

TARIFF BILL PUT UP TO PRESIDENT

Senate Approves Conference Report, Thus Completing Congressional Action

AIDED BY TWO DEMOCRATS

Washington, Sept. 20.—The Administration tariff bill was made ready today for President Harding, who was expected to complete its enactment into law within a few days.

Immediately after the adoption of the conference report late yesterday by the Senate, 43 to 28, the bill was sent on its way to be engrossed, and with the completion of that work this forenoon, it was to be signed by Speaker Gillett and Senator Cummins, of Iowa, president pro tempore of the Senate.

In the Senate vote yesterday, Senators Cummins and Lenroot, of Wisconsin, joined with Senators Borah, of Idaho; La Follette, of Wisconsin, and Cameron, of Arizona, in opposing the measure. Mr. Lenroot had warned that unless substantial cuts were made in some of what he described as the high rates in the bill he would oppose its final passage.

Senator Cummins voted against approval of a number of the rates, but supported the measure when it first passed the Senate. He was a leader on the Republican side in the fight against the last protective tariff, the Payne-Adams act.

The rollcall follows:

What is— a worth-while battery?

The eager whir of the motor the moment your foot touches the starting-pedal. Lights instantly bright at the turn of a switch. Those are the gifts to you of a really powerful battery.

And when reliable power is combined with exceptionally long life, as in the Exide, then your battery is not merely a comfort, but a genuine economy.

An inferior battery, cheap in its first cost, is always the most expensive in the long run.

Exide has earned its title of the long-life battery, from the day eleven years ago when the first battery (an Exide) took its place in an automobile. Today more cars leave the factories equipped with Exides than with any other make of battery.

You are entitled to a real battery, and from every angle it will pay you to get one. Go to the nearest Exide service station and see for yourself the rugged quality that is built into the battery made for your car.
