

ARREST FOSTER IN "REVOLT PLOT"

Alleged Syndicalist Leader Denies He Attended Assemblage in Michigan

HELD FOR EXTRADITION

Chicago, Aug. 24.—Michigan's State syndicalism law was the first weapon State and Federal authorities planned to use today in breaking up what they termed one of the greatest radical and revolutionary conspiracies of recent years.

As seventeen men captured in a raid on their recent rendezvous in the woods of Berrien County, Michigan, faced syndicalist charges at St. Joseph today, William Z. Foster, head of the Trade Union Educational League, and leader of the steel strike of 1919 and regarded as one of the foremost radicals of America, who was arrested here, awaited extradition to Michigan.

Meanwhile State and Federal agents conducted their search for fifty others said to have escaped when the secret meeting in the hills was broken up. Among those who were taken to the authorities were looking was Rose Pastor Stokes, of New York, wealthy communist leader.

Foster denied he had been at the meeting in Berrien County. He said he had not been away from Chicago during the last few days, he was arrested at his office, which was raided by State's Attorney Crowe Sunday night.

Many Radicals Named
Records seized in the raid on Foster's headquarters here and at the Michigan offices of the word came to the authorities.

For several days preceding the gathering in the Berrien County woods, strangers dropped off trains at St. Joseph and Benton Harbor singly and in groups and in ones. They turned up later, according to Federal agents, at a forest near the village of Bridgman.

Burning pine knots furnished the light for the assembly in a lonely, wooded valley. Operatives for the Federal department who watched the gathering, notified their chiefs. In the meantime word that they were watched apparently reached the delegates to the radical convention, for many of them disappeared.

After the arrests after communications between Federal and local authorities, sheriff's deputies and Government operatives closed in.

Foster, who has been sought by Federal agents as one of those participating in an alleged radical convention held in a forest near Bridgman, Mich., was taken into custody while in the office of the Educational League. Foster strongly denied having attended the convention, which was raided by Federal operatives and State troops.

Later a Federal agent, accompanied by a representative of the police department and a private detective, searched Foster's apartment, but declared that they had found nothing of value. Meanwhile Foster was held in a police cell for extradition to Michigan.

"My arrest is an outrage," Foster declared. "I was not at a meeting in Michigan, and I will hire the best lawyers in the West to fight extradition."

It was said that the arrest was expected of two men said to represent the Soviet Government of Russia.

SEGREGATE ZION BATHERS
Overseer Wilbur J. Voliva Orders Beach Strollers Well Covered

Zion City, Ill., Aug. 24.—(By A. P.)—Wilbur J. Voliva, overseer of Zion, has decreed that in addition to keeping themselves well covered men and women bathers must be segregated at the Zion beach. A distance of ten feet must separate the men and women.

Every woman is required to wear a suit which, with black stockings, is a complete cover, excepting that the arms may be bare to the elbow. The skirt must extend six inches below the knee. Men's suits must extend below the knee with a long skirt.

HARRIET HAMMOND ASKS $118,500 FOR MOVIE SHOCK

Screen Actress, Burned in Dynamite Explosion, Files Suit
Los Angeles, Aug. 24.—The possible hazards of motion picture stars when in action "on the lot" have a chapter added in a damage suit filed against the Fox Film Corporation and other Fox companies by Harriet Hammond.

Miss Hammond gets a salary of $1000 a week for her ability as a screen actress but that, she said, was cut off summarily when a charge of dynamite was exploded so close to her that her face was burned and her nervous system so badly shocked that she had to forego her work. For this she claims $118,500 damages.

The screen star said that the premature explosion of the dynamite was due to gross recklessness and total disregard for her personal safety. Because of the mishap, she avers, she cannot fill her contracts at $1000 a week and is unable to "occupy herself in her profession as a motion picture actress."

Miss Hammond is one of Mack Sennett's stars.

REGINALD VANDERBILT ILL

Stricken With Rheumatism on Eve of Big Horse Show
Newport, Aug. 24.—Reginald C. Vanderbilt has been taken ill with inflammatory rheumatism at his Sandy Point Farm and has been ordered to bed by his attending physician, Dr. Harry J. Knapp.

It was announced the ailment, while not serious, would keep Mr. Vanderbilt confined to his home for the next few days, with a possibility of his interfering with his attendance at the Newport Horse Show, of which he is president and a prominent exhibitor.

THURSTON A SPIRITUALIST

Believes in Supernatural Manifestations, but Not in Doyle Brand
New York, Aug. 24.—Howard Thurston, the magician and psychic investigator, has announced he is ready to admit that the belief in spiritualistic communications expounded by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle and Sir Oliver Lodge, which he had ridiculed, is founded on something tangible.

"My latest experiments," said the conjurer in an interview yesterday, have finally convinced me, much against my will, that we are nearly always approached by some unearthly forces which seem to be trying to impart to us, or receive from us, some information.

PENROSE'S ELEPHANT GIVEN TO W. HARRY BAKER

Senator's Chauffeur Presents Auto Emblem to Republican Leader
The little bronze elephant that adorned the big red automobile of Senator Penrose will find a fitting resting place. The cherished fetish has passed from the hands of Walter Mencer, the late Senator's chauffeur, to W. Harry Baker, chairman of the Republican State Committee.

Many years ago the little bronze emblem was given to the "big chief" by an ardent admirer, and was fastened on the radiator of his machine. There it stayed while Penrose lived. When Senator Penrose died it was only fitting that Mencer should get the elephant. But somehow Mencer thought the bronze was too precious to remain in his hands.

"The bronze will occupy the space of honor on the walls of the Republican Campaign Committee headquarters," said Mr. Baker. "It brings back old memories every time I look at it."

After-Dinner Tricks

No. 248—The Dime and Handkerchief

A borrowed dime is wrapped in a handkerchief. A spectator holds the dime through the cloth. Suddenly the performer shakes out the handkerchief. The dime has disappeared.
A handkerchief with a broad hem must be used with a dime previously sewn in the hem. In placing the borrowed dime in the handkerchief the performer really retains it in his hand, but allows the spectator to feel the dime that is in the hem, which is folded inside the cloth. To make the dime "disappear," the performer simply takes one corner and shakes out the handkerchief.
