KEPHART TO STAND TRIAL

DISCLOSURES in the course of the investigation into the conduct of the office of the State Treasurer by Harman G. Kephart have left no other course open to Attorney General Altar than that which he has indicated he will pursue.

A GREAT PAINTING

THERE is nowhere a collector or connoisseur of pictures who would not be thrilled to the heart at the mere thought of possessing Rembrandt's "Descent from the Cross," the painting that Joseph E. Widener has just added to his extraordinary collection.

THE FAIR AND PUBLIC FEARS

THE sensitiveness of many Philadelphians regarding the possible cost of the Sesqui-Centennial is acute.

THE INJUNCTION CASE

MUCH of the discussion of the rail strike injunction, argument on which began in Chicago yesterday, is based on a misapprehension of the facts.

THE CASE OF McADOO

FUNDREN and more sensitive than any other would be a presidential boom in an unobtainable area. Mr. McAdoo, in his sun-kissed moment in California, doubtless means all that he says—but no more in declaring that talk of his candidacy at this time is "pure bunk."

or even in 1923? Booms of the sort that Mr. McAdoo and his friends are nurturing have a given span of life. They grow from infancy and expand and wither in a limited space of time.

Hold Mr. McAdoo's statement to the light and read it backward and you will perceive that he leaves the possibilities of 1924 out of his calculations.

It is worth while recalling, however, that much of the testimony which points to a madame as a witness, which points to a madame as a witness, which points to a madame as a witness.

KIPLING TALKS ONCE MORE FOR THE HEATHEN TRIBES

He mourns for the Tories and for a world of foolish delusions swept away in the War.

EVERYBODY knew that Mr. Kipling would say it sooner or later. So Senator Borah and the New York World, roaring in unison even as the lions of the wilderness because the First Minister of armed Tourism accuses us of entering the war late and quitting it early and taking "all the world's gold," cause one merely to yawn for the day when America will be grown up and sophisticated.

HOPPING TO THE PACIFIC

Leutenant Doolittle's Fast Recalls Rodgers' Long and Arduous First Flight Across the Continent

LEUTENANT DOOLITTLE'S recent feat in flying across the United States from the Atlantic to the Pacific with only one stop and with seemingly as little as an ordinary airplane makes today's trip in his automobile show that the time is not far distant when the two shores of this continent will be separated by only a single day of travel.

HIS OWN APOLOGIST

GEORGES CLEMENCEAU begs leave to explain. It is emphasized in Paris by friends of the former Premier that his projected visit to the United States is entirely unofficial, to be conducted solely on his own responsibility and with a view to clearing up what the French feel to be misunderstandings and misinterpretations of their nation.

It may be anticipated that the old and indefatigable statesman will prove an attractive apologist. To begin with, his command of English is fluent and he will thus be free from the formidable handicap which so embarrassed Aristide Briand and Rene Viviani.

In addition, Clemenceau is a star witness. Many points, though by no means all, of the Treaty of Versailles reflect his personality and his principles. He will be privileged to speak with authority upon numerous situations which, despite the flood of writing about the peace conference, are in need of further elucidation.

Whether or not his campaign is successful, it is impossible not to admire the veteran leader for the vigor of his initiative and the intensity of his convictions.

ON OCTOBER 5 he managed to reach Hammond, Ind., putting just over 1000 miles behind him.

He was under way again on September 21 and made flights on the 21st, 22d, 23d and 24th, but on the last date, after he had landed at a little place called Red House, near Jamestown, N. Y., he again met disaster.

BEWARE OF SUGAR BUNK

A CONCERTED attempt can be looked for shortly to create the impression that Congress by increasing the tariff on sugar is justifying a big increase in the price to the consumers.

CONTRAST TO THE PACIFIC

At the same time another aviator, Robert G. Wood, was making his way across the continent from the Pacific to the Atlantic, and with meeting with so many disasters and failed so often in his attempts to cross some of the roughest sections of the country.

THE U. S. BUSINESS PENDULUM

In 1907 it swung violently to the parsimony side. In 1910 it swung back to the prosperity and contentment side.

In 1913 and 1914 the country was plunged into the depths of a profound "psychological depression" with no hope ahead.

In 1920 and 1921 the war boom collapsed, with drastic deflation, bursted bubbles, crushing taxes, and the country was convulsed in the pangs of soboring up.

And now, with the pendulum trying its best to swing back to the prosperity side, industrial warfare is obstructing it and holding it back from its natural course.

Daily Talks With Thinking Philadelphians on Subjects They Know Best

REV. DR. LOUIS C. WASHBURN On Philadelphia's Hopes at Portland Convention

Washburn, rector of Old Christ Church in this city, one of the oldest and perhaps the most distinguished historically of the parishes of the United States.

SHORT CUTS AND VICE VERSA

Republicans watching the Democrats think some foolishness they will commit—they are bound to. And each paramount issue will be on the blink; For what does a paramount issue amount to? When it comes to jobs, the miner takes his pick.
