COMBS
CONSERVATORY of MUSIC
Thirty-eighth Year

A Residential and Day School of International Reputation with unparelleled facilities for the attaining of a complete musical education in all branches from elementary to the highest artistic standard.

The study of music should form an integral part of every one's education. It is possible to go through life without a knowledge of music. It is also possible to go through life without a knowledge of literature, science and art, but who can estimate the tremendous loss to one who lacks such knowledge? True success in life means the true development of every faculty.

Parents who fail to encourage their sons and daughters to become accomplished are not only depriving them of much of the joy and pleasure of life, but are seriously limiting their opportunities for a successful life.

MUSIC AS A PROFESSION

For those interested in music as a profession we have prepared a booklet entitled "Opportunity," which contains valuable information concerning the financial returns from the various phases of musical activity. It describes in detail the opportunities for remunerative employment opened to those engaged in music as a profession. Interesting facts are set forth showing the relative earnings of professional musicians as compared with incomes from other professions. This booklet will be mailed free upon request.

Merton Institute
ANNOUNCEMENT

A Merton Institute has been opened in Philadelphia similar to those now operating in New York and Chicago. This Institute is under the direction of Dr. George L. Clark, formerly a member of the faculties of the Universities of Michigan and Illinois.

The Merton Institute of Philadelphia will conduct resident classes in Character Reading and Employe Selection (Merton Method) for Executives, Employment Managers, Personnel Managers and all those interested in getting a better insight into the people with whom they come in contact. For information and details of classes forming, call, write or telephone for Booklet A.

The other phase of the work of the Institute is its Vocational Service Department, which advises the individual as to the vocation in which he can use his abilities to the greatest advantage. For information in regard to this service, call, write or telephone for Booklet B.
