

THE WEATHER

Fair and continued warm tonight and Thursday; gentle variable winds.
TEMPERATURE AT EACH HOUR

8	9	10	11	12	1	2	3	4	5
78	76	81	86	80	90	91

VOL. VIII—NO. 305

NIGHT EXTRA

Published Daily Except Sunday. Subscription Price $5 a Year by Mail. Copyright, 1922, by Public Ledger Company. PRICE TWO CENTS

FIREMEN HURT AT $125,000 FIRE IN NORRISTOWN

Thirty Horses, Thirty Cows and Several Hundred Chickens Are Burned to Death

Entire block fronting on Main st. destroyed

Forty families flee homes. Parking belongings on pavement

Thirty horses, thirty cows and several hundred chickens were burned to death, firemen were injured and a three-story early-nickel stable was destroyed early this morning in a fire which swept an entire block in Norristown, burning seven hours. The loss is estimated at $125,000.

The stable, belonging to the T. C. C. Horse Bazaar and Sale Company, fronted on Main street, below Franklin street, and extended back to Franklin street, a distance of 400 feet.

Surrounding the stable were two-story dwellings, four of which caught fire and were saved only after quick action on the part of firemen. Two of the dwellings were badly damaged when a wall of the burning building collapsed. Members of several families narrowly escaped death. A panic was narrowly averted among inmates of St. Joseph's Proctory for Girls, which faces the stable on Main street.

More than forty families fled from their homes with belongings which they packed on the pavement.

Among the firemen injured were Samuel D. Crawford, assistant chief of the fire department; Richard Marsh and James Bolton. They were sent to the Montgomery Hospital. Their injuries were not serious.

Other injured firemen were attended by Red Cross workers under direction of Mrs. Walter S. Schriver. These women were on the scene almost as quickly as the firemen.

The fire gave Norristown's Safety Police Committee an opportunity to issue for the citizens a pamphlet. This committee, recently organized, is composed of ten firemen from each of the volunteer companies. They quickly covered the entire neighborhood, headed in getting a score of families and their belongings out to safety.

Many persons, a number of whom were carried from their homes by the fire, threatened to sue the city, an invalid, was lowered from a second-story window by means of a pole.

Firemen hampered by the lack of water. Shortly after 1 o'clock the family of Thomas Mandulosa had a narrow escape when a wall of the burning building fell against Mandulosa's house. The occupants were preparing to flee at the time.

The flames flashed against the sky and could be seen for miles around. Arrived, filled with citizens, were hurried to the fire from every corner of the city and surrounding country. Trolleys were filled to capacity with excited passengers on their way to the scene.

Justice of the Peace Puché, who lives opposite the destroyed stable, was the discoverer of the fire. He was preparing to retire at midnight when he glanced across the street and saw flames shooting from a second-story window. He immediately telephoned to police headquarters and sounded an alarm.

Neighbors Aroused

Tom Puché ran from his home and aroused his neighbors, most of whom stayed for the night. Within a few minutes a number of fire engines, with the blazing hook rushed to the scene and began rescuing the inmates, whose cries were heard for several blocks.

So quickly did the blaze gain headway that by the time a score of firemen had been led from the building by the doors and began rescuing the inmates, whose cries were heard for several blocks.

The Puché and his aides saw that the building was in flames and that the fire was spreading rapidly. They saw that the fire was spreading rapidly. They saw that the fire was spreading rapidly.

CHAUFFEUR HELD UP $4650 AUTO TAKEN

Car Owned by Robert P. Brown, Paper Box Maker, Stolen by Three Bandits

Robbers Use a Pistol

A touring car, belonging to Robert P. Brown, of Arnelite, 176 West Chelton avenue, and president of a paper-box manufacturing company at Franklin and Willow streets, was stolen by bandits at 6 o'clock last evening.

James Wilson, Mr. Brown's chauffeur, was talking the machine to the garage at Wayne and Chelton avenues. He stopped at Harvey street and Wayne avenue, intending to call on W. J. Ferguson, a friend with whom Wilson was planning to take a vacation trip.

As Wilson was about to step out of the car, another machine, with three men in it, stopped beside him, the men jumped out, and one of them pointed a pistol at him.

"We want that car—get out of it quick," said the armed man.

One of the hoodlums jumped into the machine and the two cars fled. A car was found abandoned at Seventeenth and Walnut streets at 7 o'clock this morning. The police think it is the machine belonging to Mr. Brown late today will try to identify it.

James Wilson, Mr. Brown's chauffeur, was talking the machine to the garage at Wayne and Chelton avenues. He stopped at Harvey street and Wayne avenue, intending to call on W. J. Ferguson, a friend with whom Wilson was planning to take a vacation trip.

2 REPORTED MISSING

Girl, 22, Disappeared in January; Man, 42, Last Saturday

Mrs. Anna McClellan, of 4312 J. P. S. street, reported to the police today that her twenty-two-year-old daughter Mary had been missing since last January.

The mother said her daughter had last been seen in New York City. Mary was described as pretty.

The detective also has been asked to find the missing man, forty-two years old, 111 North Fifty-fourth street. He has been missing since last Saturday.

