ONE DEAD, SIX HURT IN AUTO MISHAPS

Man Killed and Son Injured on B. and O. Tracks at Ridley Park

One person was killed and six were injured yesterday's toll of automobile accidents.

Charles Emanuel, Sr., fifty years old, died in the Taylor Hospital, Ridley Park, last night and his son, Charles, twenty-one, is in the same institution seriously injured as the result of an express train on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad striking the automobile in which they were riding at Coalfield road and Chester pike, Fairview, Pa.

The younger man told attendants at the hospital that he and his father stopped at the crossing and, hearing no bell or whistle, proceeded across the tracks when the train hit them.

Joseph Leo, traffic policeman at Broad and York streets, received severe injuries to his head and body and hit his tongue in the result of being swept from the running board of an automobile while taking an injured child to the St. James Hospital.

Leo says Helen Rollins, eleven years old, 2405 North Charles street, got down by a machine when her father got from where he was standing.

The patrolman commanded another machine to take the child to the hospital and found her in the aisle. When the car arrived at the hospital no sign could be found of Leo. He was later brought in.

James Skiles, eight years old, 2700 Willard street, is in the Boystime Hospital after being knocked down by an automobile late yesterday afternoon at Girard, Ferry avenues and Kingshill street. The driver of the machine sped away, leaving his victim lying in the street.

Dr. Samuel Z. Shope, 2014 Chestnut street, and Edwin R. Lewis, a lawyer, of 310 South Sixteenth street, were treated at the Hahnemann Hospital yesterday for cuts and lacerations suffered when they were thrown from an automobile in a collision with a truck at Twenty-first and Market streets.

William J. Brown, Thirty-fourth street below Market, driver of the truck, and Edward Quinn, his helper, on the west, Magistrate Stevenson held them for a further hearing September 28.

Frank O'Brien, Cumberland street near Frankford avenue, Thomas Winkler, Philip street above Cambria, and Leo Lester, Kensington avenue near Allegheny, were treated for cuts and lacerations in the Episcopal Hospital and later arrested on charges of driving drunk and recklessly. Police say the three men attempted to traverse Third street between Fifth and Spruce streets in an automobile. This act left a woman and three children hurt.

Those who sponsored the working woman were Miss Jane Crawford and Miss Edna Klock, while those who took the side of the woman in the home were Miss Mayne Wood and Miss Edna Snyder. The arguments ran forth by the men were the most convincing to the judges, although a grand vote on the question from the side of the opposing forces.

Among the arguments advanced by Miss Wood were that civilization is based on the principle of the division of labor and that a woman should double at the office whether she is going to be a business woman or wife and mother, and that the normal man desires to have a home and children and should not be put to the "test" of the office. She argued also that while she is a business woman she must have the "absolute independence" so much talked about.

WOMEN WILL KEEP WATCH ON COUNCIL

Mrs. Lorimer to Name Committee to Attend Sessions Again This Year

The Republican Women of Pennsylvania are going to keep their eyes on the "boys" in City Council. At the first Executive Committee meeting of the fall yesterday afternoon, Mrs. George Horace Lorimer, president, was authorized to name a "Council Vigilance Committee" of three.

The women say they are aware of no future legislation that will be directed against them, but, just the same, believe in the Boy Scout's slogan of "Be Prepared." Furthermore, they want "close ups" of the Councilmen, and a chance to see if they really are working in the city's best interests.

For that reason the committee, when appointed, will "make it a habit" every Thursday afternoon to take front seats in the Council chamber gallery and listen to the outpouring of oratory from "Charles" Hill, "Joe" Gaffney, "Lucky" Weston and their cohorts.

At the meeting yesterday the women decided to organize branch clubs in each of the wards in the city. The purpose of these clubs, of which there are already several, will be to assist voters with the routine of registering and ballot marking.

This week many branch clubs were organized by Mrs. Sarah S. McNeil, who included Hazelton, Portersville and Sanbury in her tour. Mrs. J. Earl Wagner was elected treasurer of the club supplanting Countess de Santa Eulalia, who resigned because of illness. The latter will continue as an active member of the club.

Those who attended the executive session were Mrs. Lorimer, Mrs. H. C. Boden, Mrs. J. R. C. McAllister, Mrs. Barclay H. Warburton, Mrs. Rudolph Blankenburg, Mrs. Alexander Geary, Dean Laura Carnell, of Temple University, Dr. Lucy Langdon Wilson, Mrs. Wagner, Mrs. Clinton Rogers Woodruff and Mrs. George Edward Dickerson.

HOME WOMAN UPHELD

Judges Decide for Her After Debate at New Century Guild

Members of the New Century Guild met last night on the roof of their clubhouse, at 1207 Locust street, to hear a debate on whether a woman should follow her husband or wife and mother and live at the same time, successful in business.

Those who sponsored the working woman were Miss Jane Crawford and Miss Edna Klock, while those who took the side of the woman in the home were Miss Mayne Wood and Miss Edna Snyder. The arguments ran forth by the men were the most convincing to the judges, although a grand vote on the question from the side of the opposing forces.

RUM BARRED FROM MAILED BY RULING OF DR. WORK

Postmaster General Closes Postal Service to Shippers of Whisky

The recent ruling of Postmaster Keop that liquor in the mails could be confiscated has resulted in a decision by Postmaster General Work to bring surgeons, physicians or pharmacists to use the postal service in delivering intoxicating liquors.

Even should containers bear a label of prohibition of the mails, and be designed for medicinal purposes under the physician's prescription, they nevertheless will be barred from the mails, Dr. Work announced.

Dr. John F. Callahan of Harrisburg, Pa., who was responsible for the decision of the Philadelphia postal officials by reason of the seizure of a bottle of medicine and three bottles of druggist at his direction, and under guarantee of a prescription that it was to be used for medicinal purposes, appealed to the Postmaster General for a reconsideration of his decree.

Dr. Work declared that the entire subject was covered by the United States criminal code, which, among other things, provides that still, medicinal, vinous, malted, fermented or other intoxicating liquors of any kind are hereby declared to be non-mailable and shall not be deposited in or carried through the mails.
