week or so before he will flit past Clarence in the points score column.

"I know that I cannot take the lead away from Carman by winning tomorrow," said Maddona last night, "but I can cut down his lead by three points, which I feel sure that I will be able to do.

"The following week, I am confident, I will be up there on top. I am riding in better shape ever since recovering from my injured collarbone, and I expect to clean up from now on."

The Maddona-Carman match will be in three sprints, the first heat being ten miles, the second fifteen miles and the third, if necessary, ten.

Another match race of interest will bring together Willie Spencer and Orlando Piani. The former was crowned American champion for 1922 last week.

Golf by Lantern Light on Pittsburgh Links

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 23.—Golf by the light of lanterns was the order at the Pittsburgh Field Club late yesterday, where the annual invitation tournament is in progress.

Due to a heavy fog in the morning, the first contestants were late starting. This threw the entire field out of balance, and the last ten pairs to take to the links found dusk setting rapidly. At the thirty-third hole they could not see the flag, so lanterns were brought out and placed on the greens. The golfers shot at the lights and succeeded in finishing the round.

MILFORD MEYER ELIMINATED FROM BOYS' NET CLASSIC

Last of Philadelphians Is Put Out of Nationals

Boston, Aug. 25.—The last of the invading Philadelphians was eliminated from the tournament for the national boys' lawn tennis singles championship when Milford Meyer, of Central High School, holder of the Pennsylvania State doubles title along with Milton Hofkin, was put out by M. T. Hill, of Lonswood, at the Longwood Cricket Club here today.

Meyer put up a stiff battle against the local youth, but the Philadelphia southpaw was finally forced to acknowledge the superiority of his opponent after three furious sets, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3.

Donald Strachan, of Germantown Academy, holder of the national clay courts championship; Sandy Wiener, Bill Tilden's protege, who also hails from the Germantown Academy, and Milton Hofkin, of Central High, Pennsylvania State singles and doubles titleholder, had been previously eliminated.

Today's results follow:

Junior Singles

THIRD ROUND

W. W. Ingraham, Harvard, defeated Julius Sagalowsky, Indianapolis, 6-1, 6-1.
Louis S. White, Texas, defeated A. C. Ingraham, Providence, 6-1, 6-2.
A. W. Jones, Providence, defeated George M. Lott, Jr., Chicago, 6-3, 6-4.
J. F. Whitbeck, Hartford, defeated Clyde Rosenberger, Chicago, 6-1, 6-1.

Boys' Singles

THIRD ROUND

M. T. Hill, Longwood, defeated Milford Meyer, Philadelphia, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3.
Stuart Gayness, Berkeley, Calif., defeated R. R. Shumaker, Boston, 6-3, 6-1.

CARTWRIGHT DETERMINED TO STOP ALL ROWDYISM

P. B. A. President Fines Two More Semi-Pro Players

George P. Cartwright, president of the Philadelphia Baseball Association, is determined to eliminate rowdyism from the semi-pro games.

Bob Hamilton, of Stenton, was chased from the field by Umpire Rekus, of South Phils-Chester fame, for cussing when his team played against Bridesburg last Monday evening. In the game between Philadelphia Terminal and Stonehurst, at Forty-eighth and Walnut streets, last night, Umpire Moore chased Ed Ralston, of the Railroad nine, from the contest for throwing dirt at his highness.

Cartwright received the reports of both umpires last night and immediately decided to fine both players. He also announced that the four Chester players—Jake Munch, Bris Lord, Bill Pierson and Ayou—whom he fined for participation in the riot at Shetzline Park, Broad and Bigler streets, August 17, had until tonightto pay their fines. In case they do not, they will be suspended indefinitely and will have to apply for reinstatement.

PETER MANNING TO START

Will Go After Track Record at Poughkeepsie

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Aug. 23.—Peter Manning 1:57¾ is expected to be started for the first time this season at the Hudson River Driving Park this afternoon in the second day of the grand circuiting to lower the local track record of 2:01¾, held by St. Frisco.

Today's program includes two-year-olds, 2:00 trots for purses of $2000 each and a free-for-all pace for which the eligibles are Margaret Dillon, John Henry, Islander and Jimmy McKerron.

Boston Printers Win, 14 to 1

Cleveland, Aug. 23.—The Boston printers defeated Indianapolis, 14 to 1, here yesterday in the final game of the first round of play in the Union Printers' International Baseball Tournament.

THREE BIG FEATURES IN NATIONAL DOUBLES

Elimination of Spanish Team, Defeat of Voshell and Hardy, and Close Call of Davis and H. Johnson Stand Out in Second Day's Play

By WILLIAM T. TILDEN, 2d

Boston, Aug. 23.