Last night Camden detectives informed the detective bureau that they had found A. Litvack, eight years old, wandering about the streets of Camden. The boy could not give his address, saying that he lived near Fifth and Walnut streets. A search is being made today to locate relatives here.

Mrs. Velva Smith, of Sherburne, N. Y., has asked detectives here to locate her son who she believes to be in this city. He left Sherburne August 16 on a bicycle "bike" to Winston-Salem, N. C.

6 ROBBERIES NET $2350

Clothing, Jewelry and Silverware Included in Loot

In six robberies reported to the police today clothing, jewelry and silverware were stolen with an aggregate value of $2350.

A suitcase was stolen from the automobile of Charles Huston, 2021 South Safford street, while it was parked at Third and Sanson streets. The suitcase contained clothing and six books of music valued, in all at $1100.

The home of Mrs. S. Leopold, 5570 Pine street, was entered and silverware and clothing valued at $112 stolen.

Angelo Manzo, 1016 Salter street, reported the theft of silverware and diamonds from his home, valued at $200.

Maude Pfeil, 1728 Denon street, was robbed of $213 worth of clothing and jewelry while she was absent from her home.

A $150 diamond watchpin was stolen from Samuel N. Levin, 6940 Haverford avenue.

Mrs. Samuel Snow, 915 North Fifty-first street, was robbed of a revolver and lavallier, valued at $115.

BOTTLE CRASH SCARES CAMDEN INTRUDER

Child's Mishap Results in Chase and Arrest of Alleged Burglar

The crash of bottles knocked over by a child at midnight frightened a man trying to break into the home of William A. Suggs, 23 North Thirtieth street, Camden, and led to a spectacular chase to Mercantileville, where the fugitive was taken from a trolley car.

Suggs, a sea captain, heard the man scrambling from his porch roof. He saw a Negro dart down Thirtieth street, and followed. A policeman and a trolley car and a patrolman returned with the trolley.

The Negro said he was John Maracchino, employed by a farmer at Moorestown.

The bottles were knocked over by a child in the home of George Gross, 29 North Thirtieth street, as it was trying to take a medicine bottle from a shelf.

UNIDENTIFIED MAN KILLED

Is Struck by Auto at Sixth Street and Erie Avenue

An unidentified man died at 11:50 o'clock last night in the Samaritan Hospital after he had been run down by an automobile at Sixth street and Erie avenue. The accident occurred about 10:30 o'clock, and the man died without being able to tell his name.

There were no identifying marks in his clothing. He was about sixty years old, had gray hair, and was wearing a gray striped suit and a straw hat.

VETERAN SLASHES SELF

James Carney, Shell-Shocked Down, Tries to Commit Suicide

James J. Carney, thirty-six years old, who served in the army during the war, attempted suicide at 4:45 this morning by slashing himself with a razor in his lodgings, 116 Haverford street, Roxborough.

Carney had suffered severely from shell shock during the war and was discharged from the army in 1918. He had been in the hospital for several months.

WOMAN HIT BY TRUCK

Became Confused When Driver Swerved Machine to Avoid Her

While attempting to cross Kensington avenue at Cambria street shortly at 11 o'clock this morning, a woman was struck by a truck. The driver ran his machine on the sidewalk in an effort to avoid hitting her.

According to witnesses, the woman had reached the middle of the street when the truck driver sounded the horn about ten feet from her. The woman, witnesses say, became confused and ran directly in front of the vehicle when it swerved up on the pavement to avoid striking her.

She was taken to the Episcopal Hospital and treated for cuts and bruises of the head, legs and hands.

P. Campbell, 128 Hoffman street, driver of the truck, was arrested.

DO YOU WANT A USED AUTOMOBILE?

The classified columns of the Evening Public Ledger list some of the best bargains to be found in Used Cars on page 31.—Adv.

LA FOLLETTE WINS BY GREAT MARGIN AT PRIMARY POLLS

Defeats Ganfield Decisively for Senatorial Nomination in Wisconsin

Entire State Ticket Victorious with Senator

"Drys" Beaten in Hot Fight as People Register Anti-Newberryism

By Associated Press

Milwaukee, Sept. 6.—Indications this afternoon were that Senator Robert M. La Follette had been overwhelmingly renominated in yesterday's primary election over W. A. Ganfield, of Waukesha, as Republican candidate for United States Senator at the November election. The vote reported from 1415 precincts out of 21,523 showed 188,006 for La Follette and 70,500 for Ganfield.

According to the returns, it appears that the people of this State indorsed the issues which La Follette had advocated at Washington, and upon which he sought renomination. These were opposition to the Esh-Cummins act, Newberryism, the Four-Power Treaty and his opposition to the policies of President Harding.

Mr. Ganfield, who went down to defeat, was the candidate of the citizens' Republican conference which had the backing of Senator Irvine I. Loring, Wisconsin junior Senator. He was supported also by the Anti-Saloon League, which asserted the fight in Wisconsin this year was "the most important wet and dry election in the United States."

