

SMYRNA SHELTERS 150,000 REFUGEES

Greek Situation Now One of Grave Possibilities as Viewed in London

CAVALRY QUELLS DISORDER

Smyrna, Sept. 11.—By A. P.—Strong forces of Turkish Nationalist infantry today were holding all strategic points in the city.

The troops are under strict orders against indulgence in excess, the foreign representatives and military headquarters have been informed by the Kemal commander, General Selah Eddin Bey.

Selah Eddin complained that the Greeks had committed wholesale devastation without military reasons and said his men were showing that they could make war in a civilized manner.

Entry of the first cavalry regiment under Mursel Pasha was received with enthusiasm. This commander's first net was to take steps to prevent further firing of revolver shots and exploding of bombs by the enthusiastic Turkish residents of Smyrna.

Refugees to the number of 150,000 are here, having landed in ten days on the docks and in camps, some crissed by families who were provided with money have been able to leave, obtaining passage to other Greek islands.

London, Sept. 11.—Sweeping the Greek forces from Asia Minor in a whirlwind campaign lasting only two weeks, the Turkish Nationalists, under Mustafa Kemal Pasha, have won a great military victory, and at the same time at least partly nullified the losses to their nation through the World War.

France and Italy accused in some quarters of having not only encouraged the Kemalists but of having supplied them with arms and munitions, although it is reported now in the same circles that they are becoming alarmed at the unexpected extent of the Turkish successes.

Italy's concern is said to have been manifested in a freshly expressed desire for a mediation conference between the Allies at Venice to consider the situation, but this finds no favor in London at any rate.

The press greets with indications of alarm the latest advances by the Turkish representatives in Paris and Rome while Soviet Russia's alleged desire to establish a Bolshevik-Kemalist alliance aimed at control of Constantinople and the Straits of Dardanelles brings renewed demands that the neutrality of these be maintained at all costs.

Another cause of uneasiness here is the effect the Kemalists victory is having in India, where prayers for their success have been said daily in the mosques and in the bazaars, and hailed with glee as the Mohammedans. The Daily Telegraph's Calcutta correspondent says there were demonstrations, illuminations and fireworks there Saturday night in news of Smyrna's fall became known.

Venezuela Still Popular The position of the Greek Government in the face of defeat also is attracting attention here. Athens dispatches tell of a renouveau of the King of Greece and the return of power to the throne and the return to power of Venizelos.

The popularity of the former Premier is being again shown in the dashing of Constantinople military units and Greek soldiers reaching Piraeus from Smyrna marching through the streets of the port shouting insults to the King and demanding the return of Venizelos. The Greek newspapers are openly discussing the abdication of Constantine.

Meunville, Venizelos is visiting at St. Moritz, Switzerland, with his family but plans to go to Paris within a day or two to confer with political and personal friends. While he refuses to discuss the Greek situation his friends openly declare he is anticipating the possibility of being recalled to power.

Athens, Sept. 11.—The first troops have reached Piraeus from the former Greek front in Asia Minor in a mustering mood. The exodus of troops from the city in small and large groups in a demonstration against King Constantine, many of them shouting insults.

Nine thousand Greek troops late arrived at Piraeus from Smyrna this afternoon and sent to their homes. Comparative calm prevails here today.

Five companies bearing troops had received instructions from the War Department to land the soldiers on the island of the Aegean, the captain declared to have been the captain to proceed to Piraeus, and their landing there despite orders to the contrary.

The abdication of Constantine is being openly discussed and the newspapers are demanding the return of Venizelos.

King Appeals to Subjects King Constantine has issued the following proclamation: "It is my will to do what the Constitution allows and what the nation's interests require on me. I am confidently expecting a demonstration of your known virtues of patriotism and concord."

You have always proved yourselves patriotic, loyal and patient. Crowned army, whose banners have been crowned with victory for ten years, has suffered a misfortune which is not unusual in times after a long period of war, and at this misfortune, unforeseen by the enemy himself, in no way diminishes the valor and glory of our army.

On the contrary, it is our duty to bear the misfortune courageously and patiently, as befits a patriotic and courageous people. A small but valiant nation, we rendered our struggles innumerable services to our oppressed brethren and to civilization, and our valor and abnegation will be extolled by future generations.

Let us unite and give full obedience to our chiefs. Such is our duty.

Paris, Sept. 11.—A report late last night says British troops have landed on the Marmara littoral, presumably to keep order.

BAKER HIT HARD IN ENCYCLOPEDIA

Friends Rally to Defense When Former War Secretary Is Styled "Inadequate"

NEW YORK EDITOR BLAMED

New York, Sept. 11.—Rejoice over the scathing biographical article on Secretary of War Baker appearing in a new supplementary volume of the Encyclopedia Britannica has aroused friends of the former Secretary of War to make vigorous protest to the editors of the work against what is regarded as a simultaneous misrepresentation of his career.

Scores of letters from eminent men associated with Baker are being sent to the editor of the Encyclopedia Britannica, London, editor-in-chief, and Franklin H. Hooper, New York editor, asking for revisions.

So far the editors have declined to make any changes, Mr. Chisholm replying that the matter rested entirely with the New York editor, and Mr. Hooper, defending the article in its present form as representative of the "Judgment of the Nation."