ELIMINATION of the Spanish Davis Cup team, the defeat of the veterans, S. H. Voshell and Samuel Hardy, by the national junior champions, Arnold Jones and W. W. Ingraham, and the narrow escape from defeat of the Kinsey brothers at the hands of Willis Davis and Harry Johnson were the features of the second day's play in the national doubles championship at the Longwood Cricket Club's Chestnut Hill courts.

The four "seeded" teams advanced according to schedule, the Australians, Gerald Patterson and Pat O'Hara Wood, and "Little Bill" Johnston and Wallace Johnson, each winning two matches. R. N. Williams and Watson Washburn scored a surprisingly decisive victory over Manuel Alonso and Count Manuel de Gomar, the Spaniards, 6-4, 6-1, 6-2, while Vincent Richards and I ran through the veterans, Holcombe Ward and Dwight Davis, 6-0, 6-3, 6-1.

The victory of Jones and Ingraham over Hardy and Voshell was due in a large measure to the ability of the junior champions to take the net away from their older opponents.

THE effect of their recent play abroad was shown by their willingness to take daring chances to reach the net, even in the face of the other team holding the advantage in position.

IN THE early stages the boys lobbed with great success, breaking up the usually smooth teamwork of the New York stars. After two sets of sensational volleying Jones and Ingraham lapsed for a short period, which allowed Hardy and Voshell to take the set at 6-2. At this time Hardy, who had been uncertain in his volleying, flashed his best form.

Break Voshell's Service

It seemed that the youngsters had made a fatal tactical error by not driving on to victory in the third set, as the veteran pair rushed away to a 4-1 lead in the fourth set.

However, the junior champions braced, and in a series of sensational rallies pulled even to 4-all and finally broke Voshell's service in the seventeenth game after the left-hander had led at 40 love. They then won the match on their own delivery, the scores being 6-2, 7-5, 2-6, 10-8.

Willis Davis and Harry Johnson had the match in hand against the Kinsey brothers when they led two sets to none and 6-5 by virtue of breaking Howard's service, only to throw away the opportunity when Johnson dropped his delivery. Throughout the first half of the match Willis Davis dominated the court.

Harry Johnson, with his crafty, short, soft shots, made openings which the giant Californian took full advantage of. But with the golden opportunity passed Davis lapsed badly and Johnson was not severe enough to put the ball out of reach of the long-armed and fleet-footed Kinsey.

Thus the advantage, which had definitely rested with Davis and Johnson, passed into the hands of the California pair, who were never in danger of defeat after winning the third set at 10-8. The match was theirs by 3-6, 4-6, 10-8, 6-2, 6-2.

DICK WILLIAMS and Watty Washburn showed they had fully recovered from the slump which hit them in the finals at Newport by crushing and outclassing Alonso and De Gomar, of Spain. The play was of the hard-hitting, sensational type, which delighted the well-filled stands.

with Williams and Alonso starring for their respective teams.

AS ALWAYS, Alonso with his remarkable speed of foot and ability to make the most extraordinary recoveries, won the crowd. De Gomar's inability to make his service returns offensive continually kept the continental stars on the defensive with the result that even Alonso's brilliancy could not put them within striking distance of the match.

Easy for Anzacs

Patterson and Pat Wood, the Australian Davis Cup challengers, had a comfortable workout over two matches against local pairs, in which they dropped but four games in six sets.

"Little Bill" Johnston and Wallace Johnson nearly duplicated the feat of the Australians by running through two matches with the loss of eight games.

The features for today bring Hennessey and Wesbrook against Patterson and Pat Wood, with all the odds on the Australians. Jones and Ingraham meet Richards and myself in the second big match of the day, and notwithstanding the magnificent showing of the junior champions we should qualify for the semi-nals.

B. H. Whitback, of New York, and David O'Loughlan, of Pittsburgh, entered the semi-final round of the national boys' championship by virtue of the victories over Bryan Donaldson, of Detroit, and Sandy Weiner, of Philadelphia, respectively.

O'Loughlan's victory over Weiner, after trailing, 3-5 and 15-40, in the first set, showed his splendid fighting temperament and willingness to grasp the opportunities which Weiner gave him by serving a double default on set point.

THE junior singles reach the "last eight" with all the favorites advancing according to dope.

VIRGINIA TOBACCO

Many's the merry yarn these old tars would spin while puffing their pipes of fragrant Virginia.

Fragrant old Virginia; best liked by those who know tobaccos best—for its unmatched mildness and natural purity of flavor.

For cigarettes Virginia tobacco is the best.