Mr. Ganfield made more than 300 speeches during the campaign, in which he asked La Follette's retirement from public life because, he said, the senior Wisconsin Senator is an obstructionist in Congress, and as such of no use to the State in the upper house. Mr. Ganfield also charged La Follette with being radical in his tendencies.

Returns from 815 precincts show that the entire La Follette state ticket decisively overcame its opponents by large majorities, with the exception of Solomon Lovitov, who was leading, in the House of Representatives, against Henry Johnson, incumbent, for six successive terms.

Governor John J. Blaine led the State ticket, his victory being decisive over the Democratic nominee, William J. Morgan. The vote in 1289 precincts was Blaine, 148,328; Morgan, 72,323; and McHenry, 7887.

Hudson Maxim, as Father Neptune, with his crown-decked white hair, his beard, trident and other accessories, will land at the Inlet at 3 o'clock today. If there are any mermaids in the depths of the Atlantic they will lose "Pop's" allegiance when he greets the beauty phalanx.

Neptune will be greeted by an aerial salute and by Miss America (Margaret Gorman), of Washington, winner of the beauty contest and the golden mermaid last year. She will be attended by the Court of Honor, a selection of twenty beauties of Atlantic City.

And Miss Gorman is an important person. It is against her that all the beauties are competing. The trophy stands about two feet high. It is as broad as the base.

The golden mermaid lies on a boulder of granite surmounted upon bronze, realistically furnished and carved to represent the fair maids from many plates in the form of sea shells. On one of these is engraved each year the name of the winner. To retain possession of the trophy the contestant must win it three times.

Great Gathering Tonight

The intercity beauties will view Father Neptune at 3 o'clock, but he will secretly desire to notice them. It is tonight when he will formally meet them. Tonight, at the Garden Pier Theatre, after a vaudeville entertainment and a dance, they will smile their prettiest and hope that he will slip a good word for them to the beauty judges Friday.

Crowds—yes, men were in the majority assembled in front of the hotel's sheltering "Fourth District." This is Miss Price's name for maids who after their rest and kindly awaiting the judging.

"Beautiful or Bust" seemed to be the motto of the prize winners last night. "Please go 'way, and let me sleep and call me for nobody but the royal 'himself,'" said Miss Mollinoux.

Must Have Her Sleep

"And I am going to sleep as much as I can," laughed "Miss News-Oleander," Marie Price, who has long brown curls and the haunting smile of Mona Lisa herself. "And I won't go near the water. I see lots of little lobstermen. This is Miss Price's name for maids who take around a thick coat of tan."

And she smiled, and her smile said as plain as plain could be: "For I have had a beautiful sleep."

They all want to win the $5000 golden mermaid.

Yesterday the beauties swooped down upon the playground by sea life an undiscovered.

LA FOLLETTE WINS BY GREAT MARGIN AT PRIMARY POLLS

Defeats Ganfield Decisively for Senatorial Nomination in Wisconsin

Entire State Ticket Victorious with Senator

"Drys" Beaten in Hot Fight as People Register Anti-Newberryism

By Associated Press

Milwaukee, Sept. 6.—Indications this afternoon were that Senator Robert M. La Follette had been overwhelmingly renominated in yesterday's primary election over W. A. Ganfield, of Waukesha, as Republican candidate for United States Senator at the November election. The vote reported from 1415 precincts out of 21,523 showed 188,006 for La Follette and 70,500 for Ganfield.

According to the returns, it appears that the people of this State indorsed the issues which La Follette had advocated at Washington, and upon which he sought renomination. These were opposition to the Esh-Cummins act, Newberryism, the Four-Power Treaty and his opposition to the policies of President Harding.

Mr. Ganfield, who went down to defeat, was the candidate of the citizens' Republican conference which had the backing of Senator Irvine I. Loring, Wisconsin junior Senator. He was supported also by the Anti-Saloon League, which asserted the fight in Wisconsin this year was "the most important wet and dry election in the United States."

Mr. Ganfield made more than 300 speeches during the campaign, in which he asked La Follette's retirement from public life because, he said, the senior Wisconsin Senator is an obstructionist in Congress, and as such of no use to the State in the upper house. Mr. Ganfield also charged La Follette with being radical in his tendencies.

Returns from 815 precincts show that the entire La Follette state ticket decisively overcame its opponents by large majorities, with the exception of Solomon Lovitov, who was leading, in the House of Representatives, against Henry Johnson, incumbent, for six successive terms.

Governor John J. Blaine led the State ticket, his victory being decisive over the Democratic nominee, William J. Morgan. The vote in 1289 precincts was Blaine, 148,328; Morgan, 72,323; and McHenry, 7887.

Hudson Maxim, as Father Neptune, with his crown-decked white hair, his beard, trident and other accessories, will land at the Inlet at 3 o'clock today. If there are any mermaids in the depths of the Atlantic they will lose "Pop's" allegiance when he greets the beauty phalanx.

Neptune will be greeted by an aerial salute and by Miss America (Margaret Gorman), of Washington, winner of the beauty contest and the golden mermaid last year. She will be attended by the Court of Honor, a selection of twenty beauties of Atlantic City.

And Miss Gorman is an important person. It is against her that all the beauties are competing. The trophy stands about two feet high. It is as broad as the base.

