

In the Days of Poor Richard IRVING BACHELLER gives us a love story that incarnates the spirit of the struggle for independence.

But it is as a vital historical picture that the book has its greatest interest and its greatest worth.

CHRIST IN KENTUCKY M. D. Post's "The Mountain School Teacher"

The late William De Witt Hyde, president of Bowdoin College, once wrote a book in the course of which he expressed his gratification that Christian teaching was not confined to the secular press.

Melville Davidson Post has joined Charles Hays Knapp and Jerome K. Jerome in writing a history, in which he introduces a figure intended to suggest the Founder of Christianity.

"OUR MEDICINE MEN" RAPS THE PROFESSION One of the most controversial books of the autumn season seems to be promoted in the medical press.

The author scoffs at the scientific pretensions of present-day doctors. It is said, "Our Medicine Men" is published next month by the Century Company.

LYNN FONTANNE IS AT BEST IN "DULCY" Charming Star Shines Out Over Cast in Bright Comedy

Broad—A charming young lady named Dulcinea Smith served in the double capacity of night-keeper of a house party in hot water and an audience in a good humor.

It was her meddling in the business affairs of her husband that caused all the complications in "Dulcy," this comedy by George S. Kaufman and Marc Connelly.

WALTON—The "Charlatan," latest mystery melodrama, with a flavoring of magic.

Keystone—"Doing Well, Thank You" is the name of a skit that walks off with the headline position.

Nixon—"Favorites of the Past" won marked notice. The acts takes the form of a snappy revue.

Walton Roof—A real autumnal show is offered, with general atmosphere in keeping with the entertainment.

THRILLS CROWD FAST IN 'STORM' ON SCREEN

Carlton—Blizzards howl and rapid rush and forest fires blaze in such rapid succession in "The Storm" that the natural opposition would be left for

Nevertheless, the filmed version of this Langdon McCormick thriller is so far superior to the cumbersome and futile book that it is a real triumph.

Aldine—Max Linder has at last achieved the making of a picture in this country which ranks pretty close to our average photoplay products.
