Prof. Tiernan Will Call Medical Experts With Regard to Wife's Child

DEFENSE IS BLACKMAIL

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 6.—The science of establishing kinship through blood tests—a science still in its infancy—promises to figure prominently in the records here when Harry Poulin, South Bend clothing man, is tried on charges preferred by Mrs. Augusta H. Tiernan, wife of Prof. John T. Tiernan, University of Notre Dame Law School, to compel him to acknowledge paternity of a son she bore.

That became known yesterday shortly after the defense had obtained postponement of the preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace Al W. Boski until September 14. The unusual familiarity with the case of two additional attorneys retained by Poulin at the last moment was the plea.

Mr. King C. Gillette, c/o Gillette Razor Co., Boston, Mass.

My dear Mr. Gillette: I am glad that you asked me about my Gillette razor. The old one I have used, I thought represented the last word in shaving comfort, but the new and improved Gillette certainly is proving to be a genuine revolution.

I am sure you know how well we think of your razors, for last year we presented nearly a thousand Gillette Safety Razors at Christmas time to our various friends and never was there a more genuinely appreciated holiday gift.

Please accept my sincere congratulations on the remarkable strides you have made in improving Gillette Razors.

Sincerely yours, W. J. Burns, President

When an artist makes a picture

When an artist sits down to make a picture he asks himself two questions:

"What is the thing I want to show?"
"What is the best way of showing it?"

That may be one reason why pictures sometimes tell more than words do.

A good picture of the thing you have to sell can rouse the imagination of the reader. He can see himself owning this thing and using it. He feels a desire to possess it. He considers buying it.

A good picture can do these things. But a good picture demands good printing, and good printing requires good paper.

Printers understand this. A careful printer will, if his customer lets him, select a paper for a job of printing that will print pictures the way they should be printed.

Your printer can help you to better business by the use of better printing.