The golden mermaid lies on a boulder of granite surmounted upon bronze, realistically furnished and carved to represent the fair maids from many plates in the form of sea shells. On one of these is engraved each year the name of the winner. To retain possession of the trophy the contestant must win it three times.

Great Gathering Tonight

The intercity beauties will view Father Neptune at 3 o'clock, but he will secretly desire to notice them. It is tonight when he will formally meet them. Tonight, at the Garden Pier Theatre, after a vaudeville entertainment and a dance, they will smile their prettiest and hope that he will slip a good word for them to the beauty judges Friday.

Crowds—yes, men were in the majority as assembled in front of the hotel's sheltering "Fourth District." This is Miss Price's name for maids who after their rest and kindly awaiting the judging.

"Beautiful or Bust" seemed to be the motto of the prize winners last night. "Please go 'way, and let me sleep and call me for nobody but the royal 'himself,'" said Miss Mollinoux.

Must Have Her Sleep

"And I am going to sleep as much as I can," laughed "Miss News-Oleander," Marie Price, who has long brown curls and the haunting smile of Mona Lisa herself. "And I won't go near the water. I see lots of little lobstermen. This is Miss Price's name for maids who take around a thick coat of tan."

And she smiled, and her smile said as plain as plain could be: "For I have had a beautiful sleep."

They all want to win the $5000 golden mermaid.

Yesterday the beauties swooped down upon the playground by sea life an undiscovered.

LA FOLLETTE WINS BY GREAT MARGIN AT PRIMARY POLLS

Defeats Ganfield Decisively for Senatorial Nomination in Wisconsin

Entire State Ticket Victorious with Senator

"Drys" Beaten in Hot Fight as People Register Anti-Newberryism

By Associated Press

Milwaukee, Sept. 6.—Indications this afternoon were that Senator Robert M. La Follette had been overwhelmingly renominated in yesterday's primary election over W. A. Ganfield, of Waukesha, as Republican candidate for United States Senator at the November election. The vote reported from 1415 precincts out of 21,523 showed 188,006 for La Follette and 70,500 for Ganfield.

According to the returns, it appears that the people of this State indorsed the issues which La Follette had advocated at Washington, and upon which he sought renomination. These were opposition to the Esh-Cummins act, Newberryism, the Four-Power Treaty and his opposition to the policies of President Harding.

Mr. Ganfield, who went down to defeat, was the candidate of the citizens' Republican conference which had the backing of Senator Irvine I. Loring, Wisconsin junior Senator. He was supported also by the Anti-Saloon League, which asserted the fight in Wisconsin this year was "the most important wet and dry election in the United States."

Mr. Ganfield made more than 300 speeches during the campaign, in which he asked La Follette's retirement from public life because, he said, the senior Wisconsin Senator is an obstructionist in Congress, and as such of no use to the State in the upper house. Mr. Ganfield also charged La Follette with being radical in his tendencies.

Returns from 815 precincts show that the entire La Follette state ticket decisively overcame its opponents by large majorities, with the exception of Solomon Lovitov, who was leading, in the House of Representatives, against Henry Johnson, incumbent, for six successive terms.

Governor John J. Blaine led the State ticket, his victory being decisive over the Democratic nominee, William J. Morgan. The vote in 1289 precincts was Blaine, 148,328; Morgan, 72,323; and McHenry, 7887.

Hudson Maxim, as Father Neptune, with his crown-decked white hair, his beard, trident and other accessories, will land at the Inlet at 3 o'clock today. If there are any mermaids in the depths of the Atlantic they will lose "Pop's" allegiance when he greets the beauty phalanx.

Neptune will be greeted by an aerial salute and by Miss America (Margaret Gorman), of Washington, winner of the beauty contest and the golden mermaid last year. She will be attended by the Court of Honor, a selection of twenty beauties of Atlantic City.

And Miss Gorman is an important person. It is against her that all the beauties are competing. The trophy stands about two feet high. It is as broad as the base.

The golden mermaid lies on a boulder of granite surmounted upon bronze, realistically furnished and carved to represent the fair maids from many plates in the form of sea shells. On one of these is engraved each year the name of the winner. To retain possession of the trophy the contestant must win it three times.

Great Gathering Tonight

The intercity beauties will view Father Neptune at 3 o'clock, but he will secretly desire to notice them. It is tonight when he will formally meet them. Tonight, at the Garden Pier Theatre, after a vaudeville entertainment and a dance, they will smile their prettiest and hope that he will slip a good word for them to the beauty judges Friday.

Crowds—yes, men were in the majority as assembled in front of the hotel's sheltering "Fourth District." This is Miss Price's name for maids who after their rest and kindly awaiting the judging.

"Beautiful or Bust" seemed to be the motto of the prize winners last night. "Please go 'way, and let me sleep and call me for nobody but the royal 'himself,'" said Miss Mollinoux.

Must Have Her Sleep

"And I am going to sleep as much as I can," laughed "Miss News-Oleander," Marie Price, who has long brown curls and the haunting smile of Mona Lisa herself. "And I won't go near the water. I see lots of little lobstermen. This is Miss Price's name for maids who take around a thick coat of tan."

