ATTRACTIVE GROUP OF SUB-DEBUTANTES

ALREADY affairs social are begin-not had mine read by Mildred, but Florence has read it, and she is fine. Johnny to look up near nome. Some people are back at their suburban homes and invitations are beginning to come in rather thick and fast for the horse show and pole entertaining, and there will be some dinners for the visiting tennis players next week, as well.

The international fennis starts at Manheim on Friday of next week, you know, and goes through the following week. Usually you can't tell how long tennis will no; it depends on how long the players last. Some sets seem to go on forever, if both players are in good form, while others are very short.

Of course, for the international games the days and times for the sets are beginning to come and their safe in the sets are the days and times for the sets are bordered in the large i on forever, if both players are in good form, while others are very short.

Of course, for the international games the days and times for the sets are beduled, so these at least will last through the allotted time.

There's the girls' national championship at the Philadelphia Cricket Club mext week, too. And some of our players are at Cedarhurst this week taking part in the tournament at the Bockaway Club. Phyllis Waish, who is playing very good tennis this year, defeated her opponent Thursday, and Virginia Carpenter defeated Mrs. J. C.

Bush in the first round and Caroma Winn in the second. There seems to be a great many players up there, and he a great many players up there, and I hear that many are entered for the drls championship here next week.

WELL, it's positive that Isabel Da First, every one said she was, and then every one said she was not, so I thought it about time to get the in-formation first hand, and inquired. She formation first hand, and inquired. She not only is not "coming out," but she's "going over." She and Frances Mills, the Paul Denckla Mills' daughter, will sail very shortly for Europe with Mrs. Mills, who will place them at school with Mme. Ozanne in Paris for the year: Mrs. Mills' sister. Mary Paul Munn, and her husband and family have taken an anaryment in Paris have taken an apartment in Paris ly have taken an apartment in Paris-for the winter and will go over there from Lendon about the first of next-menth. That makes it very nice for Frances. I do think you must feelawfully far away from every one when awfully far away from every one when you are only sixteen or seventeen and the ocean is between you and your family. But when you have a perfectly good aunt and uncle and that cunning cousin, Pauline Munn, right in the same city with you, you can't get too lonely. And the Da Costa girls have been very intimate with the Mills always, you know, so Isabel and Frances will doubtle a have a wonder-ul winter together.

Jessie Da Costa, Isabel's older sister. who came out a couple of years ago. is much better these days, I hear. You know she had a bad case of appendicitis in the early summer, and was ation. She has been in the Adiron-dacks for several weeks, and returned from Upper Saranac only lately.

DID you hear about the golf feat which Peggy Thayer and Helen Bennett, of Baltimore, accomplished the other day at the Misquamicut Golf Club? They played 108 holes in eleven hours, and I hear it is believed to be a record in endurance and consecutive. Peggy and Helen started out at 5:50 A. M. (and you know that meant rising at 4:30) and they finished their course, which extended over 5671 yards, at 4:30 P. M.