After the outbreak of the World War he admitted the American League to Entente, supported the League to Enforce Peace, and urged that the National Guard be tried fully before Congress entered the war.

The charge of pacifism was often brought against him, and his career generally as Secretary was widely considered throughout the United States as lacking in energy, foresight and ability, and especially for his failure to prepare adequately in the months immediately preceding the American declaration of war.

This concluding paragraph particularly provoked Mr. Baker's friends.

Six Drug Suspects in New Court Plea

Judge McDevitt said, "has assumed unprecedented notoriety and it now concerns the health and safety of the entire city."

The judge, formerly secretary to Governor Spruell, who named him to the bench several months ago, said:

It is incumbent upon you in your present capacity to give close attention to the diligent effort now being made to stamp out the illicit traffic in drugs prevalent in this neighborhood.

The arteries of circulation and distribution have literally clogged with grand jurors to consider carefully and to give evidence of this character of that may be presented.

Both expect to be around soon. Magistrate Scullin held Mrs. Brutt in $800 bail.

'Twas Festive Affair

Peacemaker at Camden Again Lands in Hospital Much Used Up

For playing the role of peacemaker at a party last night, John Sanoce, 1275 Hancock street, was rewarded by having a bottle smashed over his head.

The party was given by Pauline Brutt and her husband, of 117 North Broad street, and all was peacefully until 11:30 p. m., when a man came in to collect for his services.

Such an operation, it is believed, would result in restoring to some degree of normality the one kidney which until now has not been affected by the ailment now which Mrs. Harding has suffered for years.

Court Hears Plea of Strikers First

He quoted Congressman Esch, one of the authors of the act, as saying in Congress that "there is nothing of an anti-strike nature" in the law and also read similar statements by Senator Cummins, whose name the law also bears.

Quotes President Harding From the message of President Harding to Congress on the present rail strike the attorney read sections in which the President brought out the same absence of mandatory provisions for the enforcement of the board's orders.

The Attorney General has no right, Mr. Richberg declared, to use the power of the Government to prevent labor from doing any lawful thing to fight the "open-shop" movement.

The defense attorney cited the decision of the Circuit Court of Appeals in the drastic provision of the injunction issued by Federal Judge Anderson at Indianapolis against the coal miners.

The courtroom was crowded and dozens were standing when the hearing opened. The Department of Justice agents were among the first arrivals and were scattered throughout the room.

The Attorney General is supported by one of the most formidable legal bar in the country, the United States attorney in charge of the strike at Indianapolis, and his aides had, were closely guarded by Federal agents.

Two volumes of evidence—tools of destruction, thousands of telegrams, letters, photographs, blueprints, books and transcripts of statements of some 17,000 witnesses—were taken to the court by the Attorney General and his aides had, were closely guarded by Federal agents.

The evidence was gathered, Federal agents said, from all parts of the country by Government operatives during the last two months, and assembled in a building near Judge Wilber's court.

In connection with charges that there was a widespread conspiracy for violence against the strike, Government men mentioned twenty-five murders, the burning of fourteen bridges and the tampering of many locomotives.

Many Government investigators who took part in the collection of evidence were on hand to testify. Subpoena, it was said, might run into the hundreds, with indictments that the hearings would last several days.

The scene of today's action was laid in the courtroom where former Judge Kenneth C. Landis imposed a fine of $20,000 on the Standard Oil Company and pronounced sentence upon "Big Bill" Haywood and other I. W. W. leaders.

SHOPCRAFT LEADERS IN 'PEACE' SESSION

Chicago, Sept. 11.—By A. P.—Leaders of the striking railway shopcrafts were in session this morning in what was heralded as a peace meeting to effect a new policy for the shopmen.

Mr. Jewell first went into session with the officials of the six striking shopcrafts, known as the executive council. At the close of that session the general assembly committee was scheduled to convene.

A long meeting, probably of two days' duration, was indicated by Mr. Jewell's statement that the decision might come until tomorrow, when Burns, international representative of the Sheet Metal Workers, represented that organization at the council meeting this morning.

Timothy Healy, president of the International Brotherhood of Stationary Firemen and Oilers, whose organization also has sent delegates, was a late arrival at the council meeting.

was shot, wore a slate gray suit and had black curly hair. Another was tall, thin and shabbily dressed. He did not notice the others particularly.

Three years ago burglars carried away the shop safe. A few hours previously Bixbaum had taken $450 from the safe and hidden it in a drawer. All the burglars got was the safe and some business papers.

A watchman was shot two policemen were badly injured and a suspected burglar received wounds from which he may die in a hospital.

Two patrolmen, leaving the scene, ran up to Harris and pulled his shirt, but he was already gone.

Harris ran into the Acme garage at 2311 Spruce street and barricaded himself behind a motorcar belonging to B. Dawson Coleman, rail mine operator, of 2302 Delancey street, where he was finally captured.

Killed in Row Over Bet

An altercation that arose over a twenty-five cent bet in a crap game at the home of Casper Williams, a Negro of Concordville, Delaware County, resulted in the death of Henry McManus, also a Negro.