And she smiled, and her smile said as plain as plain could be: "For I have had a beautiful sleep."

They all want to win the $5000 golden mermaid.

Yesterday the beauties swooped down upon the playground by sea life an undiscovered.

LA FOLLETTE WINS BY GREAT MARGIN AT PRIMARY POLLS

Defeats Ganfield Decisively for Senatorial Nomination in Wisconsin

Entire State Ticket Victorious with Senator

"Drys" Beaten in Hot Fight as People Register Anti-Newberryism

By Associated Press

Milwaukee, Sept. 6.—Indications this afternoon were that Senator Robert M. La Follette had been overwhelmingly renominated in yesterday's primary election over W. A. Ganfield, of Waukesha, as Republican candidate for United States Senator at the November election. The vote reported from 1415 precincts out of 21,523 showed 188,006 for La Follette and 70,500 for Ganfield.

According to the returns, it appears that the people of this State indorsed the issues which La Follette had advocated at Washington, and upon which he sought renomination. These were opposition to the Esh-Cummins act, Newberryism, the Four-Power Treaty and his opposition to the policies of President Harding.

Mr. Ganfield, who went down to defeat, was the candidate of the citizens' Republican conference which had the backing of Senator Irvine I. Loring, Wisconsin junior Senator. He was supported also by the Anti-Saloon League, which asserted the fight in Wisconsin this year was "the most important wet and dry election in the United States."

Mr. Ganfield made more than 300 speeches during the campaign, in which he asked La Follette's retirement from public life because, he said, the senior Wisconsin Senator is an obstructionist in Congress, and as such of no use to the State in the upper house. Mr. Ganfield also charged La Follette with being radical in his tendencies.

Returns from 815 precincts show that the entire La Follette state ticket decisively overcame its opponents by large majorities, with the exception of Solomon Lovitov, who was leading, in the House of Representatives, against Henry Johnson, incumbent, for six successive terms.

Governor John J. Blaine led the State ticket, his victory being decisive over the Democratic nominee, William J. Morgan. The vote in 1289 precincts was Blaine, 148,328; Morgan, 72,323; and McHenry, 7887.

Hudson Maxim, as Father Neptune, with his crown-decked white hair, his beard, trident and other accessories, will land at the Inlet at 3 o'clock today. If there are any mermaids in the depths of the Atlantic they will lose "Pop's" allegiance when he greets the beauty phalanx.

Neptune will be greeted by an aerial salute and by Miss America (Margaret Gorman), of Washington, winner of the beauty contest and the golden mermaid last year. She will be attended by the Court of Honor, a selection of twenty beauties of Atlantic City.

And Miss Gorman is an important person. It is against her that all the beauties are competing. The trophy stands about two feet high. It is as broad as the base.

The golden mermaid lies on a boulder of granite surmounted upon bronze, realistically furnished and carved to represent the fair maids from many plates in the form of sea shells. On one of these is engraved each year the name of the winner. To retain possession of the trophy the contestant must win it three times.

Great Gathering Tonight

The intercity beauties will view Father Neptune at 3 o'clock, but he will secretly desire to notice them. It is tonight when he will formally meet them. Tonight, at the Garden Pier Theatre, after a vaudeville entertainment and a dance, they will smile their prettiest and hope that he will slip a good word for them to the beauty judges Friday.

Crowds—yes, men were in the majority as assembled in front of the hotel's sheltering "Fourth District." This is Miss Price's name for maids who after their rest and kindly awaiting the judging.

"Beautiful or Bust" seemed to be the motto of the prize winners last night. "Please go 'way, and let me sleep and call me for nobody but the royal 'himself,'" said Miss Mollinoux.

Must Have Her Sleep

"And I am going to sleep as much as I can," laughed "Miss News-Oleander," Marie Price, who has long brown curls and the haunting smile of Mona Lisa herself. "And I won't go near the water. I see lots of little lobstermen. This is Miss Price's name for maids who take around a thick coat of tan."

And she smiled, and her smile said as plain as plain could be: "For I have had a beautiful sleep."

They all want to win the $5000 golden mermaid.

Yesterday the beauties swooped down upon the playground by sea life an undiscovered.

LA FOLLETTE WINS BY GREAT MARGIN AT PRIMARY POLLS

Defeats Ganfield Decisively for Senatorial Nomination in Wisconsin

Entire State Ticket Victorious with Senator

"Drys" Beaten in Hot Fight as People Register Anti-Newberryism

By Associated Press

Milwaukee, Sept. 6.—Indications this afternoon were that Senator Robert M. La Follette had been overwhelmingly renominated in yesterday's primary election over W. A. Ganfield, of Waukesha, as Republican candidate for United States Senator at the November election. The vote reported from 1415 precincts out of 21,523 showed 188,006 for La Follette and 70,500 for Ganfield.

According to the returns, it appears that the people of this State indorsed the issues which La Follette had advocated at Washington, and upon which he sought renomination. These were opposition to the Esh-Cummins act, Newberryism, the Four-Power Treaty and his opposition to the policies of President Harding.

