

MISS LAURA BIDDLE as Gudrad

MISS CATHERINE WHARTON MORRIS, a Viking dancer

HUNTING FOR GROUSE. Mrs. George J. Gould, formerly Vera Sudafr, who married the American millionaire in Paris, goes gunning on Gould estate at Grant Castle, England. She is accompanied by a gun carrier. At the right is Howard Gould, a brother of George J. Gould

DR. ROBERT P. ELMER, national champion. He lives at Wayne, Pa.

MISS DOROTHY D. SMITH, of Newbury Center, Mass., is the national women's archery champ

Two of the best in the world. Dr. Elmer is standing beside the target on which he won the Robin Hood Trophy, presented by Douglas Fairbanks

READY TO START THEIR CHAMPION. Three contestants in a tub race at public bathhouse, Eleventh street and Girard avenue, where many races were held yesterday

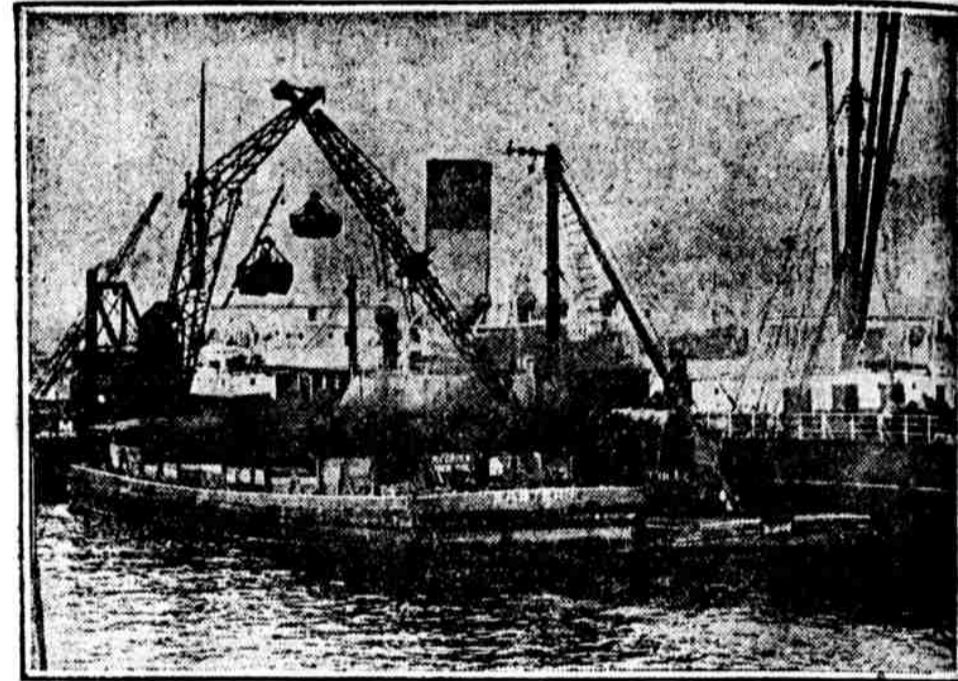

PEGGY O'NEIL is home. She's been doing Europe on a long vacation. Was a passenger on the Majestic

CARMEL MYERS, an actress, brought suit for divorce from Isadore B. Kornblum, in Los Angeles. She says his love cooled

INDEPENDENCE HALL closed Sunday. This fair tourist wanted a peep at the Liberty Bell.

PHILADELPHIA GETS BRITISH COAL. In the Delaware River, opposite Gloucester, the British steamship Nortonian is being unloaded. The purchase of British coal is due to the shortage caused by the coal strike

