

EDGE PROPOSES U. S. OPERATION OF MINES

Amendment to Borah Bill, Later Withdrawn, Gives President Control of Coal

THREE MEASURES PENDING

Washington, Aug. 25.—The President would be authorized within his discretion to acquire, by condemnation or otherwise, and operate any or all of the coal mines in the territory under an amendment to the Borah coal commission bill proposed today by Senator Edge.

Text of Edge Amendment

The Edge amendment was offered during consideration of the Borah measure. It provides in detail: "That Congress hereby declares the existence of an emergency resulting from the economic and industrial conditions in the production and distribution of coal, and in order to provide coal for the army, navy and militia of the United States; (2) the Government of the United States; (3) the carrying of the mails and maintaining the postal service and the post-offices; (4) the maintenance of commerce with foreign nations and among the several States and with the Indian tribes; (5) the territories and possessions of the United States; (6) the execution of the laws of the United States; and (7) the safety and safety of the people of the United States, if he deems it necessary, and for such periods of time as he deems necessary, hereby authorized to acquire, by condemnation or otherwise, any or all of the coal mines within the United States, and to operate such mines and to distribute the coal therefrom, and to employ or create such agencies as he deems necessary.

BLIND BEGGAR WINS LIBERTY WITH STRAINS OF OLD VIOLIN

Sightless Medicant and Aged Mother Freed by Judge McDevitt After Impromptu Court Musicale

An impromptu musicale that lacked none of the melodious qualities of a prearranged event was given in the usual somber atmosphere of a courtroom today before Judge McDevitt and a host of attendees.

It was not a musicale in the ordinary sense of the word. It was, to be exact, a violin solo and the rendition of a number, while lacking the technique of a Kreisler, was enjoyed in full by an intent audience.

Yesterday a policeman came upon a bedraggled musician, who, accompanied by an elderly woman, like attire, was standing at Ninth and Market streets playing a violin and accepting contributions. The policeman arrested them as vagrants.

The Judge joined the audience in a brief applause and then suggested that Palmer play "The Star Spangled Banner." Every one stood up and the blind man played once more. Then he listened for the verdict.

"I agree with your counsel that you are a musician and that it is my duty to do that which is only one thing for me to do and that is to discharge you and commend you on your ability."

When the musician finished he paused a moment and then followed with an Irish jig. His mother smiled complacently.

Chaplain Dies

THE REV. G. S. GASSNER Who was chaplain at Seaman's Church Institute for twenty years

REV. G. S. GASSNER DIES AT AGE OF 72

Was Chaplain of Seaman's Church Institute for Twenty Years
The Rev. George Sears Gassner, for twenty years chaplain of the Seaman's Church Institute at Front and Queen streets and known to almost every sailor who has made this port, died this morning in the Episcopal Hospital.

He was seventy-two years old. He had been in good health until two weeks ago, when he suffered a stroke of paralysis. He had been conscious for only part of the time since then.

Although the Rev. Mr. Gassner's career was an unusually long and active one, the most conspicuous part of his work was during his term of service with the Institute, particularly during the unemployment period of 1914, when his work among seamen stranded here gave him a reputation that was carried to virtually every part of the globe.

He was born in Germantown, O. He attended the Iowa Wesleyan University and after his graduation began an ecclesiastical career as a Methodist preacher. After eight years he joined the Anglican faith and was ordained priest in 1884. His first assignment was to the Trinity Cathedral in Eastern Maryland. In 1886 he was transferred to St. Johnland, New York, and five years later to St. George's Church in Kansas City.

Later he became rector of Christ Church at Delaware City, and then of the Anglican Church in Charleston, S. C. In 1899 he was given charge of the Chapel of the Redeemer, or as it is now better known, of the Seaman's Church Institute. He conducted services in place of clergymen who were absent from their churches.

During his later years the Rev. Mr. Gassner lived at 4028 Bowler avenue. A widow and several children by his second marriage survive him.

APPEAL ON COAL TAXES
Penna. Anthracite Operators Notify Attorney General Alter
Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 25.—Two-thirds of the anthracite coal tax for the last half of 1921, when the tax became operative, has been approved by the Dauphin County Court by the coal producers, and Auditor General Lewis today notified Attorney General Alter eight-sixty-seven copies of a petition, as assessed as anthracite tax had been taken.

The Attorney General will certify them to the Dauphin County Court, where hearings will be held in a short time.

This action, which involves a record number of appeals, about half the anthracite operators and more than $2,000,000 in coal tax, was taken in accordance with the position of the Auditor General that appeals should be presented following the decision of the Supreme Court upholding the act of 1921. The total anthracite tax amount to $3,273,840, of which $7942 has been paid by eighteen operators.

HOLD CLOTHING SUSPECT
Thomas Grady Had Stolen Shirts in Possession, Is Charged
Thomas Grady, sixty-eight street near Green's Ferry road, was held in $1000 bail for the Grand Jury by Magistrate Becher, in the Park and Lehigh avenues police station this afternoon, charged with having stolen goods in his possession.

Grady was arrested last night in Broad Street Station as he was about to board a train with a number of shirts which the police say were stolen from Jacob Miller Sons & Co., Sixteenth and Reed streets.

Grady was formerly employed as a stockkeeper by the shirt manufacturing concern. Officers of the company say they have been robbed of more than $4000 worth of shirts and material.