Mr. Ganfield, who went down to defeat, was the candidate of the citizens' Republican conference which had the backing of Senator Irvine I. Loring, Wisconsin junior Senator. He was supported also by the Anti-Saloon League, which asserted the fight in Wisconsin this year was "the most important wet and dry election in the United States."

Mr. Ganfield made more than 300 speeches during the campaign, in which he asked La Follette's retirement from public life because, he said, the senior Wisconsin Senator is an obstructionist in Congress, and as such of no use to the State in the upper house. Mr. Ganfield also charged La Follette with being radical in his tendencies.

Returns from 815 precincts show that the entire La Follette state ticket decisively overcame its opponents by large majorities, with the exception of Solomon Lovitov, who was leading, in the House of Representatives, against Henry Johnson, incumbent, for six successive terms.

Governor John J. Blaine led the State ticket, his victory being decisive over the Democratic nominee, William J. Morgan. The vote in 1289 precincts was Blaine, 148,328; Morgan, 72,323; and McHenry, 7887.

Hudson Maxim, as Father Neptune, with his crown-decked white hair, his beard, trident and other accessories, will land at the Inlet at 3 o'clock today. If there are any mermaids in the depths of the Atlantic they will lose "Pop's" allegiance when he greets the beauty phalanx.

Neptune will be greeted by an aerial salute and by Miss America (Margaret Gorman), of Washington, winner of the beauty contest and the golden mermaid last year. She will be attended by the Court of Honor, a selection of twenty beauties of Atlantic City.

And Miss Gorman is an important person. It is against her that all the beauties are competing. The trophy stands about two feet high. It is as broad as the base.

The golden mermaid lies on a boulder of granite surmounted upon bronze, realistically furnished and carved to represent the fair maids from many plates in the form of sea shells. On one of these is engraved each year the name of the winner. To retain possession of the trophy the contestant must win it three times.

Great Gathering Tonight

The intercity beauties will view Father Neptune at 3 o'clock, but he will secretly desire to notice them. It is tonight when he will formally meet them. Tonight, at the Garden Pier Theatre, after a vaudeville entertainment and a dance, they will smile their prettiest and hope that he will slip a good word for them to the beauty judges Friday.

Crowds—yes, men were in the majority as assembled in front of the hotel's sheltering "Fourth District." This is Miss Price's name for maids who after their rest and kindly awaiting the judging.

"Beautiful or Bust" seemed to be the motto of the prize winners last night. "Please go 'way, and let me sleep and call me for nobody but the royal 'himself,'" said Miss Mollinoux.

Must Have Her Sleep

"And I am going to sleep as much as I can," laughed "Miss News-Oleander," Marie Price, who has long brown curls and the haunting smile of Mona Lisa herself. "And I won't go near the water. I see lots of little lobstermen. This is Miss Price's name for maids who take around a thick coat of tan."

And she smiled, and her smile said as plain as plain could be: "For I have had a beautiful sleep."

They all want to win the $5000 golden mermaid.

Yesterday the beauties swooped down upon the playground by sea life an undiscovered.

LA FOLLETTE WINS BY GREAT MARGIN AT PRIMARY POLLS

Defeats Ganfield Decisively for Senatorial Nomination in Wisconsin

Entire State Ticket Victorious with Senator

"Drys" Beaten in Hot Fight as People Register Anti-Newberryism

By Associated Press

Milwaukee, Sept. 6.—Indications this afternoon were that Senator Robert M. La Follette had been overwhelmingly renominated in yesterday's primary election over W. A. Ganfield, of Waukesha, as Republican candidate for United States Senator at the November election. The vote reported from 1415 precincts out of 21,523 showed 188,006 for La Follette and 70,500 for Ganfield.

According to the returns, it appears that the people of this State indorsed the issues which La Follette had advocated at Washington, and upon which he sought renomination. These were opposition to the Esh-Cummins act, Newberryism, the Four-Power Treaty and his opposition to the policies of President Harding.

Mr. Ganfield, who went down to defeat, was the candidate of the citizens' Republican conference which had the backing of Senator Irvine I. Loring, Wisconsin junior Senator. He was supported also by the Anti-Saloon League, which asserted the fight in Wisconsin this year was "the most important wet and dry election in the United States."

Mr. Ganfield made more than 300 speeches during the campaign, in which he asked La Follette's retirement from public life because, he said, the senior Wisconsin Senator is an obstructionist in Congress, and as such of no use to the State in the upper house. Mr. Ganfield also charged La Follette with being radical in his tendencies.

Returns from 815 precincts show that the entire La Follette state ticket decisively overcame its opponents by large majorities, with the exception of Solomon Lovitov, who was leading, in the House of Representatives, against Henry Johnson, incumbent, for six successive terms.

Governor John J. Blaine led the State ticket, his victory being decisive over the Democratic nominee, William J. Morgan. The vote in 1289 precincts was Blaine, 148,328; Morgan, 72,323; and McHenry, 7887.

Hudson Maxim, as Father Neptune, with his crown-decked white hair, his beard, trident and other accessories, will land at the Inlet at 3 o'clock today. If there are any mermaids in the depths of the Atlantic they will lose "Pop's" allegiance when he greets the beauty phalanx.