MISS CAROLINE McFADDEN during a tennis tourney at Merion Cricket Club

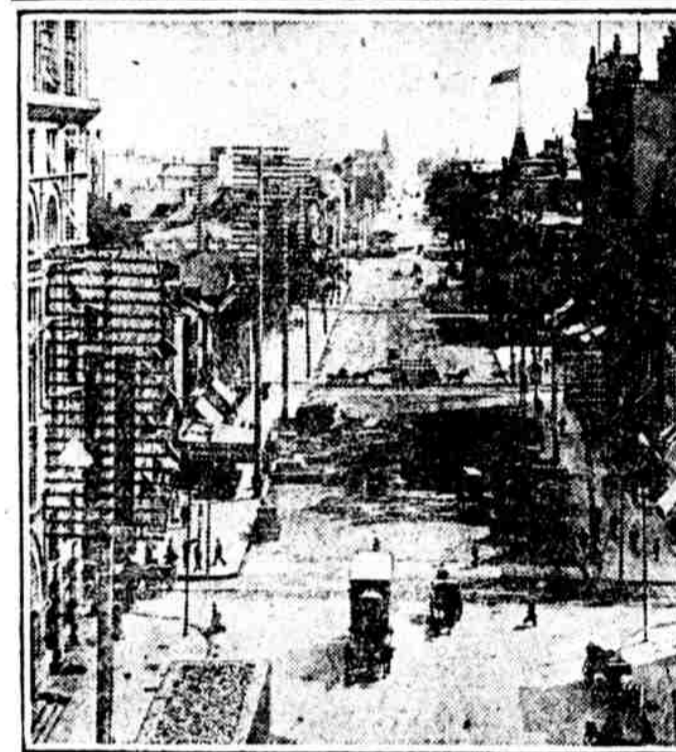

LAW STUDENTS ON HIKE. W. Jeff Adams (wearing hat) and Franklin T. Barrett, of Baltimore. They applied to Central Station for a night's lodging

WILLIAM PHILLIPS, Under-Secretary of State, in charge of department in absence of the Secretary

CAN YOU RECALL THIS BIT OF OLD PHILADELPHIA?

NORTH BROAD STREET, as a photograph made in the late eighties from City Hall pictured it. F. L. Thomson, Jr., of Bridesburg, is the contributor. Send us your old Philadelphia photographs

ROCHELLE NEIMAN, 4715 N. Hutchinson street, prize winner in North Philadelphia carnival

GOING BACK TO CHICAGO. Bernice Tandler and Louella Bowman, of the Western city, biked to New York and are now returning

VIVIAN LEOPOLD, of 800 West Oakdale street, was in parade held by Imhof Post of the American Legion

VIRGINIA PEARSON talking to a bird at the Zoo. Mind you, the bird "talked" right back to the birdhouse visitor

LOUIS LIEBSTER, thirteen months, a first-prize winner in a West Philadelphia baby show

THEY DON'T MIND CHILLY BREEZES. Seven Philadelphia lads enjoy a swim in the waters of Gustine Lake. They smiled well for the cameraman

HARRY STANDIFORD, of Almas Temple of Shriners, Washington, planning entertainment of Imperial Council

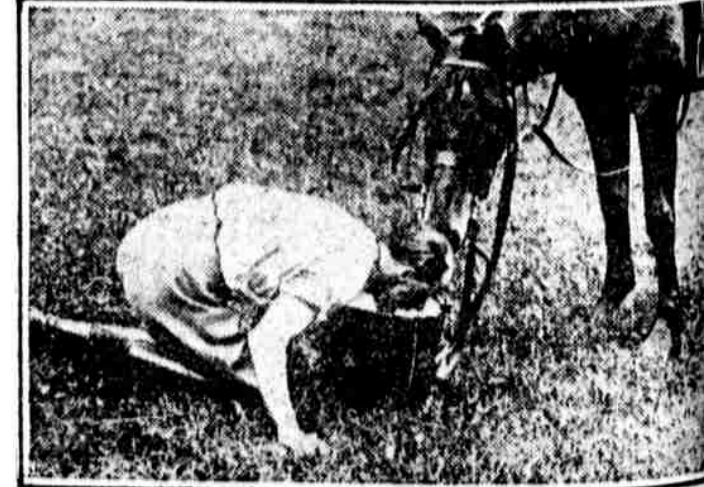

FAMILY OF SLAIN ACTOR. Mrs. May Bergen, widow of Jack Bergen, who was murdered at Edgewater, N. J., and their daughter Margaret, who is five years old

SUMMER SCHOOL operated by the Federation of Jewish Charities at Fifth and Green streets closed yesterday. Bestic Weiner (left) and Nancy Peller gave a costume dance

YES, THE FOOTBALL SEASON IS CLOSE AT HAND. Coach A. C. Wertsch (left) took the Lansdowne High School squad to the Lansdowne Playgrounds yesterday and the boys were given their first bit of 1922-23-season training. Over at the right is Bundy Brown, the star tackle

LOOKS AS IF THE RIDER WAS CHEATING the horse out of a drink. Not so. It's all part of an obstacle race. The master must get one apple from pail before he can proceed