Neptune will be greeted by an aerial salute and by Miss America (Margaret Gorman), of Washington, winner of the beauty contest and the golden mermaid last year. She will be attended by the Court of Honor, a selection of twenty beauties of Atlantic City.

And Miss Gorman is an important person. It is against her that all the beauties are competing. The trophy stands about two feet high. It is as broad as the base.

The golden mermaid lies on a boulder of granite surmounted upon bronze, realistically furnished and carved to represent the fair maids from many plates in the form of sea shells. On one of these is engraved each year the name of the winner. To retain possession of the trophy the contestant must win it three times.

Great Gathering Tonight

The intercity beauties will view Father Neptune at 3 o'clock, but he will secretly desire to notice them. It is tonight when he will formally meet them. Tonight, at the Garden Pier Theatre, after a vaudeville entertainment and a dance, they will smile their prettiest and hope that he will slip a good word for them to the beauty judges Friday.

Crowds—yes, men were in the majority as assembled in front of the hotel's sheltering "Fourth District." This is Miss Price's name for maids who after their rest and kindly awaiting the judging.

"Beautiful or Bust" seemed to be the motto of the prize winners last night. "Please go 'way, and let me sleep and call me for nobody but the royal 'himself,'" said Miss Mollinoux.

Must Have Her Sleep

"And I am going to sleep as much as I can," laughed "Miss News-Oleander," Marie Price, who has long brown curls and the haunting smile of Mona Lisa herself. "And I won't go near the water. I see lots of little lobstermen. This is Miss Price's name for maids who take around a thick coat of tan."

And she smiled, and her smile said as plain as plain could be: "For I have had a beautiful sleep."

They all want to win the $5000 golden mermaid.

Yesterday the beauties swooped down upon the playground by sea life an undiscovered.

LA FOLLETTE WINS BY GREAT MARGIN AT PRIMARY POLLS

Defeats Ganfield Decisively for Senatorial Nomination in Wisconsin

Entire State Ticket Victorious with Senator

"Drys" Beaten in Hot Fight as People Register Anti-Newberryism

By Associated Press

Milwaukee, Sept. 6.—Indications this afternoon were that Senator Robert M. La Follette had been overwhelmingly renominated in yesterday's primary election over W. A. Ganfield, of Waukesha, as Republican candidate for United States Senator at the November election. The vote reported from 1415 precincts out of 21,523 showed 188,006 for La Follette and 70,500 for Ganfield.

According to the returns, it appears that the people of this State indorsed the issues which La Follette had advocated at Washington, and upon which he sought renomination. These were opposition to the Esh-Cummins act, Newberryism, the Four-Power Treaty and his opposition to the policies of President Harding.

Mr. Ganfield, who went down to defeat, was the candidate of the citizens' Republican conference which had the backing of Senator Irvine I. Loring, Wisconsin junior Senator. He was supported also by the Anti-Saloon League, which asserted the fight in Wisconsin this year was "the most important wet and dry election in the United States."

Mr. Ganfield made more than 300 speeches during the campaign, in which he asked La Follette's retirement from public life because, he said, the senior Wisconsin Senator is an obstructionist in Congress, and as such of no use to the State in the upper house. Mr. Ganfield also charged La Follette with being radical in his tendencies.

Returns from 815 precincts show that the entire La Follette state ticket decisively overcame its opponents by large majorities, with the exception of Solomon Lovitov, who was leading, in the House of Representatives, against Henry Johnson, incumbent, for six successive terms.

Governor John J. Blaine led the State ticket, his victory being decisive over the Democratic nominee, William J. Morgan. The vote in 1289 precincts was Blaine, 148,328; Morgan, 72,323; and McHenry, 7887.

Hudson Maxim, as Father Neptune, with his crown-decked white hair, his beard, trident and other accessories, will land at the Inlet at 3 o'clock today. If there are any mermaids in the depths of the Atlantic they will lose "Pop's" allegiance when he greets the beauty phalanx.

Neptune will be greeted by an aerial salute and by Miss America (Margaret Gorman), of Washington, winner of the beauty contest and the golden mermaid last year. She will be attended by the Court of Honor, a selection of twenty beauties of Atlantic City.

And Miss Gorman is an important person. It is against her that all the beauties are competing. The trophy stands about two feet high. It is as broad as the base.

The golden mermaid lies on a boulder of granite surmounted upon bronze, realistically furnished and carved to represent the fair maids from many plates in the form of sea shells. On one of these is engraved each year the name of the winner. To retain possession of the trophy the contestant must win it three times.

Great Gathering Tonight

The intercity beauties will view Father Neptune at 3 o'clock, but he will secretly desire to notice them. It is tonight when he will formally meet them. Tonight, at the Garden Pier Theatre, after a vaudeville entertainment and a dance, they will smile their prettiest and hope that he will slip a good word for them to the beauty judges Friday.

Crowds—yes, men were in the majority as assembled in front of the hotel's sheltering "Fourth District." This is Miss Price's name for maids who after their rest and kindly awaiting the judging.

"Beautiful or Bust" seemed to be the motto of the prize winners last night. "Please go 'way, and let me sleep and call me for nobody but the royal 'himself,'" said Miss Mollinoux.

Must Have Her Sleep

"And I am going to sleep as much as I can," laughed "Miss News-Oleander," Marie Price, who has long brown curls and the haunting smile of Mona Lisa herself. "And I won't go near the water. I see lots of little lobstermen. This is Miss Price's name for maids who take around a thick coat of tan."

And she smiled, and her smile said as plain as plain could be: "For I have had a beautiful sleep."

They all want to win the $5000 golden mermaid.

Yesterday the beauties swooped down upon the playground by sea life an undiscovered.

LA FOLLETTE WINS BY GREAT MARGIN AT PRIMARY POLLS

Defeats Ganfield Decisively for Senatorial Nomination in Wisconsin

Entire State Ticket Victorious with Senator

"Drys" Beaten in Hot Fight as People Register Anti-Newberryism

By Associated Press

Milwaukee, Sept. 6.—Indications this afternoon were that Senator Robert M. La Follette had been overwhelmingly renominated in yesterday's primary election over W. A. Ganfield, of Waukesha, as Republican candidate for United States Senator at the November election. The vote reported from 1415 precincts out of 21,523 showed 188,006 for La Follette and 70,500 for Ganfield.

According to the returns, it appears that the people of this State indorsed the issues which La Follette had advocated at Washington, and upon which he sought renomination. These were opposition to the Esh-Cummins act, Newberryism, the Four-Power Treaty and his opposition to the policies of President Harding.

Mr. Ganfield, who went down to defeat, was the candidate of the citizens' Republican conference which had the backing of Senator Irvine I. Loring, Wisconsin junior Senator. He was supported also by the Anti-Saloon League, which asserted the fight in Wisconsin this year was "the most important wet and dry election in the United States."

Mr. Ganfield made more than 300 speeches during the campaign, in which he asked La Follette's retirement from public life because, he said, the senior Wisconsin Senator is an obstructionist in Congress, and as such of no use to the State in the upper house. Mr. Ganfield also charged La Follette with being radical in his tendencies.

Returns from 815 precincts show that the entire La Follette state ticket decisively overcame its opponents by large majorities, with the exception of Solomon Lovitov, who was leading, in the House of Representatives, against Henry Johnson, incumbent, for six successive terms.

Governor John J. Blaine led the State ticket, his victory being decisive over the Democratic nominee, William J. Morgan. The vote in 1289 precincts was Blaine, 148,328; Morgan, 72,323; and McHenry, 7887.

Hudson Maxim, as Father Neptune, with his crown-decked white hair, his beard, trident and other accessories, will land at the Inlet at 3 o'clock today. If there are any mermaids in the depths of the Atlantic they will lose "Pop's" allegiance when he greets the beauty phalanx.

Neptune will be greeted by an aerial salute and by Miss America (Margaret Gorman), of Washington, winner of the beauty contest and the golden mermaid last year. She will be attended by the Court of Honor, a selection of twenty beauties of Atlantic City.

And Miss Gorman is an important person. It is against her that all the beauties are competing. The trophy stands about two feet high. It is as broad as the base.

The golden mermaid lies on a boulder of granite surmounted upon bronze, realistically furnished and carved to represent the fair maids from many plates in the form of sea shells. On one of these is engraved each year the name of the winner. To retain possession of the trophy the contestant must win it three times.

Great Gathering Tonight

The intercity beauties will view Father Neptune at 3 o'clock, but he will secretly desire to notice them. It is tonight when he will formally meet them. Tonight, at the Garden Pier Theatre, after a vaudeville entertainment and a dance, they will smile their prettiest and hope that he will slip a good word for them to the beauty judges Friday.

Crowds—yes, men were in the majority as assembled in front of the hotel's sheltering "Fourth District." This is Miss Price's name for maids who after their rest and kindly awaiting the judging.

"Beautiful or Bust" seemed to be the motto of the prize winners last night. "Please go 'way, and let me sleep and call me for nobody but the royal 'himself,'" said Miss Mollinoux.

Must Have Her Sleep

"And I am going to sleep as much as I can," laughed "Miss News-Oleander," Marie Price, who has long brown curls and the haunting smile of Mona Lisa herself. "And I won't go near the water. I see lots of little lobstermen. This is Miss Price's name for maids who take around a thick coat of tan."

And she smiled, and her smile said as plain as plain could be: "For I have had a beautiful sleep."

They all want to win the $5000 golden mermaid.

Yesterday the beauties swooped down upon the playground by sea life an undiscovered.

LA FOLLETTE WINS BY GREAT MARGIN AT PRIMARY POLLS

Defeats Ganfield Decisively for Senatorial Nomination in Wisconsin

Entire State Ticket Victorious with Senator

"Drys" Beaten in Hot Fight as People Register Anti-Newberryism

By Associated Press

Milwaukee, Sept. 6.—Indications this afternoon were that Senator Robert M. La Follette had been overwhelmingly renominated in yesterday's primary election over W. A. Ganfield, of Waukesha, as Republican candidate for United States Senator at